19TH YEAR. NO. 13. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1902. TWO CENTS.

REGISTRATION FOR THIS CITY TO BE ASKED OF LEGISLATURE

Representative Crist Willing to Father the Measure If Citizens Want It.

IS GENERAL IN ITS SCOPE

Much Desired Here and Central Committee Officers Are In Favor of It.

THE QUESTION OF EXPENSE

Now the Only Ground for Possible Opposition — Particular Reasons Put Forth Why Such a Law Is Needed in East Liverpool.

Representative Crist, of Columbiana county, has been requested to introduce a bill in the house providing for registration in East Liverpool. The measure has the support of prominent members of the Republican central committee in East Liverpool and they are urging its passage. A dispatch from Columbus says Mr. Crist has agreed to introduce the bill if satisfactory evidence is shown that the representative citizens of the community favor it. Senator Connell will look after the measure in the senate. The bill will be general in its scope and will apply to all cities of the same class and grade as East Liverpool.

The city committee has been working on the matter of securing registration for East Liverpool for several years, and it now seems that it will come provided there is no objection from the people of the community.

Secretary Betz, of the Republican central committee, and City Clerk J. N. Hanley have been very active in the matter, and can see but one objection which might come up. In their investigations they have found that the expense of putting the system in effect will be much greater than was at first calculated upon, and as this will have to be paid by the citizens generally, there may be some opposition.

It is argued that the inauguration of the registration system is almost an absolute necessity in this community. Being a border city, located at the very edge of two other states, there is but one way to guard against a floating element taking part in the elections, and that would be through registration.

The plan which will be followed with the proposed special act has been carefully planned. The leaders of all parties have been conferred with and favor the legislation, and if there are any objections on the part of the general public on account of the expense, they are given the alternative of circulating a petition to be sent to the representatives in the legislature asking that the bill be held up.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

East Liverpool Encampment Officers-Elect Assume Their Duties.

East Liverpool encampment No. 107, I. O. O. F., last evening installed its newly elected officers. Deputy Grand Patriarch James E. Green conducted the installation. The officers are as follows: C. P., Frank Gallimore; S. W., Jacob Shawk; J. W., Enoch Moon; H. P., Geo. W. Burford; scribe, Geo. W. Croxall; treasurer, R. H. Till; I. S., A. Abrams; O. S., W. C. Till. Mr. Croxall has been scribe of the encampment for 23 years.

A POTTERY MAN'S VIEWS

W. H. Deidrick, Interviewed in Cleveland, Tells Some Interesting Facts.

W. H. Deidrick, of East Liverpool, one of the prominent pottery men of the state, is registered at the Colonial hotel, says the Cleveland Leader. He said that the pottery trade was in excellent condition, but made the complaint that the Pennsylvania company was not giving good rates into Cleveland from East Liverpool.

"We have a good rate into Pittsburg, which is 40 miles away," said Mr. Deidrick, "simply because the Pennsylvania company finds competition in the Ohio river, but it seems impossible to get any fair rate into Cleveland."

When asked how the fine pottery made in England compared with that made in the United States, he said: "American workmen are the most skilled in the world, and I feel that we make as good chinaware here as any imported, but the average American woman has the habit of turning over a china plate in a store, and if it does not bear the mark of a British lion or unicorn she does not want it.

"We import clay from England and pay a tariff of $2 per ton on it. With out superior workmanship I feel we are able to turn out as good, if not better, china plate than England. We do not protest against the tariff on clay, for we realize that we could not afford to give our workmen such good wages if it were not for the tariff on manufactured ware from Europe."

CLINGS TO OPINION GIVEN AT COUNCIL

DR. R. J. MARSHALL TALKS CONCERNING NEW ORDINANCE.

Declares That He Wants to See Saloon Men Fairly Treated — Comment Aroused.

The effort of Dr. R. J. Marshall to introduce a new saloon ordinance in the city council has occasioned considerable comment. While opinion as to the feasibility of the proposed measure is quite equally divided, there are a number of prominent and influential business men who express a desire to see it given a trial, at least.

One feature that seems to impress a number of people that the ordinance cannot be carried through is that the proposed committee of saloon and anti-saloon men are not likely to agree on its provisions.

Dr. Marshall is confident that no trouble need be experienced in reaching a satisfactory agreement. He says that the saloon business is legitimate and must be regarded as such, and for this reason he contends that it would be unjust for those of the committee to act in conjunction with the liquor dealers' representatives to attempt to enforce legislation that would grind down the saloon business.

"Fairness on both sides is an absolute requisite," said Dr. Marshall today in discussing the matter. "Liquor dealers who believe in law and order are willing to conduct their places in a respectable manner and there are many of this class of men in the saloon business in East Liverpool. Even the temperance leaders must recognize the fact that saloon keepers have just as many rights as other business men and it would, therefore, be folly to try to injure their business."

Concerning the screen ordinance now in force Dr. Marshall said: "I have been quoted as having admitted that the ordinance is a failure and worthless, but this is incorrect, as I never made any such admission. If the ordinance is a failure it is like all others that fail for want of enforcement."

FINED FOR THEIR FUN

East Liverpool Men Stole a Constable's Badge And Slept in Wellsville Jail.

Constable Thorne last evening arrested two East Liverpool men in Wellsville. One of them, he thought, was a desperate character. The other lately came to East Liverpool from the gas belt of Indiana. The second is from Pittsburg, and has been selling wigs. As he wore a wig, Thorne thought his a desperado in disguise. It is said they were put off a car at Walker for disorderly conduct and walked thence to Wellsville. There they found a fight in progress among some Assyrians and are alleged to have impersonated an officer. They succeeded so well and had so much fun that they tried it again, ordering people to "move on."

As a result both were run in. An East Liverpool constable's badge, supposed to have been stolen, was found on one of the prisoners. This morning they paid fines and were discharged, sadder and wiser.

A Mistaken Idea.

Many persons in the city seem to have the impression that the high school entertainment to be given tomorrow night will not be in the opera house. This is a mistake, for while there have been plays all the week, Friday night the Parker Concert company will give its entertainment in the opera house. The company comes highly recommended. The entertainment commences at 8:30.

UNION LABEL ON ALL BREAD

Trades Council Urges Purchasers To See That They Get It.

ALL BUT TWO LOCAL SHOPS

Are Now Using the Union Stamp. Market House Question Again Up. Legislative Committee Will Take It to Council Again.

The meeting of Trades Council last night was well attended and a considerable amount of business was disposed of.

Delegates were seated from the packers' local, No. 25, in the persons of Harry Farmer and Fred Howard. Henry Shenkel and John Allison were seated from the barbers' union, and Miss Estella Bentley from the shirt, waist and laundry workers' union, No. 57.

A communication was received from T. F. Smith, secretary of the collar, shirt and waist cutters' union, of Troy, N. Y., in answer to an inquiry made by the council with reference to the status of the Lion brand of collars. Mr. Smith stated that the collar was still on the unfair list, and the matter was turned over to the committee having the work in charge.

A letter was received from the president and organizer of the blacksmith's union, asking that Trades Council interest itself in the organization of a branch of their trade in this city.

Several other communications were received from parties to whom donations of money was made, acknowledging its receipt.

The delegates from the bakers' union reported that all differences between their organization and the bosses had been amicably adjusted, and that all but two of the local shops were now using the union label. The two are expected to put the label into use within a short time. These delegates also reported the out-of-town firms who were attempting to dun up trade here were all on the unfair list. The council took action, urging all purchasers of bread to demand the label, and thus guard against being victimized.

The market house question was up again, and the legislative committee will once more bring the matter to the attention of the city council.

The disposition of some parties to misrepresent Trades Council in their attitude toward the library question was discussed at length, and a committee consisting of D. B. Flowers, U. G. King and C. C. Smith was appointed to draw up a statement, setting forth the true position of the body.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

Failed to Rescue Mike Malone From the Tempter—Fell Victim to Drink.

Mike Malone's New Year's resolution to spurn the flowing bowl went to pieces yesterday, when the tempter's influence got the best of Mike and started him again on the road to ruin.

Officer Mahoney found his Irish friend in an alley, sound asleep and dreaming of his morning "eye opener." The patrol conveyed the helpless victim to jail and this morning he paid $1 and costs.

A tramp giving the name of P. Morrison was arrested last night by Officer Stafford. This morning he was "bounced" and warned to never return.

To Light Salineville.

RELIEF PROMISED SOON AS POSSIBLE

Conference Between Councilmen and Pennsylvania Company Officials.

THE RESULT IS GRATIFYING

Needed Improvements Which Council Has Long Wished For Are Soon to Be Forthcoming—Conference Was Pleasant and Agreeable.

A conference was held last evening at the C. & P. freight depot office between Dr. R. J. Marshall, R. C. Heddleston and City Solicitor W. K. Gaston, representing a committee of council, and J. J. McCormick, of Wheeling, disvision freight solicitor; W. D. Woods, engineer of maintenance of way, and George A. Wassman, local freight agent, representing the Pennsylvania company.

The object of the conference was to effect a settlement of long-standing differences that have existed between the city and the railroad company which are chiefly regarding the placing of lights at crossings, danger signals, gates and other needed safety devices.

At a meeting of council several weeks ago the decision was reached to appoint a committee to confer with the proper officials of the Pennsylvania company in an effort to learn what arrangements the company had in contemplation. Notices have been sent at various times to the head officials demanding that the needed changes be immediately made, but nothing was thus accomplished, and as a result the conference was decided on.

The result of the meeting was most satisfactory to the members of the council. Instead of becoming involved in an anticipated controversy they found the railroad officials to be most agreeable gentlemen, who frankly recognized the reasonableness of the demands made by the city.

All points were taken up separately and discussed, and almost to the surprise to the gentlemen of council they received the assurance that the desired improvements would be made without delay to the entire satisfaction of the citizens in all parts of the city.

This information will be hailed with delight by hundreds of residents who have been menaced by the poor lighting of crossings, absence of proper safety gates, etc. The members of council will especially be pleased at the result of the conference.

TRUANT OFFICER AT WORK

Looking For Children In Potteries Who Should Be at School.

Truant Officer Beardmore proposes to have all children within the school age limit who are now working in potteries attend school, and yesterday he made a tour of the East Liverpool pottery. As a result one boy was told to stop his work and attend school. This was Dorsey Beaver. He has been working in the clay department of this plant for several months, and when accosted by the truant officer he promised to quit work and attend school, commencing next Monday.

It has been reported to the school officials that a number of young children are working in the potteries who should be attending school.

FORAKER GOT THEM ALL

Even an Absent Republican Recorded as Favoring Him for Senator.

Columbus, January 16.—(Special)—Representative Buell, of Columbiana county, was detained by important business in Salem Tuesday and consequently was not present to vote for a senatorial candidate in the house on that day. On Wednesday before the joint session of the house and senate was held for the purpose of selecting a United States senator, Mr. Buell rose to a question of personal privilege and stated that he was unavoidably absent the day before and he desired his vote recorded for Senator Foraker as his choice for senator. He was accorded this privilege.

Senator Foraker received the vote of every Republican member. The legislature adjourned yesterday until next Monday afternoon. Representatives Crist and Buell left for their homes today. Those desiring to communicate with Mr. Crist concerning legislative matters may see him or talk with him by 'phone at his home at Moultrie on Saturdays.

FAILED TO PROCURE A NEEDED WARRANT

WILLIAM STERLING GOES TO CONNELLSVILLE AFTER ONE.

His Wife And Companion Yet in the City—Police Know Where They Are Staying.

Because he neglected to bring with him a warrant, William Sterling, the Connellsville (Pa.) man who came here yesterday and who, as exclusively stated in the News Review, was in search of his wife, whom he charged with having robbed him and eloping with another man, was compelled to return home last evening without either his wife or missing cash.

The local police advised Sterling to go back to Connellsville and get a warrant, which he agreed to do. Mrs. Sterling is yet in the city, as is also Adam Smithour, who is accused of having induced the woman to leave her husband. The officers know where they are stopping.

A Market street saloon keeper claims that Smithour was in his place Monday night displaying a large sum of money. Mrs. Sterling is known to many policemen on the force. She was in the mayor's office a few days ago and asked to be directed to the home of one of her acquaintances.

NO CUT INTENDED

UNION POTTERIES PRESIDENT ON NEW WAGE SCALE.

Says the Men Need Not Accept the Bonus If Not Agreeable to Them.

The new scale of wages posted in the Union pottery a few days ago was the cause of much comment in the potteries yesterday and this morning. It is the belief of many jiggermen and turners that the new price list will never be enforced until it is thoroughly looked into by the Brotherhood officials. Some discussion was made concerning the new scale at the recent meeting of the jiggermen. It will also be presented at the meeting of kilnmen's local No. 9, which will be held in Brotherhood hall tomorrow evening. The kilnmen at the Union are non-committal when the question is referred to, preferring to wait until after the meeting of the local, as it may be some steps will be taken to place the scale before the Brotherhood officials at once. A workman in the clay department at the Union said yesterday of the proposed new scale: "On the face of the scale it was supposed the company desired to know how much ware one could turn out in a day, but this I do not believe to be the case. In reading the notice, it is stated that if we make above a certain amount of ware we will receive a bit of piece money as it were, and that is all there is to it. What the future will bring forth remains to be seen."

The kilnmen in other potteries seem to think the new scale will cause a reduction in the wages of the Union's kilnmen, and that the scale would be compulsory. This morning the News Review communicated with the officials of the Union Pottery company, at Pittsburg, where the statement was made that the workmen were guaranteed that their wages would not fall below that which they are now receiving. Later the following telegram was received from A. M. Moreland, president of the Union Potteries company:

"All our men understand that no change in wage rates is intended. The bonus we have offered our men is for extraordinary work. No one need to accept bonus if not acceptable to him."

BROOKMAN HAS GIVEN BOND FOR APPEARANCE AT COURT

Only $200 Surety Was Required and Banker Firestone Furnished It.

MUCH CONJECTURE CURRENT

It Is Regarded as Probable That the Case May Not Be Tried at Lisbon.

SUPREME COURT TO HANDLE IT

Judgment for $12,000 in the Valley Gas Case—Other Judgments Entered And Various Minor Matters Before the Courts of the County.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—Manager D. Spencer Brookman, of Wellsville, was in the city last evening. He furnished bond for $200 for his appearance in court to answer to the indictment charging illegal coercion. Solomon J. Firestone, of the Firestone Bros.' bank, of Lisbon, is his surety.

A possible course suggested in this case renders it improbable that the case will be tried in common pleas court at Lisbon. If Mr. Brookman's attorneys should file a demurrer to the indictment on the ground of the unconstitutionality of the statute and should be sustained by the court, it is said the case must go at once to the state supreme court. However, the course to be taken by these attorneys is only a matter of conjecture.

The attorneys of the Ohio Valley Gas company in court yesterday confessed judgment for $12,284.66 in the suit brought against them by Horace B. Nicholson, of Wellsville. Nicholson, in one action, has bunched the claims against this insolvent company.

Judge J. G. Moore, receiver of the First National bank of Lisbon, has been authorized by the court to accept $50 as payment in full of the claims of the bank against the estate of Louis P. Held, and $335 as complete payment of the claif against John H. O'Mara.

In the suit of the H. A. Thopmson Banking company, of Salineville, versus W. A. McClain, the defendant has confessed judgment for $431.96.

In the suit of Gus Blank, of Lisbon, against George Rupp judgment to the amount of $20.70 has been confessed.

SALE ORDERED

Of Land in Hanover Township—Administrator for Mrs. M. J. Brinker.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—In the estate of William Humphreys, Elwood Miller, administrator, has been ordered to sell at private sale 80 acres of land, and at public sale 160 acres, situated in Hanover township.

J. M. Dickinson has been appointed administrator of the estate of Mary J. Brinker, Center township. Bond $20,000. Enos Bricker, Chris Keller and J. L. Switzer are the appraisers.

A. W. Taylor, of Salem, has been appointed administrator of the estate of Fred L. Seitz. Bond $4,000.

Two Divorce Suits Withdrawn.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—Mattie M. Smith some time ago sued for divorce from Charles Smith. Lulu Belle Smith entered a similar suit against Nathaniel B. Smith. The suits have been withdrawn from the files, and it is understood that two family reunions will result.

Suit on Two Notes.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—A suit has been filed by R. F. Taggart against William Stewart and Emma Stewart, of Middleton township, on two notes of $625 each, on which $50 has been paid.

Increasing Interest.

The services at the M. E. church still continue. Last night a very large congregation heard an excellent sermon by Dr. Clark Crawford. Dr. Dunham, who arrived in the city today, will speak tonight. He will probably be here for several weeks.

First In 70 Years.

George H. Owen & Co., yesterday purchased from Henry Fisher a piece of land 188x400 feet opposite the Riverview cemetery gate. This is said to be the first sale of any portion of the Fisher farm in 70 years.

SUIT AGAINST THE CITY FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

A suit will be filed in the court at Lisbon tomorrow against the city of East Liverpool, wherein Miss Itha M. McHenry asks $10,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been the result of carelessness on the part of certain city officials.

On the evening of Oct. 4, last, Miss McHenry was on her way to the home of a friend on College street. The evening was quite dark, and when at a point on Kossuth street between the alley and the corner of College, the lady fell over a quantity of stone and sand which lay directly on the pavement in front of a partially completed building. She fell heavily, her left knee coming in contact with the bricks, and she sustained an injury to the member which is thought to be permanent. Miss McHenry was taken to her home and has remained there, unable to walk, ever since.

The petition is still in the hands of Brookes & Thompson, the lady's attorneys, but will be forwarded to the county seat this evening.

WILLIAM STERLING GOES TO CONNELLSVILLE AFTER ONE.

His Wife And Companion Yet in the City—Police Know Where They Are Staying.

Because he neglected to bring with him a warrant, William Sterling, the Connellsville (Pa.) man who came here yesterday and who, as exclusively stated in the News Review, was in search of his wife, whom he charged with having robbed him and eloping with another man, was compelled to return home last evening without either his wife or missing cash.

The local police advised Sterling to go back to Connellsville and get a warrant, which he agreed to do. Mrs. Sterling is yet in the city, as is also Adam Smithour, who is accused of having induced the woman to leave her husband. The officers know where they are stopping.

A Market street saloon keeper claims that Smithour was in his place Monday night displaying a large sum of money. Mrs. Sterling is known to many policemen on the force. She was in the mayor's office a few days ago and asked to be directed to the home of one of her acquaintances.

NO CUT INTENDED

Says the Men Need Not Accept the Bonus If Not Agreeable to Them.

The new scale of wages posted in the Union pottery a few days ago was the cause of much comment in the potteries yesterday and this morning. It is the belief of many jiggermen and turners that the new price list will never be enforced until it is thoroughly looked into by the Brotherhood officials. Some discussion was made concerning the new scale at the recent meeting of the jiggermen. It will also be presented at the meeting of kilnmen's local No. 9, which will be held in Brotherhood hall tomorrow evening. The kilnmen at the Union are non-committal when the question is referred to, preferring to wait until after the meeting of the local, as it may be some steps will be taken to place the scale before the Brotherhood officials at once. A workman in the clay department at the Union said yesterday of the proposed new scale: "On the face of the scale it was supposed the company desired to know how much ware one could turn out in a day, but this I do not believe to be the case. In reading the notice, it is stated that if we make above a certain amount of ware we will receive a bit of piece money as it were, and that is all there is to it. What the future will bring forth remains to be seen."

The kilnmen in other potteries seem to think the new scale will cause a reduction in the wages of the Union's kilnmen, and that the scale would be compulsory. This morning the News Review communicated with the officials of the Union Pottery company, at Pittsburg, where the statement was made that the workmen were guaranteed that their wages would not fall below that which they are now receiving. Later the following telegram was received from A. M. Moreland, president of the Union Potteries company:

"All our men understand that no change in wage rates is intended. The bonus we have offered our men is for extraordinary work. No one need to accept bonus if not acceptable to him."

BROOKMAN HAS GIVEN BOND FOR APPEARANCE AT COURT

It Is Regarded as Probable That the Case May Not Be Tried at Lisbon.

SUPREME COURT TO HANDLE IT

Judgment for $12,000 in the Valley Gas Case—Other Judgments Entered And Various Minor Matters Before the Courts of the County.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—Manager D. Spencer Brookman, of Wellsville, was in the city last evening. He furnished bond for $200 for his appearance in court to answer to the indictment charging illegal coercion. Solomon J. Firestone, of the Firestone Bros.' bank, of Lisbon, is his surety.

A possible course suggested in this case renders it improbable that the case will be tried in common pleas court at Lisbon. If Mr. Brookman's attorneys should file a demurrer to the indictment on the ground of the unconstitutionality of the statute and should be sustained by the court, it is said the case must go at once to the state supreme court. However, the course to be taken by these attorneys is only a matter of conjecture.

The attorneys of the Ohio Valley Gas company in court yesterday confessed judgment for $12,284.66 in the suit brought against them by Horace B. Nicholson, of Wellsville. Nicholson, in one action, has bunched the claims against this insolvent company.

Judge J. G. Moore, receiver of the First National bank of Lisbon, has been authorized by the court to accept $50 as payment in full of the claims of the bank against the estate of Louis P. Held, and $335 as complete payment of the claif against John H. O'Mara.

In the suit of the H. A. Thopmson Banking company, of Salineville, versus W. A. McClain, the defendant has confessed judgment for $431.96.

In the suit of Gus Blank, of Lisbon, against George Rupp judgment to the amount of $20.70 has been confessed.

SALE ORDERED

Of Land in Hanover Township—Administrator for Mrs. M. J. Brinker.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—In the estate of William Humphreys, Elwood Miller, administrator, has been ordered to sell at private sale 80 acres of land, and at public sale 160 acres, situated in Hanover township.

J. M. Dickinson has been appointed administrator of the estate of Mary J. Brinker, Center township. Bond $20,000. Enos Bricker, Chris Keller and J. L. Switzer are the appraisers.

A. W. Taylor, of Salem, has been appointed administrator of the estate of Fred L. Seitz. Bond $4,000.

Two Divorce Suits Withdrawn.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—Mattie M. Smith some time ago sued for divorce from Charles Smith. Lulu Belle Smith entered a similar suit against Nathaniel B. Smith. The suits have been withdrawn from the files, and it is understood that two family reunions will result.

Suit on Two Notes.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—A suit has been filed by R. F. Taggart against William Stewart and Emma Stewart, of Middleton township, on two notes of $625 each, on which $50 has been paid.

Increasing Interest.

The services at the M. E. church still continue. Last night a very large congregation heard an excellent sermon by Dr. Clark Crawford. Dr. Dunham, who arrived in the city today, will speak tonight. He will probably be here for several weeks.

First In 70 Years.

George H. Owen & Co., yesterday purchased from Henry Fisher a piece of land 188x400 feet opposite the Riverview cemetery gate. This is said to be the first sale of any portion of the Fisher farm in 70 years.

SUIT AGAINST THE CITY FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

A suit will be filed in the court at Lisbon tomorrow against the city of East Liverpool, wherein Miss Itha M. McHenry asks $10,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been the result of carelessness on the part of certain city officials.

On the evening of Oct. 4, last, Miss McHenry was on her way to the home of a friend on College street. The evening was quite dark, and when at a point on Kossuth street between the alley and the corner of College, the lady fell over a quantity of stone and sand which lay directly on the pavement in front of a partially completed building. She fell heavily, her left knee coming in contact with the bricks, and she sustained an injury to the member which is thought to be permanent. Miss McHenry was taken to her home and has remained there, unable to walk, ever since.

The petition is still in the hands of Brookes & Thompson, the lady's attorneys, but will be forwarded to the county seat this evening.

BOULDER HURLED THROUGH A HOUSE

MEN SET OFF A BLAST

Of Dynamite on the Next Lot and the Result Was Disastrous to Watson's New Residence—Dirt and Stone Were Hurled In All Directions.

A startling explosion on Globe street in Helena yesterday afternoon sent a boulder one foot in diameter crashing through the wall of the new residence of James Watson. Both that gentleman and his wife had a close call from being struck by the missile.

A cellar on the next lot had been dug several days ago and the dirt around the upper course of the walls remained in a frozen heap. It was thought by John Hayes, the owner of the lot next to Watson's house, that he could break the dirt and rock with a charge of dynamite. His surmise was correct.

When the charge was exploded it threw dirt and stone in every direction. Not only was the heap scattered, but a hole was made in the kitchen wall of Watson's house.

The boulder tore through one wall and broke a hole almost through the plastering and siding at the opposite end of the room.

It had been Hayes' opinion that no such violence would result, and Mr. and Mrs. Watson, who had been given this assurance, were looking out of the window, spectators on what was happening in the next lot. The boulder, they said, went humming through the air like a big bumble-bee, and almost directly at them. It went through the wall a distance of less than three feet from where they were standing, but they were fortunately uninjured.

The man who made the charge stood a few rods from the place with a helper. Dirt and fragments of rock fell about them, but they were unhurt.

Interest in Oil Matters.

J. R. Thompson, a Hookstown business man, was in the East End this morning. He stated that, while there had been much interest in the oil development of Hookstown, the well to be sunk in the edge of the town had not been commenced. Much coal is being taken from the banks between there and Georgetown, but the owners of the banks have had aggravating contentions by the caverns filling with water.

Placing of Ware Delayed.

It had been intended to place ware in the second kiln at the Electric Porcelain works on Elm street this week, but owing to a shortage of saggers a delay of a few days has happened. The plant has its own sagger-making department and is very complet in every respect. A kiln filled with the electric insulators and specialties is worth a large amount of money.

A Unique Reception Arranged.

A doll reception will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings at the home of Mrs. Sarah Dawson on St. George street next week. It is given under the auspices of the Junior Epworth League and will be a unique affair. Every child having a broken doll will be permitted to have it mended in the doll hospital department.

HER HEART IS BROKEN

And a Country Girl Who Was Disappointed in Marriage Wants Healing Salve.

Steubenville, January 16.—Jacob L. Devoe, a street car conductor in the employ of the Steubenville, Mingo & Ohio Valley Traction company, was today made defendant in a breach of promise suit, the plaintiff being Miss Dessie Morrison, of Quaker City, Guernsey county. Miss Morrison is very mild in the amount of damages asked, as she places the sum at $1,000, which, she believes, will heal her wounded heart. She is about 25 years of age.

Devoe is about 30 years of age. He came to this city from Guernsey county last summer about the time the plaintiff says he promised to marry her. The time was set and everything made ready, but Devoe wasn't on hand to serve as groom and claim the hand of the country girl, who says she is yet willing to take him. Devoe shows no inclination to enjoy marital bliss.

A TRANSIT OF VENUS.

How It Was Observed by a Party of German Scientists.

On their way between Tebriz and Teheran the members of an expedition sent to Persia by the German government to observe the transit of Venus met a solitary European lady riding in the opposite direction, a member of the English colony, who was as clever as she was beautiful. Having been long a resident in Persia, she was fearlessly riding alone a long way ahead of her caravan. The Germans marveled at such an apparition in such a dreary waste—wondered she wasn't afraid. Wouldn't she let some of them stand by until her servants and baggage came up? No, she was quite at ease, and usually in her travels was far ahead of her attendants, whose mules, more heavily laden, could not keep her pace.

"And now, gentlemen," she said, "who are you, and where are you bound for?"

They introduced each other. One was the astronomer, another the photographer, another the archæologist, the naturalist, and so on, and they were going to Ispahan to observe the transit of Venus. The lady smiled, started her pony and waved her adieu, saying:

"To observe the transit of Venus? Ah, well, you can go home, now, gentlemen! Your duty is done. Goodby."

The fair vision disappeared at a canter toward the horizon, and it was said that the Germans did not see the joke till a long time after Venus had disappeared from their ken.—Life of Major General Sir Robert Murdoch Smith, K. C. M. G.

THE NEW MANAGER.

Why He Did Not Discharge a Certain Railroad Conductor.

Among the first railroads built in the United States was a little line about twenty miles in length. In the course of time a big tunnel line was constructed through the same country. The original line became merely a branch. For many years it was run in a cheap way, with one locomotive, one engineer and two or three freight cars.

Finally a new general manager was appointed. He had been in the office but a week when he sent for the one lone conductor who had held the position ever since the road was built.

"I would like to have your resignation," said the general manager when the conductor appeared.

"My resignation?" inquired the conductor in astonishment.

"Yes, sir, yours."

"What for, pray?"

"Well, I want to make some changes and get new blood in the line," was the general manager's reply.

"I won't resign," answered the conductor.

"Then I will be compelled to discharge you, a step which for your sake I had hoped I would be saved from taking."

"Young man, you will not discharge me. I own a controlling interest in the stock of this railroad and elect the president and board of directors. I shall have you fired."

The old conductor did really own the majority of the stock and, as he said, put in his own board of directors and president.

An Attack of Pneumonia Warded Off.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hooper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col.

Horses Wounded In Battle.

Horses wounded on the battlefield are duly attended to when no danger to human life is involved. The veterinary officer in charge is expected to follow close on the fighting line and, together with a number of aids, to inspect properly wounded animals and give instructions for their removal or slaughter, as the case may be. The veterinary surgeon is naturally exposed to considerable danger, but if his work is not carried out during the progress of hostilities in all probability it cannot be accomplished afterward, for, although the royal army medical corps is allowed to proceed to the rescue of the wounded men under the Red Cross, the members of the army veterinary department are not permitted to attend to the injured horses, because they are not under the protection of the Geneva convention, which makes no provision whatsoever for wounded animals.

At the conclusion of the battle, if it has been decisive and one or other of the combatant armies has been driven from the field, a party of veterinary surgeons, with their assistants, is sent out to examine every animal that has fallen and to shoot such as are badly wounded. Those suffering from only slight injuries are collected and taken to the veterinary hospital lines, formed as fixed camps and established on a similar basis to those of the royal army medical corps.—Pearson's Magazine.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A TRANSIT OF VENUS.

How It Was Observed by a Party of German Scientists.

On their way between Tehriz and Teheran the members of an expedition sent to Persia by the German government to observe the transit of Venus met a solitary European lady riding in the opposite direction, a member of the English colony, who was as clever as she was beautiful. Having been long a resident in Persia, she was fearlessly riding alone a long way ahead of her caravan. The Germans marveled at such an apparition in such a dreary waste—wondered she wasn't afraid. Wouldn't she let some of them stand by until her servants and baggage came up? No, she was quite at ease, and usually in her travels was far ahead of her attendants, whose mules, more heavily laden, could not keep her pace.

"And now, gentlemen," she said, "who are you, and where are you bound for?"

They introduced each other. One was the astronomer, another the photographer, another the archæologist, the naturalist, and so on, and they were going to Ispahan to observe the transit of Venus. The lady smiled, started her pony and waved her adieu, saying:

"To observe the transit of Venus? Ah, well, you can go home, now, gentlemen! Your duty is done. Goodby."

The fair vision disappeared at a canter toward the horizon, and it was said that the Germans did not see the joke till a long time after Venus had disappeared from their ken.—Life of Major General Sir Robert Murdoch Smith, K. C. M. G.

THE NEW MANAGER.

Why He Did Not Discharge a Certain Railroad Conductor.

Among the first railroads built in the United States was a little line about twenty miles in length. In the course of time a big tunnel line was constructed through the same country. The original line became merely a branch. For many years it was run in a cheap way, with one locomotive, one engineer and two or three freight cars.

Finally a new general manager was appointed. He had been in the office but a week when he sent for the one lone conductor who had held the position ever since the road was built.

"I would like to have your resignation," said the general manager when the conductor appeared.

"My resignation?" inquired the conductor in astonishment.

"Yes, sir, yours."

"What for, pray?"

"Well, I want to make some changes and get new blood in the line," was the general manager's reply.

"I won't resign," answered the conductor.

"Then I will be compelled to discharge you, a step which for your sake I had hoped I would be saved from taking."

"Young man, you will not discharge me. I own a controlling interest in the stock of this railroad and elect the president and board of directors. I shall have you fired."

The old conductor did really own the majority of the stock and, as he said, put in his own board of directors and president.

An Attack of Pneumonia Warded Off.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hooper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col. 7-tf-3-tf

Horses Wounded In Battle.

Horses wounded on the battlefield are duly attended to when no danger to human life is involved. The veterinary officer in charge is expected to follow close on the fighting line and, together with a number of aids, to inspect properly wounded animals and give instructions for their removal or slaughter, as the case may be. The veterinary surgeon is naturally exposed to considerable danger, but if his work is not carried out during the progress of hostilities in all probability it cannot be accomplished afterward, for, although the royal army medical corps is allowed to proceed to the rescue of the wounded men under the Red Cross, the members of the army veterinary department are not permitted to attend to the injured horses, because they are not under the protection of the Geneva convention, which makes no provision whatsoever for wounded animals.

At the conclusion of the battle, if it has been decisive and one or other of the combatant armies has been driven from the field, a party of veterinary surgeons, with their assistants, is sent out to examine every animal that has fallen and to shoot such as are badly wounded. Those suffering from only slight injuries are collected and taken to the veterinary hospital lines, formed as fixed camps and established on a similar basis to those of the royal army medical corps.—Pearson's Magazine.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Resolution Adopted by House. To Be In Honor of McKinley.

THE PENSION BILL PASSED.

House Adjourned From Yesterday Until Saturday, Out of Respect to the Memory of Late Mr. Burke—Volunteers Defended in Senate.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The House yesterday passed the pension appropriation bill, which has been under discussion for three days, and then adjourned until Saturday.

The resolution prepared by the special committee on the McKinley memorial exercises providing for an address by Secretary of State John Hay in the hall of representatives, February 27, was adopted.

Mr. Moody (Mass.), presented a joint resolution to appropriate $90,000 to pay the expenses incurred by the West Indian and South Carolina Interstate Exposition at Charleston, S. C., in connection with the government exhibit at Charleston.

Mr. Payne (N. Y.), declared that the management, when the government exhibit was secured, agreed that the United States would not be asked for one cent.

Mr. Elliott in reply took issue with Mr. Payne as to the facts, and Mr. Moody pledged himself that with the adoption of the pending resolution the government's expense in connection with the Charleston exposition would cease. The resolution was passed.

A bill was passed to allow the redemption of war revenue stamps any time within two years after the passage of the act, and also a resolution on the same subject to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to return upon demand within one year bank checks and drafts with war revenue stamps imprinted thereon after the cancellation of such stamps.

The House then resumed consideration of the pension appropriation bill, which was read for amendment under the five-minute rule. An amendment offered by Mr. Jenkins (Wis.), providing that the testimony of three witnesses that persons who lived together as man and wife for five years should be assumed to be prima facia evidence of marriage provoked considerable debate, and was finally ruled out on a point of order.

The bill then was passed.

A resolution providing for personal clerks for chairmen of committees precipitated considerable discussion about the need of clerical help for certain committees, but finally was adopted. February 1, at 3 o'clock, was set aside for paying tribute to the memory of the late Representative Brosius, of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Wooten (Texas), formally announced the death of the late Representative Burke, of Texas, which occurred last summer, and the House at 3:45 p. m., as a mark of respect, adjourned until Saturday.

DEFENDED VOLUNTEERS.

Construed Remarks of Hale As Attack Upon Them.

Washington, Jan. 16.—A spirited discussion was precipitated in the Senate by some remarks submitted by Mr. Hale, of Maine, in respect to bills relating to the formation of a naval reserve, which he introduced. He took strong grounds against the organization of a naval reserve, his comment being construed by some of the Senators into a reflection upon volunteer soldiers and land militia. Half a dozen Senators were on their feet in an instant to defend the volunteers and the national guard of the various States, and the debate took so wide a range that Senators went back in their remarks to the days of the Revolutionary war to seek illustrations for their arguments. While no action was possible at this time, it is likely the discussion upon the measures, should they be reported, will be very lively. No business of special importance was transacted, the time of the Senate being consumed by matters of routine.

After the adjournment of the Senate Mr. Hale said the naval reserve bills introduced by him yesterday, had been presented by request of persons interested in such legislation. In the same manner he had introduced bills representing both the navy department's views and that of individuals or organizations on the question of a naval reserve. He personally, however, did not stand committed to any of them, and he questioned whether any satisfactory results wiuld come from them.

Submarines TO WIN THE NEXT WAR

By LUCIEN MILLEVOYE, Member of the French Chamber of Deputies

THE NEXT GREAT WAR WILL BE WON BY THE NATION POSSESSING THE MOST POWERFUL SUBMARINE NAVY.

THE SHIPS THAT WON AT MANILA AND SANTIAGO ARE OUT OF DATE.

A terrible war of nations is inevitable sooner or later.

Men talk of peace, but the war spirit is abroad. The big cruisers of today are at the mercy of tiny submarines, and nations careful of their safety will have to build a submarine navy.

France is well supplied, but is not building enough submarines. AERIAL NAVIES MAY COME, BUT I DO NOT SEE HOW THEY CAN BE AS DESTRUCTIVE AS INVISIBLE BATTLESHIPS UNDER WATER. We have science enough to build a great submarine navy if our public men were only enterprising.

EVERETT RE-ELECTED.

Meeting of Cleveland Electric Railway Held.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 16.—At the annual meeting of the Cleveland Electric Railway company, known locally as the Big Consolidated system, Henry A. Everett, of the Everett-Moore syndicate, was re-elected president. George S. Russell, cashier of the Bank of Commerce, was elected treasurer, to succeed E. W. Moore, who retires from the treasuryship, and also a member of the board of directors of the company.

Calvary Morris was elected as Mr. Moore's successor on the board of directors. Both Morris and Russell represent the Cleveland bankers' interests in the affairs of the company.

IS POPE VERY ILL.

Dispatch to London Papers From Rome Said His Holiness Was Just Alive.

London, Jan. 16.—"Vanity Fair's" correspondent at Rome writes:

"The death of the pope may be expected any day, as his holiness can only be said to be just alive. He takes little nourishment and is generally half unconscious.

"He suffers no pain and simply dozes the hours away without comprehension of what is going on around him."

Methodist Episcopal Twentieth Century Fund Meeting With Success.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—The Methodist Episcopal ministers of this city are very much pleased over the progress being made in raising the big twentieth century fund of that denomination. The fund to be raised is $20,000,000. Of this amount $15,000,000 has been pledged, and the greater part of it paid in cash.

At a recent meeting of the committee on the thank offering it was determined to extend the time for raising the sum till January 1, 1903. The committee is sure by that time it will surpass the sum mentioned by the bishops, and probably reach $25,000,000.

The money already paid in has been distributed among the benevolences of the church, as follows: Debts on church property, $7,000,000; church schools, $6,000,000; missions in general, $2,000,000.

The Methodists of New York propose to raise $1,000,000. The exact amount raised by the Pittsburg conference has not been summed up, but it is expected to reach a half million dollars. The object of this fund is to cancel local church debts, endow colleges and universities and put the mission boards of the church on good footing.

BANQUET TO THE SCHLEYS.

Friday Morning Admiral Will Go Hunting For Deer.

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 16.—Admiral and Mrs. Schley were entertained by Palestine Commandery, Knights Templar, with a reception and banquet at the Masonic Temple last night. The hall was decorated with the national colors, a rear admiral's flag and palms. The large banquet room was filled with ladies and gentlemen.

After the dinner informal addresses were made by Eminent Commander Golding, Admiral Schley and several others.

Friday morning Admiral Schley will go hunting for deer on St. Catherine island. He says he has never killed a deer. As St. Catherine is a private game preserve and well stocked, he may have an opportunity there.

RAILROAD BROTHERHOOD.

Chicago Chosen Headquarters For the Organization.

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—The Brotherhood of Railway Employes has decided that Chicago shall be its future headquarters, and yesterday decided to hold its next convention there in May, 1904.

The question of ritual was taken up and the convention decided that the nomenclature of the officers shall follow that of railroading.

It was also decided to place an organization in each of the following cities: Portland, San Francisco, Albuquerque, Omaha, Helena, Kansas City, Aberdeen, St. Paul, Chicago, St Louis, Little Rock, New Orleans, Indianapolis, Columbus, Nashville, Atlanta, Washington, Pittsburg, New York City, Boston, Montreal and Winnipeg.

INJURE WOOLGROWERS.

Brigham So Says of Reciprocity. Ohio Farmers' Institute.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—At the meeting of the Ohio Farmers' institute, J. H. Brigham, assistant secretary of agriculture, declared that reciprocity, in so far as it would affect the woolgrowers of the United States, would be disastrous to them. He pointed out that Argentina, South America, produced two and one-half times as much wool as the United States, and that a far greater proportion of it is for export, as the population was sparse.

T. C. Laylin, of Norwalk, was elected president, and J. C. Housekeeper, of Bowling Green, secretary of the institute.

SUIT BROUGHT BY SHEETS.

Holds Corporation Cannot Grant Exclusive Public Privilege.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—Attorney General Sheets brought quo warranto proceedings against the Union depot company, alleging that the company has unlawfully given the Columbus Transfer company the exclusive right to occupy the driveway to the Union depot. The attorney-general contends that a corporation cannot make a contract granting such privileges to any set of persons to the exclusion of others, where the privileges to be used are of a public character.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT TO SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—Samuel Hamilton, Superintendent of County Schools, met with an accident near his home, in Braddock, which made necessary the amputation of both feet. Mr. Hamilton was on his way to this city and intended getting on the train at Mills Station. When within a short distance of the station he saw a passenger train pulling out and tried to swing on to it. The steps seemed to have been coated with ice, for his foot slipped and he fell under the rear car, the wheels passing over both feet.

PAYNE SWORN IN AS POSTMASTER GENERAL.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Henry C. Payne, of Wisconsin, was sworn in as Postmaster General yesterday in the cabinet room by Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States supreme court, in the presence of the President, all the members of the cabinet, the Senators and Representatives from Wisconsin and some invited spectators, including Senator Hanna, Senator Scott, Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Payne.

Futile Work of Robbers.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—Burglars blew open the safe of the First National Bank of Pitcairn. They did not get a cent. Nitro-glycerine was the explosive used, and it made so much noise that the whole town was awakened, but in the excitement the safe-crackers escaped.

A Banker Under Arrest.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—John P. Withers, former president of the American National Bank of Beaumont, Tex., who is charged with embezzlement and mismanagement of the bank's funds, is still in the custody of the United States marshal in this city. An order will probably be given to take Withers to Texas, where, it is stated, he will give bond for his appearance.

Two Boys Burned Together.

An Ocean Hotel.

Some idea of what a big hotel a transatlantic liner is may be gained from the following from Ainslie's Magazine: "Everything about the kitchen of a great steamship is on a most elaborate scale. The range weighs many tons; the various soup caldrons are constructed to hold 20 gallons; loaves are baked by the hundred, joints roasted by the dozen, each in a separate and specially constructed compartment. To serve the meals thousands of plates, pieces of silver, cups and saucers and napkins are required, and the average breakage in the galley of a big ship amounts to a barrel of china every day.

"The amount of stores required for a single voyage by a great liner is comparable only to the commissariat of an army. Here are a few figures furnished by the chief steward of one of the big German ships from the order sheet for a recent trip: Sixteen tons of fresh beef, five tons of lamb and veal, 3,500 head of chickens, ducks, geese and game, four tons of salted meats, 1,000 dozens eggs, three tons of sugar, 100 barrels of flour, 700 bushels of potatoes, 2½ tons of butter, 2,000 quarts of milk and 500 gallons of ice cream. Of course this is not an exhaustive list, but it will serve to give an idea of the enormous appetite which the storerooms of the ocean liner must satisfy."

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Charles F. Craig's, Foutts Bldg., East Liverpool, O.

Resolution Adopted by House. To Be In Honor of McKinley.

House Adjourned From Yesterday Until Saturday, Out of Respect to the Memory of Late Mr. Burke—Volunteers Defended in Senate.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The House yesterday passed the pension appropriation bill, which has been under discussion for three days, and then adjourned until Saturday.

The resolution prepared by the special committee on the McKinley memorial exercises providing for an address by Secretary of State John Hay in the hall of representatives, February 27, was adopted.

Mr. Moody (Mass.), presented a joint resolution to appropriate $90,000 to pay the expenses incurred by the West Indian and South Carolina Interstate Exposition at Charleston, S. C, in connection with the government exhibit at Charleston.

Mr. Payne (N. Y.), declared that the management, when the government exhibit was secured, agreed that the United States would not be asked for one cent.

Mr. Elliott in reply took issue with Mr. Payne as to the facts, and Mr. Moody pledged himself that with the adoption of the pending resolution the government's expense in connection with the Charleston exposition would cease. The resolution was passed.

A bill was passed to allow the redemption of war revenue stamps any time within two years after the passage of the act, and also a resolution on the same subject to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to return upon demand within one year bank checks and drafts with war revenue stamps imprinted thereon after the cancellation of such stamps.

The House then resumed consideration of the pension appropriation bill, which was read for amendment under the five-minute rule. An amendment offered by Mr. Jenkins (Wis.), providing that the testimony of three witnesses that persons who lived together as man and wife for five years should be assumed to be prima facia evidence of marriage provoked considerable debate, and was finally ruled out on a point of order.

The bill then was passed.

A resolution providing for personal clerks for chairmen of committees precipitated considerable discussion about the need of clerical help for certain committees, but finally was adopted. February 1, at 3 o'clock, was set aside for paying tribute to the memory of the late Representative Brosius, of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Wooten (Texas), formally announced the death of the late Representative Burke, of Texas, which occurred last summer, and the House at 3:45 p. m., as a mark of respect, adjourned until Saturday.

DEFENDED VOLUNTEERS.

Construed Remarks of Hale As Attack Upon Them.

Washington, Jan. 16.—A spirited discussion was precipitated in the Senate by some remarks submitted by Mr. Hale, of Maine, in respect to bills relating to the formation of a naval reserve, which he introduced. He took strong grounds against the organization of a naval reserve, his comment being construed by some of the Senators into a reflection upon volunteer soldiers and land militia. Half a dozen Senators were on their feet in an instant to defend the volunteers and the national guard of the various States, and the debate took so wide a range that Senators went back in their remarks to the days of the Revolutionary war to seek illustrations for their arguments. While no action was possible at this time, it is likely the discussion upon the measures, should they be reported, will be very lively. No business of special importance was transacted, the time of the Senate being consumed by matters of routine.

After the adjournment of the Senate Mr. Hale said the naval reserve bills introduced by him yesterday, had been presented by request of persons interested in such legislation. In the same manner he had introduced bills representing both the navy department's views and that of individuals or organizations on the question of a naval reserve. He personally, however, did not stand committed to any of them, and he questioned whether any satisfactory results would come from them.

EVERETT RE-ELECTED.

Meeting of Cleveland Electric Railway Held.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 16.—At the annual meeting of the Cleveland Electric Railway company, known locally as the Big Consolidated system, Henry A. Everett, of the Everett-Moore syndicate, was re-elected president. George S. Russell, cashier of the Bank of Commerce, was elected treasurer, to succeed E. W. Moore, who retires from the treasuryship, and also a member of the board of directors of the company.

Calvary Morris was elected as Mr. Moore's successor on the board of directors. Both Morris and Russell represent the Cleveland bankers' interests in the affairs of the company.

IS POPE VERY ILL.

Dispatch to London Papers From Rome Said His Holiness Was Just Alive.

London, Jan. 16.—"Vanity Fair's" correspondent at Rome writes:

"The death of the pope may be expected any day, as his holiness can only be said to be just alive. He takes little nourishment and is generally half unconscious.

"He suffers no pain and simply dozes the hours away without comprehension of what is going on around him."

Methodist Episcopal Twentieth Century Fund Meeting With Success.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—The Methodist Episcopal ministers of this city are very much pleased over the progress being made in raising the big twentieth century fund of that denomination. The fund to be raised is $20,000,000. Of this amount $15,000,000 has been pledged, and the greater part of it paid in cash.

At a recent meeting of the committee on the thank offering it was determined to extend the time for raising the sum till January 1, 1903. The committee is sure by that time it will surpass the sum mentioned by the bishops, and probably reach $25,000,000.

The money already paid in has been distributed among the benevolences of the church, as follows: Debts on church property, $7,000,000; church schools, $6,000,000; missions in general, $2,000,000.

The Methodists of New York propose to raise $1,000,000. The exact amount raised by the Pittsburg conference has not been summed up, but it is expected to reach a half million dollars. The object of this fund is to cancel local church debts, endow colleges and universities and put the mission boards of the church on good footing.

BANQUET TO THE SCHLEYS.

Friday Morning Admiral Will Go Hunting For Deer.

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 16.—Admiral and Mrs. Schley were entertained by Palestine Commandery, Knights Templar, with a reception and banquet at the Masonic Temple last night. The hall was decorated with the national colors, a rear admiral's flag and palms. The large banquet room was filled with ladies and gentlemen.

After the dinner informal addresses were made by Eminent Commander Golding, Admiral Schley and several others.

Friday morning Admiral Schley will go hunting for deer on St. Catherine island. He says he has never killed a deer. As St. Catherine is a private game preserve and well stocked, he may have an opportunity there.

RAILROAD BROTHERHOOD.

Chicago Chosen Headquarters For the Organization.

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—The Brotherhood of Railway Employes has decided that Chicago shall be its future headquarters, and yesterday decided to hold its next convention there in May, 1904.

The question of ritual was taken up and the convention decided that the nomenclature of the officers shall follow that of railroading.

It was also decided to place an organization in each of the following cities: Portland, San Francisco, Albuquerque, Omaha, Helena, Kansas City, Aberdeen, St. Paul, Chicago, St Louis, Little Rock, New Orleans, Indianapolis, Columbus, Nashville, Atlanta, Washington, Pittsburg, New York City, Boston, Montreal and Winnipeg.

Submarines TO WIN THE NEXT WAR

THE NEXT GREAT WAR WILL BE WON BY THE NATION POSSESSING THE MOST POWERFUL SUBMARINE NAVY.

THE SHIPS THAT WON AT MANILA AND SANTIAGO ARE OUT OF DATE.

A terrible war of nations is inevitable sooner or later.

Men talk of peace, but the war spirit is abroad. The big cruisers of today are at the mercy of tiny submarines, and nations careful of their safety will have to build a submarine navy.

France is well supplied, but is not building enough submarines. AERIAL NAVIES MAY COME, BUT I DO NOT SEE HOW THEY CAN BE AS DESTRUCTIVE AS INVISIBLE BATTLESHIPS UNDER WATER. We have science enough to build a great submarine navy if our public men were only enterprising.

INJURE WOOLGROWERS.

Brigham So Says of Reciprocity. Ohio Farmers' Institute.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—At the meeting of the Ohio Farmers' institute, J. H. Brigham, assistant secretary of agriculture, declared that reciprocity, in so far as it would affect the woolgrowers of the United States, would be disastrous to them. He pointed out that Argentina, South America, produced two and one-half times as much wool as the United States, and that a far greater proportion of it is for export, as the population was sparse.

T. C. Laylin, of Norwalk, was elected president, and J. C. Housekeeper, of Bowling Green, secretary of the institute.

SUIT BROUGHT BY SHEETS.

Holds Corporation Cannot Grant Exclusive Public Privilege.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—Attorney General Sheets brought quo warranto proceedings against the Union depot company, alleging that the company has unlawfully given the Columbus Transfer company the exclusive right to occupy the driveway to the Union depot. The attorney-general contends that a corporation cannot make a contract granting such privileges to any set of persons to the exclusion of others, where the privileges to be used are of a public character.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT TO SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—Samuel Hamilton, Superintendent of County Schools, met with an accident near his home, in Braddock, which made necessary the amputation of both feet. Mr. Hamilton was on his way to this city and intended getting on the train at Mills Station. When within a short distance of the station he saw a passenger train pulling out and tried to swing on to it. The steps seemed to have been coated with ice, for his foot slipped and he fell under the rear car, the wheels passing over both feet.

PAYNE SWORN IN AS POSTMASTER GENERAL.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Henry C. Payne, of Wisconsin, was sworn in as Postmaster General yesterday in the cabinet room by Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States supreme court, in the presence of the President, all the members of the cabinet, the Senators and Representatives from Wisconsin and some invited spectators, including Senator Hanna, Senator Scott, Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Payne.

Futile Work of Robbers.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—Burglars blew open the safe of the First National Bank of Pitcairn. They did not get a cent. Nitro-glycerine was the explosive used, and it made so much noise that the whole town was awakened, but in the excitement the safe-crackers escaped.

A Banker Under Arrest.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—John P. Withers, former president of the American National Bank of Beaumont, Tex., who is charged with embezzlement and mismanagement of the bank's funds, is still in the custody of the United States marshal in this city. An order will probably be given to take Withers to Texas, where, it is stated, he will give bond for his appearance.

Two Boys Burned Together.

St. Louis, Jan. 16.—John and Henry Kander, aged respectively five and two years, sons of Stephen Kander, of East St. Louis, perished in a fire that destroyed their home. The parents left the children alone in the house.

An Ocean Hotel.

Some idea of what a big hotel a transatlantic liner is may be gained from the following from Ainslie's Magazine: "Everything about the kitchen of a great steamship is on a most elaborate scale. The range weighs many tons; the various soup caldrons are constructed to hold 20 gallons; loaves are baked by the hundred, joints roasted by the dozen, each in a separate and specially constructed compartment. To serve the meals thousands of plates, pieces of silver, cups and saucers and napkins are required, and the average breakage in the galley of a big ship amounts to a barrel of china every day.

"The amount of stores required for a single voyage by a great liner is comparable only to the commissariat of an army. Here are a few figures furnished by the chief steward of one of the big German ships from the order sheet for a recent trip: Sixteen tons of fresh beef, five tons of lamb and veal, 3,500 head of chickens, ducks, geese and game, four tons of salted meats, 1,000 dozens eggs, three tons of sugar, 100 barrels of flour, 700 bushels of potatoes, 2½ tons of butter, 2,000 quarts of milk and 500 gallons of ice cream. Of course this is not an exhaustive list, but it will serve to give an idea of the enormous appetite which the storerooms of the ocean liner must satisfy."

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Charles F. Craig's, Foutts Bldg., East Liverpool, O.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL E. LIVERPOOL, O.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1902.

The municipal code bill, which the State Bar association, the State Board of Commerce and other bodies are urging the legislature of Ohio to pass provides the same form of government for all cities containing over 3,000 inhabitants and another general system for all villages of less than 3,000. Cogent reasons are put forward demonstrating the need of a change. On this subject the Toledo Blade says: "Present conditions are chaotic. Corporate powers conferred by special legislation are in direct conflict with the constitution. Supreme court decisions the past few days lead to the conclusion that the whole fabric of municipal government in Ohio will fall to pieces as rapidly as suits are brought in the supreme court. The statute books of the state are filled with special legislation. Local bills fill the calendars from the beginning of a legislative session until its close. Local bond issues are granted by legislators and become burdens upon the taxpayers. Local measures take up so much time that matters of general interest are neglected. And add to all this the certainty that the great bulk of this legislation is unconstitutional and a condition is presented which is far from reassuring. The municipal code bill, if made a law, would change all this."

Senator Foraker, in addressing the legislature after it had elected him senator, made an excellent speech, as he usually does when he talks on any occasion. Particularly impressive was his review of the history that has been made in the past six years. Rarely, since the American republic was founded, has a similar brief period been more eventful. In that time, we have had both war and peace, but the victories of peace are by far the most striking. As the senator observes, "Long vanished prosperity has returned, and never in the history of the world has there been anything like what we now enjoy. The great industrial problem of Europe at this time is not how to sell in our markets, but how to protect their own from our commercial invasion and one of our greatest industrial problems is how to go on indefinitely collecting the stupendous balance of trade in our favor without bankrupting all the rest of the world and thus destroying the customers we are acquiring." It is not boasting to say that American progress, industrially, commercially, intellectually and morally has been more rapid than that of any other nation on the globe; it is a simple statement of facts.

New York state has a system of road supervision which seems to be working well. At all events, the mileage of good roads in that state is rapidly increasing. There are state and county boards of supervision, and the state has been appropriating generous amounts to improve highways. It might be profitable for one legislators to tackle the question with a determination to do something more than talk about it. We do not say that the New York system is best, but any plan that is founded on common sense would be preferable to the utter lack of system in dealing with road improvement that prevails in the greater portion of rural Ohio.

It was late in coming, but the high water mark in pensions to civil war veterans has been reached. The total of the pension appropriation bill for next year is some five million dollars less than for the present fiscal year, ending June 30 next. Along with this is the fact that the number of pensioners shows an increase. The explanation is given that all the arrearages have been paid, and that the cases are exhausted in which the large pensions were allowed. No nation on earth ever dealt as generously as the United States with the men who fought its battles.

The Ohio Police association was organized in Columbus Tuesday, by chiefs of police, from many cities and towns of the state. The purpose is to put a stop to the blowing of safes and the robbery of banks. It is to be hoped that the organization will get down to business immediately.

Kentucky lynchers go from bad to worse. They have now laid down the shot gun and taken up dynamite. The spread of crime cannot be wondered at in communities where the people show such remarkable readiness to transgress the law.

AT THE THEATER

The merry farce "Are You a Mason?" which will be presented for the Knights of Pythias annual benefit, Monday, Jan. 29, is a very fine adaptation from the German of Laufts and Kratz by Leo Detrichstein. Most of the humorous situations are traceable to the efforts of Amos Bloodgood, of Rockford, fil., and his son-in-law, Frank Perry, of New York, to palm themselves off as Masons. Bloodgood began the deception 20 years before the story opens. His wife had insisted that he become a Mason and so he joined an imaginary lodge, and found it a great convenience. Bloodgood having at length become grand master in his mind, it was only natural that Mrs. Bloodgood should desire her son-in-law to become a Mason also. As neither suspected the other of being in the same domestic boat, there are misunderstandings galore directly the Bloodgoods come east to visit the Perrys, which they do in the first act.

Perry owns up his deception to Bloodgood, but is rebuked so severely that in revenge he plays a trick upon the old gentleman that complicates things still more and threatens dire disaster to the Bloodgoods' domestic structure. The piece should win the same popularity here that it has had everywhere it has been seen.

The stagehands will this year present for their benefit "Lovers' Lane," Clyde Fitch's now widely celebrated pastural play, at the opera house Tuesday evening, January 24. The excellent cast and the great beauty of scenic embellishment are up to the highest standard established by that enterprising manager, William A. Brady, who is believed to possess in this piece a property quite as valuable in a commercial sense as "'Way Down East," which has made several fortunes within the past three years, and is still as vital as ever. These subtle, rustic dramas, full of heart interest, quaint humor, homely sentiment and picturesque realism, seem to have stronger virility than the more ephemeral problem plays and the frivolous comedies of fashionable society. The chart will open Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The company supporting Chester De Vonde, appearing at the opera house this week, gave a clever production of the "Minister of Hawk's Roost" last evening. The attendance was large, the standing room sign being displayed early in the evening. The specialties were clever and well received. Tonight the bill will be "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Puzzled.

A Bangor shipmaster wrote home to the vessel's owner telling of the condition of the freight market where he was—out in the Windward islands. Business was dull, and the vessel had been in the same port for some time, and the captain wrote, "We are in statu quo." The owner for the next week was engaged in searching the atlas of the West Indies trying to find out, as he put it, "where in thunder this 'ere statu quo is!"

POTTERY NEWS

The Trent Tile company, of Trenton, will break ground Monday for a series of buildings which will enable it to double the capacity of its plant and will increase its possible annual output to 4,000,000 feet per year. The addition is made necessary by reason of increased foreign and domestic demand. The works are expected to be completed by April 1. The improvements will include three or four new kilns and will necessitate increasing the number of employes from 300 to 400 or 450.

The deliberations of the joint arbitration board in the dispute between the printers and their employers are not yet ended. The board was in session a greater portion of yesterday and adjournment was taken at 3:30 until tonight. In the meantime further investigation is being made by both sides, in order that the members will be able to act in an intelligent manner. It is hoped they will finish the work with tonight's session.

It is announced that a handler in one of the hill potteries is about to form a colony of East Liverpool persons to go to New Jersey to occupy a tract of land 10 miles south of Atlantic City. It is said the proposition consists of first erecting a small art pottery which will be enlarged when business warrants.

The clay now being used at the Thompson pottery for making saggers is being secured from the hill on Pennsylvania avenue near the Wallace and Chetwynd pottery. Two teams are employed in hauling the clay from the hill to the pottery, and a number of miners are given employment in digging the clay.

Quite an odd decoration is being used on a novelty turned out at the Smith and Phillips pottery. It is an orange bowl and the decoration is "irridescent lustre." This gives the decoration an oily appearance. The shape of the bowl is neat and it is meeting with ready sale.

It has been rumored that after the new improvements are completed at the Union no apprentices will be put on the benches. It is said that Manager Manor desires to fill all the new positions that he will have to give out with journeymen.

A new shed for storing flint has been erected in the rear of the plant of the Potters' Mining and Milling company in the East End. The capacity of the shed is large. It was completed a few days ago.

The Laughlin company is now rushed with orders, and all departments are being operated to their full capacity. Quite a number of orders are now being received at plant No. 2 for decorated goods.

An order has been placed by the C. C. Thompson Pottery company for 400 trays to be used in carrying decorated ware from the decorating shop to the decorating kilns. The order will be delivered next week.

The new potters' local to be composed of the kilnmen, dippers and saggermakers, will be organized in Sebring tomorrow night. It will be known as No. 59.

A new decoration is being placed on one of the dinner sets made by the Smith and Phillips pottery. The decoration is a border and is worked in decalcomania.

The biscuit girls at the Smith and Phillips pottery did not work yesterday on account of the shortage of ware. Work was resumed this morning.

John Owen, for several years foreman of the Diamond pottery, has left the plant. He has entered the mercantile business on Market street.

Mr. Adler, a buyer for a large crockery house in Chicago, is in the city placing some large orders. They are being well distributed.

Jack Owens, Jr., has taken a position at the Dresden pottery as a presser. Part of the time he will be employed sticking-up.

Thomas McFetridge has accepted a position as sticker-up on the jumbo jigger at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor pottery.

Walter Cronin, a jiggerman at the East Liverpool pottery, is confined to his home with tonsilitis.

Roofers are putting a preparation of tar on the new addition to Laughlin No. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brooks, of Martinsburg, W. Va., who have been the guests of Mr. Brooks' father, Sixth street, returned home today.

William Watson, a motorman on the East Liverpool & Rock Springs railway, is ill at his home on Third street, threatened with fever. Mrs. Watson is also ill with the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grim left yesterday afternoon for Ravenna, where they will spend their honeymoon. They were accompanied to the train by a party of friends who gave them a merry shower of rice.

Rev. Charles F. Swift, pastor of the M. P. church of Beaver Falls, who has been in the city several days assisting Rev. W. H. Gladden in the revival services at the M. P. church on Fifth street, returned to his home yesterday.

The First Iron Ship.

The first iron ship has more reputed birthplaces than Homer. Both the Clyde and the Mersey claim pre-eminence in this respect. Sir E. J. Robison of Edinburgh designed an iron vessel in 1816, which was not launched till three years later, and it is said that an iron boat was worked on the Severn even as far back as 1787. Steel was not used in the construction of merchant ships' hulls until 1859. Old salts were not alone in their belief that wood was meant by Providence to float, but iron to go to the bottom. A naval constructor of some repute once said: "Don't talk to me of iron ships. They are contrary to nature." Now none but small craft are built of wood in this country.—Chambers' Journal.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Kid gloves will not mold if you pack them away carefully in a dry place.

The appearance of a grate may be improved by rubbing it over with a piece of old velvet after it has been polished in the usual way.

Metal teapots should have a lump of sugar put inside them before they are put away, otherwise they are apt to remain damp and acquire a musty flavor.

Loops for hanging up garments are continually breaking. A serviceable loop is made by cutting a strip of kid from an old glove, rolling in it a piece of coarse string and sewing the edges of the kid neatly together.

Gilt frames may be revived by beating up the whites of eggs with an ounce of soda and then, after blowing the dust from the frames with the bellows, rubbing them over with a soft brush dipped in the mixture.

Experts in cut glass advocate the following as the best means of cleaning: Wash the glass thoroughly with warm soapsuds and cover with sawdust. As soon as the sawdust is dry brush the article very carefully with a soft brush, reaching all the crevices. It will come out as clear and sparkling as a bubble fresh from the pipe.

Husbands' Motto a Bible Verse.

The Husbands' Protection society of London has as its motto the naive verse found in what is known as the Wife Beater's Bible, published in 1549, copies of which may be found in many museums and libraries. This verse is as follows:

"He dwelleth wyth his wyfe accordinge to his knowledge and taketh her as a necessarye healper and not as a bonde servant or a bonde slave. And if she be not obedient and helpfull to hym he endeavoureth to beate the fear of God into her heade that thereby she maye be compelled to learne her dutie and to do it."—London News.

A Dry Smoke.

If you see a man with an unlighted cigar between his lips, it is not because he is looking for a light, but because he is indulging in the pleasure of a "dry smoke." How there can be any enjoyment in this to a smoker is not readily apparent, but the fact remains that there is much satisfaction in the habit, and, besides, there are no baneful effects.

For inveterate smokers the dry smoke is a good habit to cultivate. It enables many slaves of the weed to decrease the number of cigars actually smoked in a day without causing much inconvenience. Of course an inveterate smoker would find no pleasure in the habit at the start, but perseverance is necessary, and after awhile he will enjoy his dry smoke almost as much as the real one. It is a good way to begin if you desire to stop smoking. Try it and see.—New York Herald.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL EAST LIVERPOOL, O.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1902.

The municipal code bill, which the State Bar association, the State Board of Commerce and other bodies are urging the legislature of Ohio to pass provides the same form of government for all cities containing over 3,000 inhabitants and another general system for all villages of less than 3,000. Cogent reasons are put forward demonstrating the need of a change. On this subject the Toledo Blade says: "Present conditions are chaotic. Corporate powers conferred by special legislation are in direct conflict with the constitution. Supreme court decisions the past few days lead to the conclusion that the whole fabric of municipal government in Ohio will fall to pieces as rapidly as suits are brought in the supreme court. The statute books of the state are filled with special legislation. Local bills fill the calendars from the beginning of a legislative session until its close. Local bond issues are granted by legislators and become burdens upon the taxpayers. Local measures take up so much time that matters of general interest are neglected. And add to all this the certainty that the great bulk of this legislation is unconstitutional and a condition is presented which is far from reassuring. The municipal code bill, if made a law, would change all this."

Senator Foraker, in addressing the legislature after it had elected him senator, made an excellent speech, as he usually does when he talks on any occasion. Particularly impressive was his review of the history that has been made in the past six years. Rarely, since the American republic was founded, has a similar brief period been more eventful. In that time, we have had both war and peace, but the victories of peace are by far the most striking. As the senator observes, "Long vanished prosperity has returned, and never in the history of the world has there been anything like what we now enjoy. The great industrial problem of Europe at this time is not how to sell in our markets, but how to protect their own from our commercial invasion and one of our greatest industrial problems is how to go on indefinitely collecting the stupendous balance of trade in our favor without bankrupting all the rest of the world and thus destroying the customers we are acquiring." It is not boasting to say that American progress, industrially, commercially, intellectually and morally has been more rapid than that of any other nation on the globe; it is a simple statement of facts.

New York state has a system of road supervision which seems to be working well. At all events, the mileage of good roads in that state is rapidly increasing. There are state and county boards of supervision, and the state has been appropriating generous amounts to improve highways. It might be profitable for one legislators to tackle the question with a determination to do something more than talk about it. We do not say that the New York system is best, but any plan that is founded on common sense would be preferable to the utter lack of system in dealing with road improvement that prevails in the greater portion of rural Ohio.

It was late in coming, but the high water mark in pensions to civil war veterans has been reached. The total of the pension appropriation bill for next year is some five million dollars less than for the present fiscal year, ending June 30 next. Along with this is the fact that the number of pensioners shows an increase. The explanation is given that all the arrearages have been paid, and that the cases are exhausted in which the large pensions were allowed. No nation on earth ever dealt as generously as the United States with the men who fought its battles.

The Ohio Police association was organized in Columbus Tuesday, by chiefs of police, from many cities and towns of the state. The purpose is to put a stop to the blowing of safes and the robbery of banks. It is to be hoped that the organization will get down to business immediately.

Kentucky lynchers go from bad to worse. They have now laid down the shot gun and taken up dynamite. The spread of crime cannot be wondered at in communities where the people show such remarkable readiness to transgress the law.

AT THE THEATER

The merry farce "Are You a Mason?" which will be presented for the Knights of Pythias annual benefit, Monday, Jan. 29, is a very fine adaptation from the German of Laufts and Kratz by Leo Detrichstein. Most of the humorous situations are traceable to the efforts of Amos Bloodgood, of Rockford, Ill., and his son-in-law, Frank Perry, of New York, to palm themselves off as Masons. Bloodgood began the deception 20 years before the story opens. His wife had insisted that he become a Mason and so he joined an imaginary lodge, and found it a great convenience. Bloodgood having at length become grand master in his mind, it was only natural that Mrs. Bloodgood should desire her son-in-law to become a Mason also. As neither suspected the other of being in the same domestic boat, there are misunderstandings galore directly the Bloodgoods come east to visit the Perrys, which they do in the first act.

Perry owns up his deception to Bloodgood, but is rebuked so severely that in revenge he plays a trick upon the old gentleman that complicates things still more and threatens dire disaster to the Bloodgoods' domestic structure. The piece should win the same popularity here that it has had everywhere it has been seen.

The stagehands will this year present for their benefit "Lovers' Lane," Clyde Fitch's now widely celebrated pastural play, at the opera house Tuesday evening, January 24. The excellent cast and the great beauty of scenic embellishment are up to the highest standard established by that enterprising manager, William A. Brady, who is believed to possess in this piece a property quite as valuable in a commercial sense as "'Way Down East," which has made several fortunes within the past three years, and is still as vital as ever. These subtle, rustic dramas, full of heart interest, quaint humor, homely sentiment and picturesque realism, seem to have stronger virility than the more ephemeral problem plays and the frivolous comedies of fashionable society. The chart will open Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The company supporting Chester De Vonde, appearing at the opera house this week, gave a clever production of the "Minister of Hawk's Roost" last evening. The attendance was large, the standing room sign being displayed early in the evening. The specialties were clever and well received. Tonight the bill will be "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Puzzled.

A Bangor shipmaster wrote home to the vessel's owner telling of the condition of the freight market where he was—out in the Windward islands. Business was dull, and the vessel had been in the same port for some time, and the captain wrote, "We are in statu quo." The owner for the next week was engaged in searching the atlas of the West Indies trying to find out, as he put it, "where in thunder this 'ere statu quo is!"

POTTERY NEWS

The Trent Tile company, of Trenton, will break ground Monday for a series of buildings which will enable it to double the capacity of its plant and will increase its possible annual output to 4,000,000 feet per year. The addition is made necessary by reason of increased foreign and domestic demand. The works are expected to be completed by April 1. The improvements will include three or four new kilns and will necessitate increasing the number of employes from 300 to 400 or 450.

The deliberations of the joint arbitration board in the dispute between the printers and their employers are not yet ended. The board was in session a greater portion of yesterday and adjournment was taken at 3:30 until tonight. In the meantime further investigation is being made by both sides, in order that the members will be able to act in an intelligent manner. It is hoped they will finish the work with tonight's session.

It is announced that a handler in one of the hill potteries is about to form a colony of East Liverpool persons to go to New Jersey to occupy a tract of land 10 miles south of Atlantic City. It is said the proposition consists of first erecting a small art pottery which will be enlarged when business warrants.

The clay now being used at the Thompson pottery for making saggers is being secured from the hill on Pennsylvania avenue near the Wallace and Chetwynd pottery. Two teams are employed in hauling the clay from the hill to the pottery, and a number of miners are given employment in digging the clay.

Quite an odd decoration is being used on a novelty turned out at the Smith and Phillips pottery. It is an orange bowl and the decoration is "iridescent lustre." This gives the decoration an oily appearance. The shape of the bowl is neat and it is meeting with ready sale.

It has been rumored that after the new improvements are completed at the Union no apprentices will be put on the benches. It is said that Manager Manor desires to fill all the new positions that he will have to give out with journeymen.

A new shed for storing flint has been erected in the rear of the plant of the Potters' Mining and Milling company in the East End. The capacity of the shed is large. It was completed a few days ago.

The Laughlin company is now rushed with orders, and all departments are being operated to their full capacity. Quite a number of orders are now being received at plant No. 2 for decorated goods.

An order has been placed by the C. C. Thompson Pottery company for 400 trays to be used in carrying decorated ware from the decorating shop to the decorating kilns. The order will be delivered next week.

The new potters' local to be composed of the kilnmen, dippers and saggermakers, will be organized in Sebring tomorrow night. It will be known as No. 59.

A new decoration is being placed on one of the dinner sets made by the Smith and Phillips pottery. The decoration is a border and is worked in decalcomania.

The biscuit girls at the Smith and Phillips pottery did not work yesterday on account of the shortage of ware. Work was resumed this morning.

John Owen, for several years foreman of the Diamond pottery, has left the plant. He has entered the mercantile business on Market street.

Mr. Adler, a buyer for a large crockery house in Chicago, is in the city placing some large orders. They are being well distributed.

Jack Owens, Jr., has taken a position at the Dresden pottery as a presser. Part of the time he will be employed sticking-up.

Thomas McFetridge has accepted a position as sticker-up on the jumbo jigger at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor pottery.

Walter Cronin, a jiggerman at the East Liverpool pottery, is confined to his home with tonsilitis.

Roofers are putting a preparation of tar on the new addition to Laughlin No. 2.

WELLSVILLE

SESSION LASTED HALF AN HOUR

In That Brief Time Wellsville Council Transacted Much Business.

MEET OFTENER HEREAFTER

Bridge on Lisbon Road Discussed. Committee Named to Confer With County Commissioners—More Time Given the Light Company.

Only 30 minutes were consumed by the city council at the meeting last evening, but an unusually large amount of business was acted upon.

The council will soon be compelled to meet oftener than of yore and at a specified hour. This is due to an ordinance placed upon its first reading. The ordinance declares that council shall meet at 7 p. m. the first and third Monday of each month.

An ordinance providing for the adoption of the codified ordinances and laws of the city of Wellsville was placed upon its third reading. The Kelly avenue ordinance directing that the avenue be paved from Commerce street to Steubenville road was adopted.

City Engineer Leith was instructed to fix a grade line on Ninth street from Water street to Wood street; also on Wood street from Ninth street to Tenth.

Much complaint has reached the ears of council concerning the condition of the bridge crossing the creek on the Lisbon road. The bridge seems to be badly in need of readjustment, but council did not think that the city should bear the whole expense. A committee was appointed to confer with the county commissioners and endeavor to have them raise the bridge. Those on the appointed committee are Messrs. Aughinbaugh, Whitacre and Brennan.

The ordinance granting Judge P. M. Smith another year in which to complete the railroad switch from the depot to the West End potteries was placed upon its second reading.

Several weeks ago Solicitor Wells was requested to correspond with several electric light companies for the purpose of finding the true worth of lights being furnished Wellsville by the Wellsville Electric Light company. The solicitor did as requested and made a report. The General Electric company, of Cincinnati, he said, approved of the lights and pronounced them modern and the most successful lights ever developed. The report was very accurate and council seemed convinced that Supt. Healy's former statement was not exaggerated. For the present nothing more will be done with the question, as it is the wish of council that Supt. Healy be given ample time in which to demonstrate that the lights are as represented.

The crack in the storm sewer extending from Fourth street to Eighth street will be repaired. Engineer Leith was authorized to have it filled with brick and cement as soon as the weather will permit. The bad condition of the road at Commerce and Eighteenth streets, due to the laying of the storm sewer, is to be remedied. The engineer was authorized to have the work done.

The time for placing the water works bond issue before the voters of Wellsville was considered. It is likely that the question will be presented at the next meeting and the time set for the same day as that of the spring election.

TAILOR HOLDS A TRUNK

And Will Continue to Do So Until a Bill of $25 Is Paid.

A young man known as J. Kneppschell, who has been employed in the steel mill for several months, departed yesterday for his home in Scottdale, Pa. His departure was very abrupt and caused Daniel Steiner, the tailor, considerable trouble.

A few weeks ago Kneppschell gave Mr. Steiner an order for a $25 suit of clothes. The suit was made and given to Kneppschell upon his promise to pay for it on pay day. That day rolled around, but Kneppschell appeared not. Mr. Steiner did not push him for the money and yesterday learned that he had resigned his position, packed his trunk and was on the verge of leaving the city.

Constable Thorne was notified and immediately instituted a search, but too late. In the early morning Kneppschell boarded a car for East Liverpool and from there took a train for Scottdale. Kneppschell failed to carry his trunk with him, but had it taken to the depot for shipment. Constable Thorne located the trunk and it is now in the possession of Mr. Steiner. The trunk and its contents are probably worth more than $25.

Provided the Deal Goes Through. Farmer's Vision of Wealth From Coal Options.

Thomas Campbell, a young farmer near Frankfort Springs, has hopes of becoming wealthy within the next few months. Over a year ago he secured options on 35,000 acres of coal land situated in Hancock and Beaver counties. He paid $18 per acre for the options and is now negotiating for the sale of the land to a New York syndicate. The syndicate, it is said, have offered him $25 per acre for the land, if so Mr. Campbell will realize a profit of $245,000. Several residents of Chester own farms near the locality of the coal land and one said this morning that there is a probability of the deal going through.

HOARFROST.

The Fabric Out of Which This Feathery Whiteness Is Built.

Commonly hoarfrost is described as being frozen moisture, but this is not an adequate description of an agent that has the power of adorning in a few hours such prosaic objects as gateposts and dustbins with all the trappings of fairyland. Moisture is indeed the fabric out of which all this feathery whiteness is built up; but, although it seems sometimes as if it is disturbed in a very capricious manner, there are nevertheless certain definite circumstances which cause the hoarfrost to settle down on some surfaces rather than others. On any cold and frosty morning it will usually be found that those surfaces that are the best radiators of heat are also those that are the most successful in collecting hoarfrost. It is not always realized, however, that all objects are continually radiating heat, so that, no matter how much they may receive from the sun, they are constantly trying to get rid of it.

A fern leaf or a stone may perhaps receive generous supplies of heat during the day, but as soon as night comes it hurries to spend or radiate it, and the object that is quickest at this work will soon become covered in hoarfrost. Every one has observed how the moisture from the air will settle on the outside of a glass of cold water brought suddenly into a warm room. A similar process takes place in the open air, so that as the currents of moist air travel across surfaces that are very cold they pay tribute in drops of vapor, which in warm weather take the form of dew and in cold of hoarfrost. Moisture therefore plays a very important part in the development of these hoarfrost pictures. But there must not be too much of it. Some of the most delicate designs occur during the prevalence of mist and haze, and in towns especially it is no uncommon thing for a choking brumous fog to be in some degree compensated for by a subsequent display of copious hoarfrost.—Knowledge.

When Poor Writing Is Best.

A popular author whose handwriting was none of the best used to maintain that it was a matter of principle with him not to write too well. He declared that for the use of printers, good handwriting was only a snare and a delusion, tending to encourage carelessness and mistakes on their part. The compositors, he asserted, were compelled to devote their very best care and attention to bad handwriting, with the result that, when it was deciphered, it was so fixed in their minds that it was impossible for them to set it up incorrectly. He therefore declared that the worst handwriting was the best for the printers.—Truth.

Whiting.

All whitings are made from chalk. The more common preparations sometimes contain considerable gritty matter, which scratches highly polished surfaces. These coarse particles may be removed in this manner: Mix the whiting with water to a paste and then add water until it is very thin. Strain through cheesecloth and let the strained mixture settle. Pour off the water and dry the whiting.

THE RISE OF MARCONI

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE YOUNG INVENTOR.

How He First Began Experimenting With Wireless Telegraphy—His Success In England With His Signals—His Work In America.

When Marconi first began his experiments with wireless telegraphy, he was strong in the belief that the ultimate result would be the sending of messages across the wide Atlantic without the use of wires. That his faith was well founded was shown recently, when he flashed signals from St. John's, N. F., to Cornwall, England, a distance of 1,700 miles. This achievement places him among the foremost inventors of the world.

The story of the struggle and triumph of this young genius of Anglo-Italian parentage fills one of the brightest pages in the history of science. He was born at Marzzbotta, near Bologna, of an Italian father and an English mother in 1875 and displayed a taste for scientific subjects in his boyhood.

The inventor is a singularly modest chap, with prominent nose, high forehead and dreamy eyes—quite the typical inventor. His face frequently takes on the expression of a man who has drifted into realms of profound thought.

Marconi speaks both English and Italian with equal fluency and, while positive in his opinions about his great invention, is as modest as real geniuses generally are. He was educated at the famous University of Bologna, the oldest university in the world, and it was at this institution, under the tutelage of Professor A. Righi, that he conceived and gave shape to his system of wireless telegraphy. He carried out many experiments on his family estate near Bologna before discovering the important fact that electric waves generated by a sparking apparatus of the kind used by the lamented German physicist Heinrich Hertz would carry to a long distance and were unaffected by intervening hills and natural obstacles. That discovery was the great turning point in his life.

In 1896 the inventor went to England and there found his first trusting patrons. The British postal authorities received him cordially, took an interest in his efforts to solve the great problem he had undertaken and provided for him means to experiment with signaling. Thus encouraged, he renewed his efforts. He worked night and day to improve his methods and increase his records. By establishing communication between captive balloons and perfecting the experiments with pole stations Marconi startled the English scientists. To test him a Dublin newspaper engaged him to report the Kingston yacht races. He was successful and soon afterward was at work in the English channel, the result of which was the establishment of wireless communication between Dover and Boulogne.

While in England one of his notable achievements was keeping the Prince of Wales, who was on the royal yacht Osborne, in touch with Queen Victoria's household in her last illness. Message after message was exchanged. Marconi finally won the great triumph of directing the English fleet in its maneuvers, sending messages more than eighty miles from one ship to another and 130 miles through two ship stations. English confidence was then thoroughly established and the system adopted by the British navy.

The dreams of Marconi began to be realized when in March, 1899, he received official permission from the French authorities for an experiment between Dover and Calais. By this time his success in sending wireless messages over long distances, in some instances thirty-two miles, attracted the attention of Emperor William of Germany, who instructed experts to experiment with the wireless system for the benefit of the German army and navy. It is said that nearly every experiment made was a success.

Marconi finally decided to come here and show us his wonders. After demonstrating the usefulness of the system and reporting the international yacht races he established a wireless station on Nantucket South Shoals lightship, forty-two miles offshore, and another at Siasconsett, island of Nantucket. A set of instruments had been placed on the steamship Lucania, bound for this port, and messages were exchanged which told the whereabouts of the Lucania twelve hours earlier than would otherwise have been known. More ambitious experiments followed, and Marconi's latest achievement is evidence that wireless telegraphy is about to become a fact and not a theory only.

WELLSVILLE

SESSION LASTED HALF AN HOUR

In That Brief Time Wellsville Council Transacted Much Business.

Bridge on Lisbon Road Discussed. Committee Named to Confer With County Commissioners—More Time Given the Light Company.

Only 30 minutes were consumed by the city council at the meeting last evening, but an unusually large amount of business was acted upon.

The council will soon be compelled to meet oftener than of yore and at a specified hour. This is due to an ordinance placed upon its first reading. The ordinance declares that council shall meet at 7 p. m. the first and third Monday of each month.

An ordinance providing for the adoption of the codified ordinances and laws of the city of Wellsville was placed upon its third reading. The Kelly avenue ordinance directing that the avenue be paved from Commerce street to Steubenville road was adopted.

City Engineer Leith was instructed to fix a grade line on Ninth street from Water street to Wood street; also on Wood street from Ninth street to Tenth.

Much complaint has reached the ears of council concerning the condition of the bridge crossing the creek on the Lisbon road. The bridge seems to be badly in need of readjustment, but council did not think that the city should bear the whole expense. A committee was appointed to confer with the county commissioners and endeavor to have them raise the bridge. Those on the appointed committee are Messrs. Aughinbaugh, Whitacre and Brennan.

The ordinance granting Judge P. M. Smith another year in which to complete the railroad switch from the depot to the West End potteries was placed upon its second reading.

Several weeks ago Solicitor Wells was requested to correspond with several electric light companies for the purpose of finding the true worth of lights being furnished Wellsville by the Wellsville Electric Light company. The solicitor did as requested and made a report. The General Electric company, of Cincinnati, he said, approved of the lights and pronounced them modern and the most successful lights ever developed. The report was very accurate and council seemed convinced that Supt. Healy's former statement was not exaggerated. For the present nothing more will be done with the question, as it is the wish of council that Supt. Healy be given ample time in which to demonstrate that the lights are as represented.

The crack in the storm sewer extending from Fourth street to Eighth street will be repaired. Engineer Leith was authorized to have it filled with brick and cement as soon as the weather will permit. The bad condition of the road at Commerce and Eighteenth streets, due to the laying of the storm sewer, is to be remedied. The engineer was authorized to have the work done.

The time for placing the water works bond issue before the voters of Wellsville was considered. It is likely that the question will be presented at the next meeting and the time set for the same day as that of the spring election.

TAILOR HOLDS A TRUNK

And Will Continue to Do So Until a Bill of $25 Is Paid.

A young man known as J. Kneppschell, who has been employed in the steel mill for several months, departed yesterday for his home in Scottdale, Pa. His departure was very abrupt and caused Daniel Steiner, the tailor, considerable trouble.

A few weeks ago Kneppschell gave Mr. Steiner an order for a $25 suit of clothes. The suit was made and given to Kneppschell upon his promise to pay for it on pay day. That day rolled around, but Kneppschell appeared not. Mr. Steiner did not push him for the money and yesterday learned that he had resigned his position, packed his trunk and was on the verge of leaving the city.

Constable Thorne was notified and immediately instituted a search, but too late. In the early morning Kneppschell boarded a car for East Liverpool and from there took a train for Scottdale. Kneppschell failed to carry his trunk with him, but had it taken to the depot for shipment. Constable Thorne located the trunk and it is now in the possession of Mr. Steiner. The trunk and its contents are probably worth more than $25.

THE RISE OF MARCONI

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE YOUNG INVENTOR.

How He First Began Experimenting With Wireless Telegraphy—His Success In England With His Signals—His Work In America.

When Marconi first began his experiments with wireless telegraphy, he was strong in the belief that the ultimate result would be the sending of messages across the wide Atlantic without the use of wires. That his faith was well founded was shown recently, when he flashed signals from St. John's, N. F., to Cornwall, England, a distance of 1,700 miles. This achievement places him among the foremost inventors of the world.

The story of the struggle and triumph of this young genius of Anglo-Italian parentage fills one of the brightest pages in the history of science. He was born at Marzzbotta, near Bologna, of an Italian father and an English mother in 1875 and displayed a taste for scientific subjects in his boyhood.

The inventor is a singularly modest chap, with prominent nose, high forehead and dreamy eyes—quite the typical inventor. His face frequently takes on the expression of a man who has drifted into realms of profound thought.

Marconi speaks both English and Italian with equal fluency and, while positive in his opinions about his great invention, is as modest as real geniuses generally are. He was educated at the famous University of Bologna, the oldest university in the world, and it was at this institution, under the tutelage of Professor A. Righi, that he conceived and gave shape to his system of wireless telegraphy. He carried out many experiments on his family estate near Bologna before discovering the important fact that electric waves generated by a sparking apparatus of the kind used by the lamented German physicist Heinrich Hertz would carry to a long distance and were unaffected by intervening hills and natural obstacles. That discovery was the great turning point in his life.

In 1896 the inventor went to England and there found his first trusting patrons. The British postal authorities received him cordially, took an interest in his efforts to solve the great problem he had undertaken and provided for him means to experiment with signaling. Thus encouraged, he renewed his efforts. He worked night and day to improve his methods and increase his records. By establishing communication between captive balloons and perfecting the experiments with pole stations Marconi startled the English scientists. To test him a Dublin newspaper engaged him to report the Kingston yacht races. He was successful and soon afterward was at work in the English channel, the result of which was the establishment of wireless communication between Dover and Boulogne.

While in England one of his notable achievements was keeping the Prince of Wales, who was on the royal yacht Osborne, in touch with Queen Victoria's household in her last illness. Message after message was exchanged. Marconi finally won the great triumph of directing the English fleet in its maneuvers, sending messages more than eighty miles from one ship to another and 130 miles through two ship stations. English confidence was then thoroughly established and the system adopted by the British navy.

The dreams of Marconi began to be realized when in March, 1899, he received official permission from the French authorities for an experiment between Dover and Calais. By this time his success in sending wireless messages over long distances, in some instances thirty-two miles, attracted the attention of Emperor William of Germany, who instructed experts to experiment with the wireless system for the benefit of the German army and navy. It is said that nearly every experiment made was a success.

Marconi finally decided to come here and show us his wonders. After demonstrating the usefulness of the system and reporting the international yacht races he established a wireless station on Nantucket South Shoals lightship, forty-two miles offshore, and another at Siasconsett, island of Nantucket. A set of instruments had been placed on the steamship Lucania, bound for this port, and messages were exchanged which told the whereabouts of the Lucania twelve hours earlier than would otherwise have been known. More ambitious experiments followed, and Marconi's latest achievement is evidence that wireless telegraphy is about to become a fact and not a theory only.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER

Woman Killed, at Pittsburg, and Three Children Were Assaulted.

REPUTED HUSBAND INJURED.

Very Dangerously Hurt—Placed Under Arrest as Were Two Other Persons—Police Were Hunting For a Missing Boarder.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—One woman is dead, her eldest daughter, 6 years old, was thought to be dying, and two other children were seriously wounded, all the result of one of the most cold-blooded and mysterious murders in the annals of Allegheny county. The woman's reputed husband, a Pole, and three other men are under arrest, pending an inestigation by the police and detectives.

The Dead.

Rosa Lak, known also as Mrs. Visolek, murdered by a blunt, heavy hammer.

The Injured.

Angelica Visolek, 6 years old, known also as Nellie; skull fractured by same hammer that killed her mother; is not expected to live.

Francis Visolek, 4 years old, skull fractured.

Anna Visolek, 18 months old, skull fractured.

Vincenzo Visolek, known as the husband of Rosa Lak; cut and bruised and skull indented as though with a hammer.

The Missing.

John Okenski, a boarder, who lived with Visolek, and is being hunted by the police on suspicion of knowing something about the murder.

The tragedy was perpetrated yesterday in an upper room at the rear of 209 Spring alley, in the Lawrenceville district; Rosa Lak, 35 years old, a Polish woman who was considered unusually beautiful was beaten to death with a heavy hammer and her three children were also terribly injured by the same weapon.

Vincenzo Visolek, 38 years old, also a Pole, who was known as the woman's husband, was discovered in the room with the corpse, and he, too, was so badly wounded that his chances for recovery are slight.

A missing sum of money, the amount of which is not known, only deepens the mystery.

SAID SMITH APPROVED.

Rathbone Bought Suit For Coachman From Government Funds.

Havana, Jan. 16.—When the trial of the charges growing out of the Cuban postoffice frauds was resumed here yesterday, Estes G. Rathbone, ex-director of posts of Cuba, was examined on the matter of having paid for furnishing his official residence in El Cerro, Havana, from the postal accounts.

Rathbone said he believed that such bills should be so charged, that all vouchers for furnishing this official residence were endorsed, and that all the furnishings were accounted for and afterwards returned to the government. He said the salary of his coachman was paid from the postal funds and that when ex-Postmaster General Smith came to Havana he rode in Rathbone's carriage, and that at Smith's suggestion he (Rathbone) bought a uniform for his coachman from the postal funds. The government has disallowed these accounts, charging them against Rathbone.

TWO OFFICERS KILLED.

Armed Men After a Bad Gang of Highwaymen.

Guthrie, O. T., Jan. 16.—Sheriff Frank Smith and his deputy, George Beck, were killed by highwaymen in the vicinity of Anadarko, the home of the officers. A posse of 100 men started immediately on the trail of the murderers, but no arrests have been reported. The posse expects a fierce fight before the men shall be taken, and it is known that the notorious highwaymen, Bob McCune, Ben Gravens, and Bob Sims, are at the head of the gang in that region.

Sheriff Smith was appointed from Norman, Okla., where he had been on the sheriff's and marshal's forces for a number of years. A number of murders and robberies are charged to the gang that murdered the officers, and efforts to capture them have ben made by all the officers in that vicinity.

Neuralgia.

The Prayer of a Nerve for More Blood.

Neuralgia may attack any part of the body but most frequently occurs where the nerves are most abundant.

In the head,
In the face.
Sometimes the heart nerves seem to twist
Twinging rheumatic pains of the extremities
Sharp and intense at times
In the intervals dull and heavy.

Neuralgia is the result of impoverished blood caused by impairment of the nerves—a lack of nerve force.

It is a disease of the nerve centers, and the pains accompanying it are a prayer for better nourishment. They are the danger signals which warn you against a total collapse of the nervous system.

Liniments and all external applications can only give temporary relief. Permanent cure cannot possibly come until the nerve centers are thoroughly revitalized and reinvigorated by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The beneficial effects of this great nerve restorative are felt thrilling through the nerve fibres as week by week and month by month the nerve force of the body is restored. Women afflicted with diseases peculiar to their sex are frequently great sufferers from neuralgia. Dr. Chase's Nerve Pills positively cures both these disorders by filling the nervous system with new vigor and life. 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. The genuine has portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on each package.

A Wireless Telegraphy Across the Ages

By Senator GEORGE F. HOAR of Massachusetts

SCIENCE has not in the least helped us to explain or understand the spiritual side of man. BESIDES THE PEDIGREE OF THE PHYSICAL AND ANIMAL LIFE THERE IS THE PEDIGREE OF SPIRIT. We like to find it as we trace the descent of the youth of 1861 from the men and women of the Revolution and as we trace their descent from the men and women of the great pilgrim days in the inheritance of lineage and blood. But it is not confined to inheritance. What has modern science to tell us of these forces which burst the limitations of race, which break the chains of habit and are more powerful than the inherited physical and moral forces of all generations?

What was it that made the pilgrim fathers cross the sea on that bleak and stormy winter voyage and yet when the larger part of them died the first winter no man of the survivors went back in the ship to England in the spring?

THERE WAS A WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY THAT CAME DOWN ACROSS THE AGES FROM THE MEN OF MARATHON AND THERMOPYLÆ TO THE MEN OF THE REVOLUTION AND CAME FROM THE MEN OF THE REVOLUTION TO OUR SPLENDID YOUTH OF 1861.

It is not everywhere on earth that the receiving stations of these signals are yet to be found. POSSIBLY THERE IS A SPOT IN SOUTH AFRICA TODAY WHERE A RACE OF DUTCH FARMERS HAVE BEEN ABLE TO COMPREHEND THE MESSAGE. I trust there are some men still left in the United States who have ears to hear.

When we have come to explain this, how this potent force speaking from the souls of the heroes of old can come to you or to me or to your children or to mine, we will have solved one of the great problems of life.

NEGRO CHRISTIAN CONGRESS.

Roosevelt to Be Invited to Convention of Organization.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 16.—The Board of Directors of the negro Young People's Christian Congress met here. Fifty bishops, general secretaries and prominent official representatives, representing all denominations, were present.

Reports received from all sections indicated that the attendance at the convention next August will approximate 10,000.

The committee to invite President Roosevelt to the convention will leave for Washington over the Southern railway.

11-YEAR-OLD GIRL MURDERED SISTER.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 16.—Nellie Corneilson, the 11-year-old girl who killed her baby sister with a razor, Tuesday, and charged her 5-year-old brother with the crime, confessed yesterday that she did it, but was unable to assign any reason for the act. She said the notion to kill her sister came into her head and that she could not resist her sudden passion for blood.

MUST PROVIDE SCHOOLS FOR NEGRO SCHOLARS

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 16.—Chief Justice Burford has issued an order to the effect that if there be only one colored child of school age in a school district, the authorities must provide a separate schoolhouse and teacher. This order takes in the entire territory, and will prove very expensive to the various counties.

Prominent Virginian Dead.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 16.—Sturgess E. Jones, a prominent lawyer and formerly mayor of Roanoke, Va., was found dead in the river here. His friends here believe that he fell into the river from a steamboat. For the last three months he had been living at Parkersburg.

Lieut. Fiscus Dead.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The war department is advised of the death of First Lieut. William W. Fiscus, Jr., of the Nineteenth infantry, on January 12, in the Philippines. Cause of death, cerebral hemorrhage. He was appointed from Pennsylvania and was graduated from the Military academy in 1898.

For a Bust of Schley.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 16.—Delegate Griffith (Rep.), yesterday introduced in the House of Delegates a bill to appropriate $3,000 to purchase and erect in the State house a life-size bust of Rear Admiral W. S. Schley.

Bank Robbed of $2,000.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 16.—The People's Bank at North Enid, was robbed early yestrday morning of $2,000, the safe being blown open with dynamite. There is no clue to the identity of the robbers.

The Period of Danger.

During the recent trial of a suit to collect a medical fee a witness was put on the stand to prove the correctness of the physician's bill.

The man was asked by counsel for the defense whether the doctor did not make several visits after the patient was out of danger.

"No," was the reply. "I considered the patient in danger so long as the doctor continued his visits."

A SERPENT'S APPETITE.

His Meal of a Rubber Boot Was a Disastrous One.

From a gentleman who was at one time a resident of Brazil comes a remarkable story about a snake that he encountered in the woods one day which followed him with much persistence.

"Sitting on a stump, I became aware of the approach of a huge snake," writes this gentleman. "He must have been fifteen feet in length. There was no doubt the snake was about to attack me.

"Without hesitating for a moment I discharged my two barrels. For a short time the reptile raged furiously, and I climbed a nearby tree. I had hardly reached the first boughs when I saw the snake approaching the tree, and it climbed up behind me.

"Higher and higher I went. Higher and higher came the serpent. My heavy rubber boots were a great drawback to my climbing, so I tried to get rid of them. I took one off and dropped it, and just as I had the second in my hand the snake reached me, and I, in my desperation, tried to shield myself with the rubber boot.

"Then the snake made a dash and, getting hold of the boot, turned and descended the tree. I was saved, but I had not the courage to leave the tree before my friends arrived. I told them of the adventure I had and rode home minus one rubber boot. Of his snakeship nothing could be seen.

"A few weeks later on another hunting trip we found in the road a big dead snake, terribly swollen. We cut it open and found, to our astonishment, my rubber boot not in the least injured."—New York Times.

NATURAL HISTORY.

Thoroughbred dogs are less intelligent than mongrels.

A full grown elephant can carry three tons on its back.

The horse has no eyebrows.

There are 4,500 muscles in the body of a moth.

The Dorking fowl is the only living bird which in its adult condition possesses a five toed foot.

The largest bird of prey in the old world is the lammergeier, or bearded vulture, which has a wing expanse of nine to ten feet.

Comparatively few horses attain to seventeen hands, but Kansas boasts of one that measures twenty hands and weighs 2,412 pounds.

Wasps may often be observed detaching from fences, boards or any old wood the fibers, which they afterward manufacture into papier mache.

The smallest of British animals is the harvest mouse, which makes a globular nest in wheatfields. A full grown specimen weighs half an ounce.

Double His Salary.

Towne—I see there's a new teller at the bank. I suppose Smugley was fired.

Browne—Not exactly. They're offering double his old salary to get him back.

Towne—Ah! Resigned, eh?

Browne—Not exactly that, either. They're offering $5,000 reward for him.—Philadelphia Press.

SAID SMITH APPROVED.

Rathbone Bought Suit For Coachman From Government Funds.

Havana, Jan. 16.—When the trial of the charges growing out of the Cuban postoffice frauds was resumed here yesterday, Estes G. Rathbone, ex-director of posts of Cuba, was examined on the matter of having paid for furnishing his official residence in El Cerro, Havana, from the postal accounts.

Rathbone said he believed that such bills should be so charged, that all vouchers for furnishing this official residence were endorsed, and that all the furnishings were accounted for and afterwards returned to the government. He said the salary of his coachman was paid from the postal funds and that when ex-Postmaster General Smith came to Havana he rode in Rathbone's carriage, and that at Smith's suggestion he (Rathbone) bought a uniform for his coachman from the postal funds. The government has disallowed these accounts, charging them against Rathbone.

TWO OFFICERS KILLED.

Armed Men After a Bad Gang of Highwaymen.

Guthrie, O. T., Jan. 16.—Sheriff Frank Smith and his deputy, George Beck, were killed by highwaymen in the vicinity of Anadarko, the home of the officers. A posse of 100 men started immediately on the trail of the murderers, but no arrests have been reported. The posse expects a fierce fight before the men shall be taken, and it is known that the notorious highwaymen, Bob McCune, Ben Gravens, and Bob Sims, are at the head of the gang in that region.

Sheriff Smith was appointed from Norman, Okla., where he had been on the sheriff's and marshal's forces for a number of years. A number of murders and robberies are charged to the gang that murdered the officers, and efforts to capture them have ben made by all the officers in that vicinity.

Neuralgia.

The Prayer of a Nerve for More Blood.

Neuralgia may attack any part of the body but most frequently occurs where the nerves are most abundant.

In the head,
In the face.
Sometimes the heart nerves seem to twist
Twinging rheumatic pains of the extremities
Sharp and intense at times
In the intervals dull and heavy.

Neuralgia is the result of impoverished blood caused by impairment of the nerves—a lack of nerve force.

It is a disease of the nerve centers, and the pains accompanying it are a prayer for better nourishment. They are the danger signals which warn you against a total collapse of the nervous system.

Liniments and all external applications can only give temporary relief. Permanent cure cannot possibly come until the nerve centers are thoroughly revitalized and reinvigorated by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The beneficial effects of this great nerve restorative are felt thrilling through the nerve fibres as week by week and month by month the nerve force of the body is restored. Women afflicted with diseases peculiar to their sex are frequently great sufferers from neuralgia. Dr. Chase's Nerve Pills positively cures both these disorders by filling the nervous system with new vigor and life. 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. The genuine has portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on each package.

A Wireless Telegraphy Across the Ages

By Senator GEORGE F. HOAR of Massachusetts

SCIENCE has not in the least helped us to explain or understand the spiritual side of man. BESIDES THE PEDIGREE OF THE PHYSICAL AND ANIMAL LIFE THERE IS THE PEDIGREE OF SPIRIT. We like to find it as we trace the descent of the youth of 1861 from the men and women of the Revolution and as we trace their descent from the men and women of the great pilgrim days in the inheritance of lineage and blood. But it is not confined to inheritance. What has modern science to tell us of these forces which burst the limitations of race, which break the chains of habit and are more powerful than the inherited physical and moral forces of all generations?

What was it that made the pilgrim fathers cross the sea on that bleak and stormy winter voyage and yet when the larger part of them died the first winter no man of the survivors went back in the ship to England in the spring?

THERE WAS A WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY THAT CAME DOWN ACROSS THE AGES FROM THE MEN OF MARATHON AND THERMOPYLÆ TO THE MEN OF THE REVOLUTION AND CAME FROM THE MEN OF THE REVOLUTION TO OUR SPLENDID YOUTH OF 1861.

It is not everywhere on earth that the receiving stations of these signals are yet to be found. POSSIBLY THERE IS A SPOT IN SOUTH AFRICA TODAY WHERE A RACE OF DUTCH FARMERS HAVE BEEN ABLE TO COMPREHEND THE MESSAGE. I trust there are some men still left in the United States who have ears to hear.

When we have come to explain this, how this potent force speaking from the souls of the heroes of old can come to you or to me or to your children or to mine, we will have solved one of the great problems of life.

NEGRO CHRISTIAN CONGRESS.

Roosevelt to Be Invited to Convention of Organization.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 16.—The Board of Directors of the negro Young People's Christian Congress met here. Fifty bishops, general secretaries and prominent official representatives, representing all denominations, were present.

Reports received from all sections indicated that the attendance at the convention next August will approximate 10,000.

The committee to invite President Roosevelt to the convention will leave for Washington over the Southern railway.

11-YEAR-OLD GIRL MURDERED SISTER.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 16.—Nellie Corneilson, the 11-year-old girl who killed her baby sister with a razor, Tuesday, and charged her 5-year-old brother with the crime, confessed yesterday that she did it, but was unable to assign any reason for the act. She said the notion to kill her sister came into her head and that she could not resist her sudden passion for blood.

MUST PROVIDE SCHOOLS FOR NEGRO SCHOLARS

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 16.—Chief Justice Burford has issued an order to the effect that if there be only one colored child of school age in a school district, the authorities must provide a separate schoolhouse and teacher. This order takes in the entire territory, and will prove very expensive to the various counties.

Prominent Virginian Dead.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 16.—Sturgess E. Jones, a prominent lawyer and formerly mayor of Roanoke, Va., was found dead in the river here. His friends here believe that he fell into the river from a steamboat. For the last three months he had been living at Parkersburg.

Lieut. Fiscus Dead.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The war department is advised of the death of First Lieut. William W. Fiscus, Jr., of the Nineteenth infantry, on January 12, in the Philippines. Cause of death, cerebral hemorrhage. He was appointed from Pennsylvania and was graduated from the Military academy in 1898.

For a Bust of Schley.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 16.—Delegate Griffith (Rep.), yesterday introduced in the House of Delegates a bill to appropriate $3,000 to purchase and erect in the State house a life-size bust of Rear Admiral W. S. Schley.

Bank Robbed of $2,000.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 16.—The People's Bank at North Enid, was robbed early yestrday morning of $2,000, the safe being blown open with dynamite. There is no clue to the identity of the robbers.

The Period of Danger.

During the recent trial of a suit to collect a medical fee a witness was put on the stand to prove the correctness of the physician's bill.

The man was asked by counsel for the defense whether the doctor did not make several visits after the patient was out of danger.

"No," was the reply. "I considered the patient in danger so long as the doctor continued his visits."

A SERPENT'S APPETITE.

His Meal of a Rubber Boot Was a Disastrous One.

From a gentleman who was at one time a resident of Brazil comes a remarkable story about a snake that he encountered in the woods one day which followed him with much persistence.

"Sitting on a stump, I became aware of the approach of a huge snake," writes this gentleman. "He must have been fifteen feet in length. There was no doubt the snake was about to attack me.

"Without hesitating for a moment I discharged my two barrels. For a short time the reptile raged furiously, and I climbed a nearby tree. I had hardly reached the first boughs when I saw the snake approaching the tree, and it climbed up behind me.

"Higher and higher I went. Higher and higher came the serpent. My heavy rubber boots were a great drawback to my climbing, so I tried to get rid of them. I took one off and dropped it, and just as I had the second in my hand the snake reached me, and I, in my desperation, tried to shield myself with the rubber boot.

"Then the snake made a dash and, getting hold of the boot, turned and descended the tree. I was saved, but I had not the courage to leave the tree before my friends arrived. I told them of the adventure I had and rode home minus one rubber boot. Of his snakeship nothing could be seen.

"A few weeks later on another hunting trip we found in the road a big dead snake, terribly swollen. We cut it open and found, to our astonishment, my rubber boot not in the least injured."—New York Times.

NATURAL HISTORY.

Thoroughbred dogs are less intelligent than mongrels.

A full grown elephant can carry three tons on its back.

The horse has no eyebrows.

There are 4,500 muscles in the body of a moth.

The Dorking fowl is the only living bird which in its adult condition possesses a five toed foot.

The largest bird of prey in the old world is the lammergeier, or bearded vulture, which has a wing expanse of nine to ten feet.

Comparatively few horses attain to seventeen hands, but Kansas boasts of one that measures twenty hands and weighs 2,412 pounds.

Wasps may often be observed detaching from fences, boards or any old wood the fibers, which they afterward manufacture into papier mache.

The smallest of British animals is the harvest mouse, which makes a globular nest in wheatfields. A full grown specimen weighs half an ounce.

Double His Salary.

Towne—I see there's a new teller at the bank. I suppose Smugley was fired.

Browne—Not exactly. They're offering double his old salary to get him back.

Towne—Ah! Resigned, eh?

Browne—Not exactly that, either. They're offering $5,000 reward for him.—Philadelphia Press.

INSURES LOVE AND A HAPPY HOME.

L. W. KNAPP, M. D.

How any man may quickly cure himself after years of suffering from sexual weakness, lost vitality, night losses, varicocele, etc., and enlarge small weak organs to full size and vigor. Simply send your name and address to Dr. L. W. Knapp, 1604 Hull Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and he will gladly send the free receipt with full directions so that any man may easily cure himself at home. This is certainly a most generous offer, and the following extracts taken from his daily mail show what men think of his generosity:

"Dear Sir:—Please accept my sincere thanks for yours of recent date. I have given your treatment a thorough test and the benefit has been extraordinary. It has completely braced me up. I am just as vigorous as when a boy and you cannot realize how happy I am."

"Dear Sir:—Your method worked beautifully. Results were exactly what I needed. Strength and vigor have completely returned and enlargement is entirely satisfactory."

"Dear Sir:—Yours was received, and I had no trouble in making use of the receipt as directed, and can truthfully say it is a boon to weak men. I am greatly improved in size, strength and vigor."

All correspondence is strictly confidential, mailed in plain sealed envelope. The receipt is free for the asking and he wants every man to have it.

FORAKER ELOQUENT

He Addresses the Legislature on Great Events of Recent Years.

WARM TRIBUTE TO M'KINLEY.

Feature of Speech Made By Senator—Highly Praised Roosevelt. Thinks Important Problems Will Come Up During Next Term.

Columbus, January 16.—After Joseph Benson Foraker had been chosen senator yesterday he addressed the legislature, saying:

"It is a great honor to be elected by the Legislature of Ohio to a seat in the Senate of the United States. It is a greater honor still to be re-elected to that high office.

"Since I stood here six years ago on a similar occasion a great deal of important history has been made. At that time the country was suffering from universal business paralysis and prostration. There was a serious controversy going on as to the cause and remedy. Time has passed. The record has been made. It is before you. It speaks for itself. Long vanished prosperity has returned and never in the history of the world has there been anything like what we now enjoy.

"The great industrial problem of Europe at this time is not how to sell in our markets, but how to protect their own from our commercial invasion, and one of our greatest industrial problems is how to go on indefinitely collecting the stupendous balance of trade in our favor without bankrupting all the rest of the world, and thus destroying the customers we are acquiring.

"But, great as have been these economical achievments, others there are and greater. Greater questions of a vital character relating to our power to acquire, hold and govern territory to the necessities of the people governed have been settled for all time for the authority of the United States.

"As a result we are to-day more than ever in our history a world power in the fullest meaning of that phrase. In consequence, the term for which you have now re-elected me, will doubtless be distinguished for new problems of grave importance and far-reaching consequences.

"The inter-oceanic canal, our merchant marine, our navy, the government of our insular possessions, our relations with Cuba and especially our trade relations with other commercial countries, will demand and must receive the highest and best thought of the legislative mind.

Tribute to Memory of McKinley.

"In closing, I cannot refrain from recalling that when I stood here six years ago another graced the occasion with his presence, who is now gone from among us forever. He was at that time just retiring from the governorship of this State, but we all knew that the higher honor of the Presidency awaited him and that his most distinguished public services yet remained to be rendered.

"But how little we knew of what was soon to be unfolded.

"Whom we only then claimed the world claims now. Not only as a great President but as the greatest and most lovable type of humanity is the place in history that will always be held by William McKinley. His life and his death were alike surpassingly noble.

"I call attention to his career at this time because it is an impressive admonition to us to be patient, forbearing and faithful in all the relations of both public and private life.

"We cannot any more have the benefit of his helpful leadership, but it is the just cause for the most sincere congratulation that we find one altogether worthy to be his successor in the person of Theodore Roosevelt. He may be less patient and more aggressive, but in intellectual endowment, in scholarly culture, in broad minded Americanism, integrity of character and in patriotic purpose, he has never been excelled by any occupant of the White House.

"I am sure I hazard nothing in predicting for his administration the most unqualified approbation of the American people.

"Under his guidance we shall continue to go forward in the achievment of prosperity for the American people and the glory and honor of the American republic.

EVANS TO ARRANGE PROGRAM.

Long Charged Him With Naval Preparations, For the Welcome of Prince Henry.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary Long yesterday called Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans into consultation respecting the coming visit to the United States of Prince Henry of Germany. The Rear Admiral has not yet been given written orders detailing him to act as the representative of the navy at the reception, but that matter has been agreed upon, and Secretary Long yesterday charged Admiral Evans with the preparation of a naval programme for the reception.

In view of the number of distinguished officers who are now reported to be about to accompany the Prince on his visit, it is evident that Admiral Evans will require the assistance of a number of junior officers. They will be detailed as occasion requires.

So far the State department is not officially advised of the approaching visit of the Prince, hence it has done nothing toward arranging a programme for his reception and entertainment.

It is assumed at the War department, though orders have not yet been issued, that Major-General Brooke, as commander-in-chief of the Department of the East, will represent the United States army in the reception.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—It was announced that the government had decided that Prince Henry shall sail for the United States on the Kronprinz Wilhelm, of the North German Lloyd line, February 15. Cabins have been engaged for a suite of fifteen persons. The vessel, though taking other passengers, will first touch at Newport News, where Prince Henry and his party will be transferred to the Hohenzollern, which is going there, and not to Hoboken, N. J.

The movements of the yacht there after have not been absolutely determined upon. The present programme is to ascend the Potomac river to Washington, where Prince Henry will exchange calls with President Roosevelt. Prince Henry and the President may then go to the launching together. This portion of the programme will depend, of course, on its acceptance at Washington.

German naval officers are eager for assignments to accompany Prince Henry to the United States, and many young noblemen are bringing influence to bear to obtain appointments for this duty. The list of possible appointments is already several times larger than the suite which can be sent with Prince Henry. This pressure to secure places may cause the Prince's suite to be enlarged. The lack of accommodations for a number of persons on board the Honenzollern is the real reason why Prince Henry does not sail on the Imperial yacht.

Pardon Was Refused Frantz.

Harrisburg, Jan. 16.—At the meeting of the Board of Pardons, pardons were refused Lupton Frantz, Westmoreland, assault and battery; William Dwyer, Clearfield, illegal liquor selling, and Alfred Smith, Philadelphia, first degree murder. The case of John Glant, Lancaster, receiving stolen goods, was held under advisement.

SOMETHING OF A RALLY

In the Stock Market, Wednesday. Some of the Features

New York, Jan. 16.—The stock market turned from its recent consistent downward course yesterday, enjoying something of a rally. The demand was on a fairly large scale, but the market showed a tendency to fall into intense dullness and develop a hesitating tone on the advance. There were a number of reactions during the day, but the closing was near to the top level, but dullness and a wavering still very manifest.

The demand from the short interest was a palpable influence in the rise. Evidences of support were seen early in the day in some of the stocks, which were the chief targets for bear attack, notably in Union Pacific and other trans-continentals. This served to intimidate the bears, although they renewed their selling on advances. The fact was manifest, however, that the more urgent selling had been disposed of on previous days, and the efforts of the bears induced little liquidation. A number of incidents aided the bulls in turning the market against their opponents.

There was a striking demonstration in Sugar on the strength of the hearing accorded by the ways and means committee at Washington to the advocates of a ruduction of duties on Cuban sugars. The increase in the dividend rate from 2 to 3 per cent on New York, Chicago & St. Louis second preferred, relieved some apprehension that there would be no increase, although the distribution was not as large as some speculators have claimed to expect.

New York Central developed strength early in the day, and had risen to the highest point before the announcement of the new stock issue and the subscription rights to stockholders. The price was inclined to sag afer the announcement, as new bond and caiital issues have been in disfavor with speculators recently. The price of stock has indicated for some time past the rights of some sort were accruing, as the directors' statement now indicates was the fact.

The statement of the country's foreign trade for December was regorded as favorable. The heavy decline in exports of breadstuffs, principally corn, probably, was expected. The decline in this item accounts for practically the whole of the decrease in the total exports for the month, which was about $8,800,000 compared with the previous December. This shows that the declining tendency in the exports of manufactured products has been arrested, as was first indicated last month. The increase in the imports for the month has resulted in a falling off of the trade balance in our favor altogether of over $20,000,000 compared with the previous December, but the increase in imports is not regarded as an unfavoragle factor at present, as it is made up in part of crude articles for use in manufacture and of products for which domestic manufactures are not able to fill all the orders they receive.

The large gains by the banks from the sub-treasury and the return flow of currency from the interior give give assurance of a favorable bank return on Saturday, and the heaviness of the sterling exchange indicates that no gold will go out this week.

There was also a subsidence yesterday of recent vague rumors of financial troubles in the commercial world. The shary drop in People's Gas was due to the refusal of a court to grant an injunction against the Chicago city ordinance reducing the rate for gas to 75 cents per 1,000. Its influence on the general market was only slight.

The active bonds generally moved in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,225,000.

United States Refunding 2s declined ⅛ and the 3s advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

President Pleased With Plans.

Washington, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt and the members of the cabinet visited the Corcoran gallery of art and inspected the drawings prepared by the committee appointed to devise plans for beautifying the National Capital. The President expressed himself as delighted with the drawings, and said that the views of the committee should be carried out.

ONE CERTAINTY

Some East Liverpool People Fully Realize It Now.

When the back aches from kidney ills,

When urinary troubles annoy you,

There's a certain way to find relief,

A sure way to be cured.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do it.

East Liverpool people endorse this claim.

Mrs. William Dunn, of 192 Sixth street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did for me what none of the doctors could do. They told me I had gravel and a little relief was all that I could expect. I suffered terribly for two or three years, alternately better and worse, with severe pains across the small of my back and up my side. The pains were so severe that I was often obliged to stay in bed, not being able to get up. My limbs swelled so I could hardly walk and periodically I was taken with such severe pains through the groins that I could hardly stand it. The doctors advised hot applications and gave me bottle after bottle of medicine, but I did not receive any real benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Having seen them so highly recommended by others, I took them and am gratified to say that they helped me almost at once."

COLLEGE ATHLETES.

Strength and Endurance the Result of Proper Training.

Blood Wine—Used at Principal Universities—Improves General Health of Students.

The interest in college athletics is undoubtedly growing. This is due to several causes. Probably the first reason is that of making a name for oneself—which goes down in history and becomes a monument to one's memory—respected and honored by the succeeding generations and constituents of the several institutions of learning.

The fact that athletics, as now indulged in throughout the country, has been a means of turning sickly, puny men into sturdy specimens of manhood is also a very great inducement, and serves to arouse athletic instincts in thousands of young fellows, who would otherwise have no aspirations in that direction.

The training of a college athlete is a good example for everyone to follow throughout life.

FRANK J. KERNS.

Where can you find any better representatives of good health, good dispositions, good cheer and good citizenship?

These fellows are made what they are. Proper food, good hours, careful medical examinations and advice enable them to rid their systems of disease and supplant weakness with strength. How many deaths take place in our large colleges? Few, not as many as in towns with half the population. "Blood Wine" is used in nearly all of the great colleges. It is one of the essentials when in training. It makes muscle and sinew because it contains ingredients that separate the nutrition from the waste in our food and turn it right into the vital substances of the system. It differs from anything else ever prescribed, simply because it was made to do just that very thing. College professors of Materia Medica and chemistry in advising their students to use "Blood Wine" recognize in it this peculiar property not to be found elsewhere in a medicine all prepared and ready to take. No injurious drugs or opiates enter into its composition.

"Blood Wine" is certainly the most potent of any medicine I ever used while training. It seems to correct the wrong activity of every organ of your system. I take it right along—wouldn't be without it—because I believe it as much a food as a germ killer and I have yet to see the first day that it hasn't kept me feeling fine. I find that nearly all college men take it and meet with the same results. FRANK J. KERNS, Capt. Georgetown 'Varsity Crew."

If you have a cough, a cold, if your lungs are affected or you have kidney troubles, rheumatism, dyspepsia, lameness of your joints, pains in your back or chest, if you don't sleep well, can't relish a good meal or are pale or losing flesh, "Blood Wine," just as sure as gospel, will help you, because it begins at the bottom. It makes new blood of old. Investigate it for yourself, go to the druggist and get a free sample, read the literature and bear in mind always that "Blood Wine" represents not an old but a new, modern method of treating disease. It contains no wine or opiates. Get it or your sample at Will Reed and Hodson's drug stores.

THE CLEANSING and HEALING CURE FOR CATARRH is Ely's Cream Balm

ELSIE LOOKED AT IT, FASCINATED.

Howard Fielding, the distinguished author of the story, is an experienced New York newspaper man whose descriptions are made from life.

Equal Partners is one of the most fascinating detective stories we have ever published.

Equal Partners

"I HAVE YOUR PROMISE?" SAID HE.

"Equal Partners," by Howard Fielding, will be our next serial. This is a story of mystery. The interest aroused in the first chapter is admirably sustained to the end. A beautiful actress is found in her room in New York dangerously stabbed, with one chance in a million for her life. Who stabbed her? The reader forms opinions to quickly abandon them as the story rapidly unfolds. The identity of the criminal is so skillfully veiled that it is not discovered until the end. Our readers who are good at solving mysteries in stories will find something worthy of their powers in "EQUAL PARTNERS." Don't miss the first chapter.

FORAKER ELOQUENT

He Addresses the Legislature on Great Events of Recent Years.

WARM TRIBUTE TO M'KINLEY.

Feature of Speech Made By Senator—Highly Praised Roosevelt. Thinks Important Problems Will Come Up During Next Term.

Columbus, January 16.—After Joseph Benson Foraker had been chosen senator yesterday he addressed the legislature, saying:

"It is a great honor to be elected by the Legislature of Ohio to a seat in the Senate of the United States. It is a greater honor still to be re-elected to that high office.

"Since I stood here six years ago on a similar occasion a great deal of important history has been made. At that time the country was suffering from universal business paralysis and prostration. There was a serious controversy going on as to the cause and remedy. Time has passed. The record has been made. It is before you. It speaks for itself. Long vanished prosperity has returned and never in the history of the world has there been anything like what we now enjoy.

"The great industrial problem of Europe at this time is not how to sell in our markets, but how to protect their own from our commercial invasion, and one of our greatest industrial problems is how to go on indefinitely collecting the stupendous balance of trade in our favor without bankrupting all the rest of the world, and thus destroying the customers we are acquiring.

"But, great as have been these economical achievments, others there are and greater. Greater questions of a vital character relating to our power to acquire, hold and govern territory to the necessities of the people governed have been settled for all time for the authority of the United States.

"As a result we are to-day more than ever in our history a world power in the fullest meaning of that phrase. In consequence, the term for which you have now re-elected me, will doubtless be distinguished for new problems of grave importance and far-reaching consequences.

"The inter-oceanic canal, our merchant marine, our navy, the government of our insular possessions, our relations with Cuba and especially our trade relations with other commercial countries, will demand and must receive the highest and best thought of the legislative mind.

Tribute to Memory of McKinley.

"In closing, I cannot refrain from recalling that when I stood here six years ago another graced the occasion with his presence, who is now gone from among us forever. He was at that time just retiring from the governorship of this State, but we all knew that the higher honor of the Presidency awaited him and that his most distinguished public services yet remained to be rendered.

"But how little we knew of what was soon to be unfolded.

"Whom we only then claimed the world claims now. Not only as a great President but as the greatest and most lovable type of humanity is the place in history that will al-

ONE CERTAINTY

Some East Liverpool People Fully Realize It Now.

When the back aches from kidney ills,

When urinary troubles annoy you,

There's a certain way to find relief,

A sure way to be cured.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do it.

East Liverpool people endorse this claim.

Mrs. William Dunn, of 192 Sixth street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did for me what none of the doctors could do. They told me I had gravel and a little relief was all that I could expect. I suffered terribly for two or three years, alternately better and worse, with severe pains across the small of my back and up my side. The pains were so severe that I was often obliged to stay in bed, not being able to get up. My limbs swelled so I could hardly walk and periodically I was taken with such severe pains through the groins that I could hardly stand it. The doctors advised hot applications and gave me bottle after bottle of medicine, but I did not receive any real benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Having seen them so highly recommended by others, I took them and am gratified to say that they helped me almost at once."

ways be held by William McKinley. His life and his death were alike surpassingly noble.

"I call attention to his career at this time because it is an impressive admonition to us to be patient, forbearing and faithful in all the relations of both public and private life.

"We cannot any more have the benefit of his helpful leadership, but it is the just cause for the most sincere congratulation that we find one altogether worthy to be his successor in the person of Theodore Roosevelt. He may be less patient and more aggressive, but in intellectual endowment, in scholarly culture, in broad minded Americanism, integrity of character and in patriotic purpose, he has never been excelled by any occupant of the White House.

"I am sure I hazard nothing in predicting for his administration the most unqualified approbation of the American people.

"Under his guidance we shall continue to go forward in the achievment of prosperity for the American people and the glory and honor of the American republic.

EVANS TO ARRANGE PROGRAM.

Long Charged Him With Naval Preparations, For the Welcome of Prince Henry.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary Long yesterday called Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans into consultation respecting the coming visit to the United States of Prince Henry of Germany. The Rear Admiral has not yet been given written orders detailing him to act as the representative of the navy at the reception, but that matter has been agreed upon, and Secretary Long yesterday charged Admiral Evans with the preparation of a naval programme for the reception.

In view of the number of distinguished officers who are now reported to be about to accompany the Prince on his visit, it is evident that Admiral Evans will require the assistance of a number of junior officers. They will be detailed as occasion requires.

So far the State department is not officially advised of the approaching visit of the Prince, hence it has done nothing toward arranging a programme for his reception and entertainment.

It is assumed at the War department, though orders have not yet been issued, that Major-General Brooke, as commander-in-chief of the Department of the East, will represent the United States army in the reception.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—It was announced that the government had decided that Prince Henry shall sail for the United States on the Kronprinz Wilhelm, of the North German Lloyd line, February 15. Cabins have been engaged for a suite of fifteen persons. The vessel, though taking other passengers, will first touch at Newport News, where Prince Henry and his party will be transferred to the Hohenzollern, which is going there, and not to Hoboken, N. J.

The movements of the yacht there after have not been absolutely determined upon. The present programme is to ascend the Potomac river to Washington, where Prince Henry will exchange calls with President Roosevelt. Prince Henry and the President may then go to the launching together. This portion of the programme will depend, of course, on its acceptance at Washington.

German naval officers are eager for assignments to accompany Prince Henry to the United States, and many young noblemen are bringing influence to bear to obtain appointments for this duty. The list of possible appointments is already several times larger than the suite which can be sent with Prince Henry. This pressure to secure places may cause the Prince's suite to be enlarged. The lack of accommodations for a number of persons on board the Honenzollern is the real reason why Prince Henry does not sail on the Imperial yacht.

Pardon Was Refused Frantz.

Harrisburg, Jan. 16.—At the meeting of the Board of Pardons, pardons were refused Lupton Frantz, Westmoreland, assault and battery; William Dwyer, Clearfield, illegal liquor selling, and Alfred Smith, Philadelphia, first degree murder. The case of John Glant, Lancaster, receiving stolen goods, was held under advisement.

FOR SALE AT HODSON'S DRUG STORE

SOMETHING OF A RALLY

In the Stock Market, Wednesday. Some of the Features

New York, Jan. 16.—The stock market turned from its recent consistent downward course yesterday, enjoying something of a rally. The demand was on a fairly large scale, but the market showed a tendency to fall into intense dullness and develop a hesitating tone on the advance. There were a number of reactions during the day, but the closing was near to the top level, but dullness and a wavering still very manifest.

The demand from the short interest was a palpable influence in the rise. Evidences of support were seen early in the day in some of the stocks, which were the chief targets for bear attack, notably in Union Pacific and other trans-continentals. This served to intimidate the bears, although they renewed their selling on advances. The fact was manifest, however, that the more urgent selling had been disposed of on previous days, and the efforts of the bears induced little liquidation. A number of incidents aided the bulls in turning the market against their opponents.

There was a striking demonstration in Sugar on the strength of the hearing accorded by the ways and means committee at Washington to the advocates of a ruduction of duties on Cuban sugars. The increase in the dividend rate from 2 to 3 per cent on New York, Chicago & St. Louis second preferred, relieved some apprehension that there would be no increase, although the distribution was not as large as some speculators have claimed to expect.

New York Central developed strength early in the day, and had risen to the highest point before the announcement of the new stock issue and the subscription rights to stockholders. The price was inclined to sag afer the announcement, as new bond and caultal issues have been in disfavor with speculators recently. The price of stock has indicated for some time past the rights of some sort were accruing, as the directors' statement now indicates was the fact.

The statement of the country's foreign trade for December was regorded as favorable. The heavy decline in exports of breadstuffs, principally corn, probably, was expected. The decline in this item accounts for practically the whole of the decrease in the total exports for the month, which was about $8,800,000 compared with the previous December. This shows that the declining tendency in the exports of manufactured products has been arrested, as was first indicated last month. The increase in the imports for the month has resulted in a falling off of the trade balance in our favor altogether of over $20,000,000 compared with the previous December, but the increase in imports is not regarded as an unfavoragle factor at present, as it is made up in part of crude articles for use in manufacture and of products for which domestic manufactures are not able to fill all the orders they receive.

The large gains by the banks from the sub-treasury and the return flow of currency from the interior give give assurance of a favorable bank return on Saturday, and the heaviness of the sterling exchange indicates that no gold will go out this week.

There was also a subsidence yesterday of recent vague rumors of financial troubles in the commercial world. The shary drop in People's Gas was due to the refusal of a court to grant an injunction against the Chicago city ordinance reducing the rate for gas to 75 cents per 1,000. Its influence on the general market was only slight.

The active bonds generally moved in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,225,000.

United States Refunding 2s declined ⅛ and the 3s advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

President Pleased With Plans.

Washington, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt and the members of the cabinet visited the Corcoran gallery of art and inspected the drawings prepared by the committee appointed to devise plans for beautifying the National Capital. The President expressed himself as delighted with the drawings, and said that the views of the committee should be carried out.

COLLEGE ATHLETES.

Strength and Endurance the Result of Proper Training.

Blood Wine—Used at Principal Universities—Improves General Health of Students.

The interest in college athletics is undoubtedly growing. This is due to several causes. Probably the first reason is that of making a name for oneself—which goes down in history and becomes a monument to one's memory—respected and honored by the succeeding generations and constituents of the several institutions of learning.

The fact that athletics, as now indulged in throughout the country, has been a means of turning sickly, puny men into sturdy specimens of manhood is also a very great inducement, and serves to arouse athletic instincts in thousands of young fellows, who would otherwise have no aspirations in that direction.

The training of a college athlete is a good example for everyone to follow throughout life.

FRANK J. KERNS.

Where can you find any better representatives of good health, good dispositions, good cheer and good citizenship?

These fellows are made what they are. Proper food, good hours, careful medical examinations and advice enable them to rid their systems of disease and supplant weakness with strength. How many deaths take place in our large colleges? Few, not as many as in towns with half the population. "Blood Wine" is used in nearly all of the great colleges. It is one of the essentials when in training. It makes muscle and sinew because it contains ingredients that separate the nutrition from the waste in our food and turn it right into the vital substances of the system. It differs from anything else ever prescribed, simply because it was made to do just that very thing. College professors of Materia Medica and chemistry in advising their students to use "Blood Wine" recognize in it this peculiar property not to be found elsewhere in a medicine all prepared and ready to take. No injurious drugs or opiates enter into its composition.

"Blood Wine" is certainly the most potent of any medicine I ever used while training. It seems to correct the wrong activity of every organ of your system. I take it right along—wouldn't be without it—because I believe it as much a food as a germ killer and I have yet to see the first day that it hasn't kept me feeling fine. I find that nearly all college men take it and meet with the same results. FRANK J. KERNS, Capt. Georgetown 'Varsity Crew."

If you have a cough, a cold, if your lungs are affected or you have kidney troubles, rheumatism, dyspepsia, lameness of your joints, pains in your back or chest, if you don't sleep well, can't relish a good meal or are pale or losing flesh, "Blood Wine," just as sure as gospel, will help you, because it begins at the bottom. It makes new blood of old. Investigate it for yourself, go to the druggist and get a free sample, read the literature and bear in mind always that "Blood Wine" represents not an old but a new, modern method of treating disease. It contains no wine or opiates. Get it or your sample at Will Reed and Hodson's drug stores.

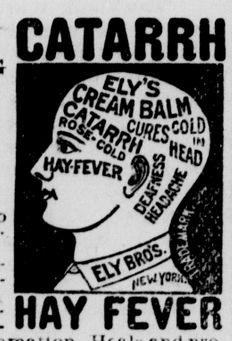

THE CLEANSING and HEALING CURE FOR CATARRH is Ely's Cream Balm

Easy and pleasant to use. Contains no injurious drug.

It is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at once.

It opens and cleanses the Nasal Passages. Allays inflammation. Heals and protects the membrane. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Large Size, 50c; Trial Size, 10c, at Druggists or by mail.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Will Preach Tonight—Rev. C. F. Swift, of Beaver Falls, will have charge of the services at the M. P. church tonight.

Woodmen Are Flourishing — The Modern Woodmen of America, at their meeting last night, received ten applications for membership.

Ballasting the Track—Several cars of cinders are being unloaded in front of the depot where a gang of laborers is ballasting the switches and tracks on the old mill site.

Entertained Friends — Miss Edna Cook entertained a number of friends last night at her home on Market street. Fancy work was indulged in as the principal pastime.

Busy Invoicing — Several of the cal business houses are taking their annual invoices. It is common with many of the East Liverpool stores to take an annual invoice in January.

Sprained His Back — Contractor John Cain, while working at the Union pottery yesterday, doing some carpenter work sprained his back which caused him to quit work and retire to his home.

Individual Communion Cups — The First Presbyterian church Missionary society is discussing the question of individual communion cups, and will take steps to secure a set for use in that church in a short time.

Royal Arch Reception—The annual reception of East Liverpool chapter No. 100, Royal Arch Masons, will be held at the Masonic chambers Friday evening, January 31. Ladies have been invited. There will be a musicale, luncheon and dancing.

Now a Night Office—As announced some time ago that the depot was to be open at night, the office was thrown open last evening. Adam Homeyer, who has been a clerk in the freight office, is assistant to Ticket Agent Adam Hill, and is in charge of the ticket office at night.

Haymakers' Powwow—The Haymakers of Iroquois tribe No. 40, Improved Order of Red Men, will hold a powwow in their hay loft this evening when several candidates will be given the haymakers' degree. After the business session the haymakers will feed upon corn and venison.

Boats Will Start Monday—None of the packet lines has started any boats, but all of the regular boats will be started the first of the week. The river is slowly falling, but there continues to be a fair stage. Much ice is floating, but it will have all run out in the course of a few days if the weather continues soft.

THE FADETTES

The Famous Woman's Orchestra of Boston Will Appear at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The Fadettes Woman's Orchestra of Boston, the representative, unrivaled and unequaled organization of America's young women instrumentalists, will appear at Y. M. C. A. hall Saturday afternoon and evening. In their grand tours of the United States and Canada they have met with such phenomenal success that they now need no special introduction to the music-loving public. Commanding everywhere the highest commendation of the most captious critics, as the "Woman's Orchestra par excellence," it is sufficient to say that with the same perfect ensemble, and with the same corps of great instrumentalists which has forced their organization into recognition as the first of the kind in the world, augmented by popular soloists, they are enabled to charm, entertain and instruct their many patrons beyond all precedent or comparison, with programs of both classical and popular selections, most happily arranged.

Skating at West End Park this afternoon and evening. 9-tf

LOWRY WITHDRAWS

AS A CANDIDATE FOR THE OFFICE OF COUNTY RECORDER.

Salem's Remaining Candidate a Strong Friend of Organized Labor.

Having been urged by many friends in various parts of Columbiana county to be a candidate for the nomination for county recorder, I feel it incumbent on me to give the reasons for my withdrawal from the race.

At the time I announced my candidacy, I was told by many that there was not a candidate in the field who was a friend of, and satisfactory to, organized labor in Columbiana county. At that time charges were openly made that my fellow townsman, W. D. Turner, was guilty of conduct unbecoming a friend of organized labor, and for that reason, together with the fact that I sought political preferment, I became a candidate.

Since that time a full investigation of the charges against Mr. Turner has been made by the Iron Molders' union, of Salem, O., and the same found to be utterly without foundation.

Believing that an injustice had been done Mr. Turner, and for the reason that he is an older worker in the ranks of the Republican party, and had first announced his candidacy for the office to which we both aspire, and for these reasons the more deserving of your support, I have decided to withdraw from the contest.

Thanking my friends for their very great kindness and support extended me, I beg to remain,

P. R. LOWRY.

The Head Waiter's Tips.

One of the most expensive restaurants in New York is conducted, so far as its observing patrons can tell, on a unique system of tips. The head waiter of the room devoted to the use of the men guests makes it a point to become acquainted with them, find out their names and becomes genial in the half respectful, half presuming way that so frequently passes for good nature among employees of the kind in this country. Naturally he receives liberal fees from his clientele, which is made up of rich men able to pay high prices for the extra service they receive.

When there is no financial response of this kind to the waiter's advances, his cordiality diminishes. The waiters under him do, with unusual willingness, the head waiter's bidding. They are evidently indifferent as to their own success in the matter of fees. It is only the good will of the head waiter that appears to be the goal of all their efforts.

Such unselfishness astonishes regular patrons of the restaurant, and one in particular undertook to discover the reason of this attitude of the waiters toward their chief. He learned after awhile that the tips the head waiter received were large enough to enable him to give the waiters a part of his earnings for attending with particular care to his patrons, who, as a rule, confine their contributions to the head waiter. The guests who fail to take advantage of the head waiter's overtures to friendliness are not likely to fare well in that restaurant, where the waiters, certain of a fee from the man over them, are indifferent to the guests not included among the list of his patrons.—New York Sun.

A. S. YOUNG. FIFTH AND MARKET.

Dr. A. Phillips of California, who has invented an electric bathrobe, claims that it is more efficacious than either the Turkish or Russian bath and that the electric current which passes through the body not only imparts a healthy glow to the skin, but cleanses the pores more thoroughly. The bather, he says, is strengthened.

The bathrobe consists of a heavy corded quilt six feet long and wide enough to enwrap the bather. This is filled with 300 feet of German silver wire, which is attached to a coil in a controller. The controller in turn is connected with an ordinary incandescent light.

When a switch is turned, the electric current passes through the blanket, and the latter is heated to a certain temperature. The bather, who is placed in a lying position, is wrapped also in flannel blankets. Profuse perspiration results from the high temperature.

Towing by Electricity.

Towing by electricity along the river banks in England is quite a novel application of electric power. No electrical apparatus whatever will be used on the barge itself, which is to be connected by rope with an electrically propelled vehicle on the path working on the overhead trolley system, somewhat like the system recently put in operation on one of the Belgian canals.

Increased Use of Telephones.

The increased use of telephones in our large cities is worthy of note. San Francisco now has one telephone for every sixteen inhabitants, Boston one for every twenty-four, Cleveland one for every twenty-six, Detroit one for every twenty-eight, Cincinnati and Pittsburg one for every thirty-five, New York one for every forty-eight, Chicago one for every sixty-one and Philadelphia one for every ninety-six.

Electricity In Siam.

Bangkok, Siam, has now an electric light plant and a tramway six miles long and is laying a second line of equal length. The service is fairly good. The telephone system, however, is said to be decidedly bad. It is owned by the government, and there are some 200 instruments of German make.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Will Preach Tonight—Rev. C. F. Swift, of Beaver Falls, will have charge of the services at the M. P. church tonight.

Woodmen Are Flourishing — The Modern Woodmen of America, at their meeting last night, received ten applications for membership.

Ballasting the Track—Several cars of cinders are being unloaded in front of the depot where a gang of laborers is ballasting the switches and tracks on the old mill site.

Entertained Friends — Miss Edna Cook entertained a number of friends last night at her home on Market street. Fancy work was indulged in as the principal pastime.

Busy Invoicing — Several of the cal business houses are taking their annual invoices. It is common with many of the East Liverpool stores to take an annual invoice in January.

Sprained His Back — Contractor John Cain, while working at the Union pottery yesterday, doing some carpenter work sprained his back which caused him to quit work and retire to his home.

Individual Communion Cups — The First Presbyterian church Missionary society is discussing the question of individual communion cups, and will take steps to secure a set for use in that church in a short time.

Royal Arch Reception—The annual reception of East Liverpool chapter No. 100, Royal Arch Masons, will be held at the Masonic chambers Friday evening, January 31. Ladies have been invited. There will be a musicale, luncheon and dancing.

Now a Night Office—As announced some time ago that the depot was to be open at night, the office was thrown open last evening. Adam Homeyer, who has been a clerk in the freight office, is assistant to Ticket Agent Adam Hill, and is in charge of the ticket office at night.

Haymakers' Powwow—The Haymakers of Iroquois tribe No. 40, Improved Order of Red Men, will hold a powwow in their hay loft this evening when several candidates will be given the haymakers' degree. After the business session the haymakers will feed upon corn and venison.

Boats Will Start Monday—None of the packet lines has started any boats, but all of the regular boats will be started the first of the week. The river is slowly falling, but there continues to be a fair stage. Much ice is floating, but it will have all run out in the course of a few days if the weather continues soft.

THE FADETTES

The Famous Woman's Orchestra of Boston Will Appear at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The Fadettes Woman's Orchestra of Boston, the representative, unrivaled and unequaled organization of America's young women instrumentalists, will appear at Y. M. C. A. hall Saturday afternoon and evening. In their grand tours of the United States and Canada they have met with such phenomenal success that they now need no special introduction to the music-loving public. Commanding everywhere the highest commendation of the most captious critics, as the "Woman's Orchestra par excellence," it is sufficient to say that with the same perfect ensemble, and with the same corps of great instrumentalists which has forced their organization into recognition as the first of the kind in the world, augmented by popular soloists, they are enabled to charm, entertain and instruct their many patrons beyond all precedent or comparison, with programs of both classical and popular selections, most happily arranged.

19TH YEAR. NO. 13. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1902. TWO CENTS.

REGISTRATION FOR THIS CITY TO BE ASKED OF LEGISLATURE

Representative Crist Willing to Father the Measure If Citizens Want It.

IS GENERAL IN ITS SCOPE

Much Desired Here and Central Committee Officers Are In Favor of It.

THE QUESTION OF EXPENSE

Now the Only Ground for Possible Opposition — Particular Reasons Put Forth Why Such a Law Is Needed in East Liverpool.

Representative Crist, of Columbiana county, has been requested to introduce a bill in the house providing for registration in East Liverpool. The measure has the support of prominent members of the Republican central committee in East Liverpool and they are urging its passage. A dispatch from Columbus says Mr. Crist has agreed to introduce the bill if satisfactory evidence is shown that the representative citizens of the community favor it. Senator Connell will look after the measure in the senate. The bill will be general in its scope and will apply to all cities of the same class and grade as East Liverpool.

The city committee has been working on the matter of securing registration for East Liverpool for several years, and it now seems that it will come provided there is no objection from the people of the community.

Secretary Betz, of the Republican central committee, and City Clerk J. N. Hanley have been very active in the matter, and can see but one objection which might come up. In their investigations they have found that the expense of putting the system in effect will be much greater than was at first calculated upon, and as this will have to be paid by the citizens generally, there may be some opposition.

It is argued that the inauguration of the registration system is almost an absolute necessity in this community. Being a border city, located at the very edge of two other states, there is but one way to guard against a floating element taking part in the elections, and that would be through registration.

The plan which will be followed with the proposed special act has been carefully planned. The leaders of all parties have been conferred with and favor the legislation, and if there are any objections on the part of the general public on account of the expense, they are given the alternative of circulating a petition to be sent to the representatives in the legislature asking that the bill be held up.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

East Liverpool Encampment Officers-Elect Assume Their Duties.

East Liverpool encampment No. 107, I. O. O. F., last evening installed its newly elected officers. Deputy Grand Patriarch James E. Green conducted the installation. The officers are as follows: C. P., Frank Gallimore; S. W., Jacob Shawk; J. W., Enoch Moon; H. P., Geo. W. Burford; scribe, Geo. W. Croxall; treasurer, R. H. Till; I. S., A. Abrams; O. S., W. C. Till. Mr. Croxall has been scribe of the encampment for 23 years.

A POTTERY MAN'S VIEWS

W. H. Deidrick, Interviewed in Cleveland, Tells Some Interesting Facts.

W. H. Deidrick, of East Liverpool, one of the prominent pottery men of the state, is registered at the Colonial hotel, says the Cleveland Leader. He said that the pottery trade was in excellent condition, but made the complaint that the Pennsylvania company was not giving good rates into Cleveland from East Liverpool.

"We have a good rate into Pittsburg, which is 40 miles away," said Mr. Deidrick, "simply because the Pennsylvania company finds competition in the Ohio river, but it seems impossible to get any fair rate into Cleveland."

When asked how the fine pottery made in England compared with that made in the United States, he said: "American workmen are the most skilled in the world, and I feel that we make as good chinaware here as any imported, but the average American woman has the habit of turning over a china plate in a store, and if it does not bear the mark of a British lion or unicorn she does not want it.

"We import clay from England and pay a tariff of $2 per ton on it. With out superior workmanship I feel we are able to turn out as good, if not better, china plate than England. We do not protest against the tariff on clay, for we realize that we could not afford to give our workmen such good wages if it were not for the tariff on manufactured ware from Europe."

CLINGS TO OPINION GIVEN AT COUNCIL

DR. R. J. MARSHALL TALKS CONCERNING NEW ORDINANCE.

Declares That He Wants to See Saloon Men Fairly Treated — Comment Aroused.

The effort of Dr. R. J. Marshall to introduce a new saloon ordinance in the city council has occasioned considerable comment. While opinion as to the feasibility of the proposed measure is quite equally divided, there are a number of prominent and influential business men who express a desire to see it given a trial, at least.

One feature that seems to impress a number of people that the ordinance cannot be carried through is that the proposed committee of saloon and anti-saloon men are not likely to agree on its provisions.

Dr. Marshall is confident that no trouble need be experienced in reaching a satisfactory agreement. He says that the saloon business is legitimate and must be regarded as such, and for this reason he contends that it would be unjust for those of the committee to act in conjunction with the liquor dealers' representatives to attempt to enforce legislation that would grind down the saloon business.

"Fairness on both sides is an absolute requisite," said Dr. Marshall today in discussing the matter. "Liquor dealers who believe in law and order are willing to conduct their places in a respectable manner and there are many of this class of men in the saloon business in East Liverpool. Even the temperance leaders must recognize the fact that saloon keepers have just as many rights as other business men and it would, therefore, be folly to try to injure their business."

Concerning the screen ordinance now in force Dr. Marshall said: "I have been quoted as having admitted that the ordinance is a failure and worthless, but this is incorrect, as I never made any such admission. If the ordinance is a failure it is like all others that fail for want of enforcement."

FINED FOR THEIR FUN

East Liverpool Men Stole a Constable's Badge And Slept in Wellsville Jail.

Constable Thorne last evening arrested two East Liverpool men in Wellsville. One of them, he thought, was a desperate character. The other lately came to East Liverpool from the gas belt of Indiana. The second is from Pittsburg, and has been selling wigs. As he wore a wig, Thorne thought his a desperado in disguise. It is said they were put off a car at Walker for disorderly conduct and walked thence to Wellsville. There they found a fight in progress among some Assyrians and are alleged to have impersonated an officer. They succeeded so well and had so much fun that they tried it again, ordering people to "move on."

As a result both were run in. An East Liverpool constable's badge, supposed to have been stolen, was found on one of the prisoners. This morning they paid fines and were discharged, sadder and wiser.

A Mistaken Idea.

Many persons in the city seem to have the impression that the high school entertainment to be given tomorrow night will not be in the opera house. This is a mistake, for while there have been plays all the week, Friday night the Parker Concert company will give its entertainment in the opera house. The company comes highly recommended. The entertainment commences at 8:30.

UNION LABEL ON ALL BREAD

Trades Council Urges Purchasers To See That They Get It.

ALL BUT TWO LOCAL SHOPS

Are Now Using the Union Stamp. Market House Question Again Up. Legislative Committee Will Take It to Council Again.

The meeting of Trades Council last night was well attended and a considerable amount of business was disposed of.

Delegates were seated from the packers' local, No. 25, in the persons of Harry Farmer and Fred Howard. Henry Shenkel and John Allison were seated from the barbers' union, and Miss Estella Bentley from the shirt, waist and laundry workers' union, No. 57.

A communication was received from T. F. Smith, secretary of the collar, shirt and waist cutters' union, of Troy, N. Y., in answer to an inquiry made by the council with reference to the status of the Lion brand of collars. Mr. Smith stated that the collar was still on the unfair list, and the matter was turned over to the committee having the work in charge.

A letter was received from the president and organizer of the blacksmith's union, asking that Trades Council interest itself in the organization of a branch of their trade in this city.

Several other communications were received from parties to whom donations of money was made, acknowledging its receipt.

The delegates from the bakers' union reported that all differences between their organization and the bosses had been amicably adjusted, and that all but two of the local shops were now using the union label. The two are expected to put the label into use within a short time. These delegates also reported the out-of-town firms who were attempting to dun up trade here were all on the unfair list. The council took action, urging all purchasers of bread to demand the label, and thus guard against being victimized.

The market house question was up again, and the legislative committee will once more bring the matter to the attention of the city council.

The disposition of some parties to misrepresent Trades Council in their attitude toward the library question was discussed at length, and a committee consisting of D. B. Flowers, U. G. King and C. C. Smith was appointed to draw up a statement, setting forth the true position of the body.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

Failed to Rescue Mike Malone From the Tempter—Fell Victim to Drink.

Mike Malone's New Year's resolution to spurn the flowing bowl went to pieces yesterday, when the tempter's influence got the best of Mike and started him again on the road to ruin.

Officer Mahoney found his Irish friend in an alley, sound asleep and dreaming of his morning "eye opener." The patrol conveyed the helpless victim to jail and this morning he paid $1 and costs.

A tramp giving the name of P. Morrison was arrested last night by Officer Stafford. This morning he was "bounced" and warned to never return.

To Light Salineville.

Columbus, January 16.—(Special)—The Salineville Electric Light, Heat and Power company, capital $15,000, has been incorporated by John Goeppinger, John J. Kirk, H. R. Shaff, James H. Dodds and H. H. Kirk.

RELIEF PROMISED SOON AS POSSIBLE

Conference Between Councilmen and Pennsylvania Company Officials.

THE RESULT IS GRATIFYING

Needed Improvements Which Council Has Long Wished For Are Soon to Be Forthcoming—Conference Was Pleasant and Agreeable.

A conference was held last evening at the C. & P. freight depot office between Dr. R. J. Marshall, R. C. Heddleston and City Solicitor W. K. Gaston, representing a committee of council, and J. J. McCormick, of Wheeling, disvision freight solicitor; W. D. Woods, engineer of maintenance of way, and George A. Wassman, local freight agent, representing the Pennsylvania company.

The object of the conference was to effect a settlement of long-standing differences that have existed between the city and the railroad company which are chiefly regarding the placing of lights at crossings, danger signals, gates and other needed safety devices.

At a meeting of council several weeks ago the decision was reached to appoint a committee to confer with the proper officials of the Pennsylvania company in an effort to learn what arrangements the company had in contemplation. Notices have been sent at various times to the head officials demanding that the needed changes be immediately made, but nothing was thus accomplished, and as a result the conference was decided on.

The result of the meeting was most satisfactory to the members of the council. Instead of becoming involved in an anticipated controversy they found the railroad officials to be most agreeable gentlemen, who frankly recognized the reasonableness of the demands made by the city.

All points were taken up separately and discussed, and almost to the surprise to the gentlemen of council they received the assurance that the desired improvements would be made without delay to the entire satisfaction of the citizens in all parts of the city.

This information will be hailed with delight by hundreds of residents who have been menaced by the poor lighting of crossings, absence of proper safety gates, etc. The members of council will especially be pleased at the result of the conference.

TRUANT OFFICER AT WORK

Looking For Children In Potteries Who Should Be at School.

Truant Officer Beardmore proposes to have all children within the school age limit who are now working in potteries attend school, and yesterday he made a tour of the East Liverpool pottery. As a result one boy was told to stop his work and attend school. This was Dorsey Beaver. He has been working in the clay department of this plant for several months, and when accosted by the truant officer he promised to quit work and attend school, commencing next Monday.

It has been reported to the school officials that a number of young children are working in the potteries who should be attending school.

FORAKER GOT THEM ALL

Even an Absent Republican Recorded as Favoring Him for Senator.

Columbus, January 16.—(Special)—Representative Buell, of Columbiana county, was detained by important business in Salem Tuesday and consequently was not present to vote for a senatorial candidate in the house on that day. On Wednesday before the joint session of the house and senate was held for the purpose of selecting a United States senator, Mr. Buell rose to a question of personal privilege and stated that he was unavoidably absent the day before and he desired his vote recorded for Senator Foraker as his choice for senator. He was accorded this privilege.

Senator Foraker received the vote of every Republican member. The legislature adjourned yesterday until next Monday afternoon. Representatives Crist and Buell left for their homes today. Those desiring to communicate with Mr. Crist concerning legislative matters may see him or talk with him by 'phone at his home at Moultrie on Saturdays.

SUIT AGAINST THE CITY FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

A suit will be filed in the court at Lisbon tomorrow against the city of East Liverpool, wherein Miss Itha M. McHenry asks $10,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been the result of carelessness on the part of certain city officials.

On the evening of Oct. 4, last, Miss McHenry was on her way to the home of a friend on College street. The evening was quite dark, and when at a point on Kossuth street between the alley and the corner of College, the lady fell over a quantity of stone and sand which lay directly on the pavement in front of a partially completed building. She fell heavily, her left knee coming in contact with the bricks, and she sustained an injury to the member which is thought to be permanent. Miss McHenry was taken to her home and has remained there, unable to walk, ever since.

The petition is still in the hands of Brookes & Thompson, the lady's attorneys, but will be forwarded to the county seat this evening.

BROOKMAN HAS GIVEN BOND FOR APPEARANCE AT COURT

Only $200 Surety Was Required and Banker Firestone Furnished It.

It Is Regarded as Probable That the Case May Not Be Tried at Lisbon.

SUPREME COURT TO HANDLE IT

Judgment for $12,000 in the Valley Gas Case—Other Judgments Entered And Various Minor Matters Before the Courts of the County.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—Manager D. Spencer Brookman, of Wellsville, was in the city last evening. He furnished bond for $200 for his appearance in court to answer to the indictment charging illegal coercion. Solomon J. Firestone, of the Firestone Bros.' bank, of Lisbon, is his surety.

A possible course suggested in this case renders it improbable that the case will be tried in common pleas court at Lisbon. If Mr. Brookman's attorneys should file a demurrer to the indictment on the ground of the unconstitutionality of the statute and should be sustained by the court, it is said the case must go at once to the state supreme court. However, the course to be taken by these attorneys is only a matter of conjecture.

The attorneys of the Ohio Valley Gas company in court yesterday confessed judgment for $12,284.66 in the suit brought against them by Horace B. Nicholson, of Wellsville. Nicholson, in one action, has bunched the claims against this insolvent company.

Judge J. G. Moore, receiver of the First National bank of Lisbon, has been authorized by the court to accept $50 as payment in full of the claims of the bank against the estate of Louis P. Held, and $335 as complete payment of the claif against John H. O'Mara.

In the suit of the H. A. Thopmson Banking company, of Salineville, versus W. A. McClain, the defendant has confessed judgment for $431.96.

In the suit of Gus Blank, of Lisbon, against George Rupp judgment to the amount of $20.70 has been confessed.

FAILED TO PROCURE A NEEDED WARRANT

WILLIAM STERLING GOES TO CONNELLSVILLE AFTER ONE.

His Wife And Companion Yet in the City—Police Know Where They Are Staying.

Because he neglected to bring with him a warrant, William Sterling, the Connellsville (Pa.) man who came here yesterday and who, as exclusively stated in the News Review, was in search of his wife, whom he charged with having robbed him and eloping with another man, was compelled to return home last evening without either his wife or missing cash.

The local police advised Sterling to go back to Connellsville and get a warrant, which he agreed to do. Mrs. Sterling is yet in the city, as is also Adam Smithour, who is accused of having induced the woman to leave her husband. The officers know where they are stopping.

A Market street saloon keeper claims that Smithour was in his place Monday night displaying a large sum of money. Mrs. Sterling is known to many policemen on the force. She was in the mayor's office a few days ago and asked to be directed to the home of one of her acquaintances.

NO CUT INTENDED

Says the Men Need Not Accept the Bonus If Not Agreeable to Them.

The new scale of wages posted in the Union pottery a few days ago was the cause of much comment in the potteries yesterday and this morning. It is the belief of many jiggermen and turners that the new price list will never be enforced until it is thoroughly looked into by the Brotherhood officials. Some discussion was made concerning the new scale at the recent meeting of the jiggermen. It will also be presented at the meeting of kilnmen's local No. 9, which will be held in Brotherhood hall tomorrow evening. The kilnmen at the Union are non-committal when the question is referred to, preferring to wait until after the meeting of the local, as it may be some steps will be taken to place the scale before the Brotherhood officials at once. A workman in the clay department at the Union said yesterday of the proposed new scale: "On the face of the scale it was supposed the company desired to know how much ware one could turn out in a day, but this I do not believe to be the case. In reading the notice, it is stated that if we make above a certain amount of ware we will receive a bit of piece money as it were, and that is all there is to it. What the future will bring forth remains to be seen."

The kilnmen in other potteries seem to think the new scale will cause a reduction in the wages of the Union's kilnmen, and that the scale would be compulsory. This morning the News Review communicated with the officials of the Union Pottery company, at Pittsburg, where the statement was made that the workmen were guaranteed that their wages would not fall below that which they are now receiving. Later the following telegram was received from A. M. Moreland, president of the Union Potteries company:

"All our men understand that no change in wage rates is intended. The bonus we have offered our men is for extraordinary work. No one need to accept bonus if not acceptable to him."

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—In the estate of William Humphreys, Elwood Miller, administrator, has been ordered to sell at private sale 80 acres of land, and at public sale 160 acres, situated in Hanover township.

J. M. Dickinson has been appointed administrator of the estate of Mary J. Brinker, Center township. Bond $20,000. Enos Bricker, Chris Keller and J. L. Switzer are the appraisers.

A. W. Taylor, of Salem, has been appointed administrator of the estate of Fred L. Seitz. Bond $4,000.

Two Divorce Suits Withdrawn.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—Mattie M. Smith some time ago sued for divorce from Charles Smith. Lulu Belle Smith entered a similar suit against Nathaniel B. Smith. The suits have been withdrawn from the files, and it is understood that two family reunions will result.

Suit on Two Notes.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—A suit has been filed by R. F. Taggart against William Stewart and Emma Stewart, of Middleton township, on two notes of $625 each, on which $50 has been paid.

Increasing Interest.

The services at the M. E. church still continue. Last night a very large congregation heard an excellent sermon by Dr. Clark Crawford. Dr. Dunham, who arrived in the city today, will speak tonight. He will probably be here for several weeks.

First In 70 Years.

George H. Owen & Co., yesterday purchased from Henry Fisher a piece of land 188x400 feet opposite the Riverview cemetery gate. This is said to be the first sale of any portion of the Fisher farm in 70 years.

EAST END

MEN SET OFF A BLAST

Of Dynamite on the Next Lot and the Result Was Disastrous to Watson's New Residence—Dirt and Stone Were Hurled In All Directions.

A startling explosion on Globe street in Helena yesterday afternoon sent a boulder one foot in diameter crashing through the wall of the new residence of James Watson. Both that gentleman and his wife had a close call from being struck by the missile.

A cellar on the next lot had been dug several days ago and the dirt around the upper course of the walls remained in a frozen heap. It was thought by John Hayes, the owner of the lot next to Watson's house, that he could break the dirt and rock with a charge of dynamite. His surmise was correct.

When the charge was exploded it threw dirt and stone in every direction. Not only was the heap scattered, but a hole was made in the kitchen wall of Watson's house.

The boulder tore through one wall and broke a hole almost through the plastering and siding at the opposite end of the room.

It had been Hayes' opinion that no such violence would result, and Mr. and Mrs. Watson, who had been given this assurance, were looking out of the window, spectators on what was happening in the next lot. The boulder, they said, went humming through the air like a big bumble-bee, and almost directly at them. It went through the wall a distance of less than three feet from where they were standing, but they were fortunately uninjured.

The man who made the charge stood a few rods from the place with a helper. Dirt and fragments of rock fell about them, but they were unhurt.

Interest in Oil Matters.

J. R. Thompson, a Hookstown business man, was in the East End this morning. He stated that, while there had been much interest in the oil development of Hookstown, the well to be sunk in the edge of the town had not been commenced. Much coal is being taken from the banks between there and Georgetown, but the owners of the banks have had aggravating contentions by the caverns filling with water.

Placing of Ware Delayed.

It had been intended to place ware in the second kiln at the Electric Porcelain works on Elm street this week, but owing to a shortage of saggers a delay of a few days has happened. The plant has its own sagger-making department and is very complet in every respect. A kiln filled with the electric insulators and specialties is worth a large amount of money.

A Unique Reception Arranged.

A doll reception will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings at the home of Mrs. Sarah Dawson on St. George street next week. It is given under the auspices of the Junior Epworth League and will be a unique affair. Every child having a broken doll will be permitted to have it mended in the doll hospital department.

Building Operations.

A two-story building was started this morning by Alex Chafin on Chatham street. It will be used for a dwelling and store building. He will start his new brick hall building on Pennsylvania avenue in the spring.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Miss Lizzie Smith, of Service, Pa., who is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Link Morley, Mulberry street, is ill with the grip.

Miss Lizzie Burchett, of St. George street, is suffering with congestion of the lungs.

Construction on the new store building was begun for C. W. Smith on River street this morning.

HER HEART IS BROKEN

And a Country Girl Who Was Disappointed in Marriage Wants Healing Salve.

Steubenville, January 16.—Jacob L. Devoe, a street car conductor in the employ of the Steubenville, Mingo & Ohio Valley Traction company, was today made defendant in a breach of promise suit, the plaintiff being Miss Dessie Morrison, of Quaker City, Guernsey county. Miss Morrison is very mild in the amount of damages asked, as she places the sum at $1,000, which, she believes, will heal her wounded heart. She is about 25 years of age.

Devoe is about 30 years of age. He came to this city from Guernsey county last summer about the time the plaintiff says he promised to marry her. The time was set and everything made ready, but Devoe wasn't on hand to serve as groom and claim the hand of the country girl, who says she is yet willing to take him. Devoe shows no inclination to enjoy marital bliss.

FRIGHTFULLY TORTURED

Slav Workman Slashed With Razors and Ill Treated By Four Italians.

Steubenville, January 16.—A Slav workman employed on the Wabash railroad, opposite Mingo Junction, was frightfully mutilated and burned last night by four Italians in the shack near where he bunked.

He refused to treat and they singed his hair with matches and slashed him with razors, and would have killed him had he not escaped to Mingo Junction, where he told officers that two workmen had been murdered since the railroad work had started.

BRICK USED IN A FIGHT

Mingo Man Badly Injured in a Mixup At Toronto—Head Cut Open.

Toronto, January 16.—In a thrilling fight at daylight yesterday morning Gus Haines, an employe at the Sligo brick works, was badly injured and may die from his hurts.

Haines and a man named Glasure became involved in a quarrel and it is alleged that Glasure threw a brick at Haines. The missile struck Haines on the forehead, inflicting an ugly wound and laying the skull bare for three inches.

A TRANSIT OF VENUS.

How It Was Observed by a Party of German Scientists.

On their way between Tebriz and Teheran the members of an expedition sent to Persia by the German government to observe the transit of Venus met a solitary European lady riding in the opposite direction, a member of the English colony, who was as clever as she was beautiful. Having been long a resident in Persia, she was fearlessly riding alone a long way ahead of her caravan. The Germans marveled at such an apparition in such a dreary waste—wondered she wasn't afraid. Wouldn't she let some of them stand by until her servants and baggage came up? No, she was quite at ease, and usually in her travels was far ahead of her attendants, whose mules, more heavily laden, could not keep her pace.

"And now, gentlemen," she said, "who are you, and where are you bound for?"

They introduced each other. One was the astronomer, another the photographer, another the archæologist, the naturalist, and so on, and they were going to Ispahan to observe the transit of Venus. The lady smiled, started her pony and waved her adieu, saying:

"To observe the transit of Venus? Ah, well, you can go home, now, gentlemen! Your duty is done. Goodby."

The fair vision disappeared at a canter toward the horizon, and it was said that the Germans did not see the joke till a long time after Venus had disappeared from their ken.—Life of Major General Sir Robert Murdoch Smith, K. C. M. G.

THE NEW MANAGER.

Why He Did Not Discharge a Certain Railroad Conductor.

Among the first railroads built in the United States was a little line about twenty miles in length. In the course of time a big tunnel line was constructed through the same country. The original line became merely a branch. For many years it was run in a cheap way, with one locomotive, one engineer and two or three freight cars.

Finally a new general manager was appointed. He had been in the office but a week when he sent for the one lone conductor who had held the position ever since the road was built.

"I would like to have your resignation," said the general manager when the conductor appeared.

"My resignation?" inquired the conductor in astonishment.

"Yes, sir, yours."

"What for, pray?"

"Well, I want to make some changes and get new blood in the line," was the general manager's reply.

"I won't resign," answered the conductor.

"Then I will be compelled to discharge you, a step which for your sake I had hoped I would be saved from taking."

"Young man, you will not discharge me. I own a controlling interest in the stock of this railroad and elect the president and board of directors. I shall have you fired."

The old conductor did really own the majority of the stock and, as he said, put in his own board of directors and president.

An Attack of Pneumonia Warded Off.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hooper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col. 7-tf-3-tf

Horses Wounded In Battle.

Horses wounded on the battlefield are duly attended to when no danger to human life is involved. The veterinary officer in charge is expected to follow close on the fighting line and, together with a number of aids, to inspect properly wounded animals and give instructions for their removal or slaughter, as the case may be. The veterinary surgeon is naturally exposed to considerable danger, but if his work is not carried out during the progress of hostilities in all probability it cannot be accomplished afterward, for, although the royal army medical corps is allowed to proceed to the rescue of the wounded men under the Red Cross, the members of the army veterinary department are not permitted to attend to the injured horses, because they are not under the protection of the Geneva convention, which makes no provision whatsoever for wounded animals.

At the conclusion of the battle, if it has been decisive and one or other of the combatant armies has been driven from the field, a party of veterinary surgeons, with their assistants, is sent out to examine every animal that has fallen and to shoot such as are badly wounded. Those suffering from only slight injuries are collected and taken to the veterinary hospital lines, formed as fixed camps and established on a similar basis to those of the royal army medical corps.—Pearson's Magazine.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

THE PENSION BILL PASSED.

House Adjourned From Yesterday Until Saturday, Out of Respect to the Memory of Late Mr. Burke—Volunteers Defended in Senate.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The House yesterday passed the pension appropriation bill, which has been under discussion for three days, and then adjourned until Saturday.

The resolution prepared by the special committee on the McKinley memorial exercises providing for an address by Secretary of State John Hay in the hall of representatives, February 27, was adopted.

Mr. Moody (Mass.), presented a joint resolution to appropriate $90,000 to pay the expenses incurred by the West Indian and South Carolina Interstate Exposition at Charleston, S. C., in connection with the government exhibit at Charleston.

Mr. Payne (N. Y.), declared that the management, when the government exhibit was secured, agreed that the United States would not be asked for one cent.

Mr. Elliott in reply took issue with Mr. Payne as to the facts, and Mr. Moody pledged himself that with the adoption of the pending resolution the government's expense in connection with the Charleston exposition would cease. The resolution was passed.

A bill was passed to allow the redemption of war revenue stamps any time within two years after the passage of the act, and also a resolution on the same subject to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to return upon demand within one year bank checks and drafts with war revenue stamps imprinted thereon after the cancellation of such stamps.

The House then resumed consideration of the pension appropriation bill, which was read for amendment under the five-minute rule. An amendment offered by Mr. Jenkins (Wis.), providing that the testimony of three witnesses that persons who lived together as man and wife for five years should be assumed to be prima facia evidence of marriage provoked considerable debate, and was finally ruled out on a point of order.

The bill then was passed.

A resolution providing for personal clerks for chairmen of committees precipitated considerable discussion about the need of clerical help for certain committees, but finally was adopted. February 1, at 3 o'clock, was set aside for paying tribute to the memory of the late Representative Brosius, of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Wooten (Texas), formally announced the death of the late Representative Burke, of Texas, which occurred last summer, and the House at 3:45 p. m., as a mark of respect, adjourned until Saturday.

DEFENDED VOLUNTEERS.

Construed Remarks of Hale As Attack Upon Them.

Washington, Jan. 16.—A spirited discussion was precipitated in the Senate by some remarks submitted by Mr. Hale, of Maine, in respect to bills relating to the formation of a naval reserve, which he introduced. He took strong grounds against the organization of a naval reserve, his comment being construed by some of the Senators into a reflection upon volunteer soldiers and land militia. Half a dozen Senators were on their feet in an instant to defend the volunteers and the national guard of the various States, and the debate took so wide a range that Senators went back in their remarks to the days of the Revolutionary war to seek illustrations for their arguments. While no action was possible at this time, it is likely the discussion upon the measures, should they be reported, will be very lively. No business of special importance was transacted, the time of the Senate being consumed by matters of routine.

After the adjournment of the Senate Mr. Hale said the naval reserve bills introduced by him yesterday, had been presented by request of persons interested in such legislation. In the same manner he had introduced bills representing both the navy department's views and that of individuals or organizations on the question of a naval reserve. He personally, however, did not stand committed to any of them, and he questioned whether any satisfactory rerults wiuld come from them.

Submarines TO WIN THE NEXT WAR

By LUCIEN MILLEVOYE, Member of the French Chamber of Deputies

THE NEXT GREAT WAR WILL BE WON BY THE NATION POSSESSING THE MOST POWERFUL SUBMARINE NAVY.

THE SHIPS THAT WON AT MANILA AND SANTIAGO ARE OUT OF DATE.

A terrible war of nations is inevitable sooner or later.

Men talk of peace, but the war spirit is abroad. The big cruisers of today are at the mercy of tiny submarines, and nations careful of their safety will have to build a submarine navy.

France is well supplied, but is not building enough submarines. AERIAL NAVIES MAY COME, BUT I DO NOT SEE HOW THEY CAN BE AS DESTRUCTIVE AS INVISIBLE BATTLESHIPS UNDER WATER. We have science enough to build a great submarine navy if our public men were only enterprising.

EVERETT RE-ELECTED.

Meeting of Cleveland Electric Railway Held.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 16.—At the annual meeting of the Cleveland Electric Railway company, known locally as the Big Consolidated system, Henry A. Everett, of the Everett-Moore syndicate, was re-elected president. George S. Russell, cashier of the Bank of Commerce, was elected treasurer, to succeed E. W. Moore, who retires from the treasuryship, and also a member of the board of directors of the company.

Calvary Morris was elected as Mr. Moore's successor on the board of directors. Both Morris and Russell represent the Cleveland bankers' interests in the affairs of the company.

IS POPE VERY ILL.

Dispatch to London Papers From Rome Said His Holiness Was Just Alive.

London, Jan. 16.—"Vanity Fair's" correspondent at Rome writes:

"The death of the pope may be expected any day, as his holiness can only be said to be just alive. He takes little nourishment and is generally half unconscious.

"He suffers no pain and simply dozes the hours away without comprehension of what is going on around him."

Methodist Episcopal Twentieth Century Fund Meeting With Success.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—The Methodist Episcopal ministers of this city are very much pleased over the progress being made in raising the big twentieth century fund of that denomination. The fund to be raised is $20,000,000. Of this amount $15,000,000 has been pledged, and the greater part of it paid in cash.

At a recent meeting of the committee on the thank offering it was determined to extend the time for raising the sum till January 1, 1903. The committee is sure by that time it will surpass the sum mentioned by the bishops, and probably reach $25,000,000.

The money already paid in has been distributed among the benevolences of the church, as follows: Debts on church property, $7,000,000; church schools, $6,000,000; missions in general, $2,000,000.

The Methodists of New York propose to raise $1,000,000. The exact amount raised by the Pittsburg conference has not been summed up, but it is expected to reach a half million dollars. The object of this fund is to cancel local church debts, endow colleges and universities and put the mission boards of the church on good footing.

BANQUET TO THE SCHLEYS.

Friday Morning Admiral Will Go Hunting For Deer.

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 16.—Admiral and Mrs. Schley were entertained by Palestine Commandery, Knights Templar, with a reception and banquet at the Masonic Temple last night. The hall was decorated with the national colors, a rear admiral's flag and palms. The large banquet room was filled with ladies and gentlemen.

After the dinner informal addresses were made by Eminent Commander Golding, Admiral Schley and several others.

Friday morning Admiral Schley will go hunting for deer on St. Catherine island. He says he has never killed a deer. As St. Catherine is a private game preserve and well stocked, he may have an opportunity there.

RAILROAD BROTHERHOOD.

Chicago Chosen Headquarters For the Organization.

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—The Brotherhood of Railway Employes has decided that Chicago shall be its future headquarters, and yesterday decided to hold its next convention there in May, 1904.

The question of ritual was taken up and the convention decided that the nomenclature of the officers shall follow that of railroading.

It was also decided to place an organization in each of the following cities: Portland, San Francisco, Albuquerque, Omaha, Helena, Kansas City, Aberdeen, St. Paul, Chicago, St Louis, Little Rock, New Orleans, Indianapolis, Columbus, Nashville, Atlanta, Washington, Pittsburg, New York City, Boston, Montreal and Winnipeg.

INJURE WOOLGROWERS.

Brigham So Says of Reciprocity. Ohio Farmers' Institute.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—At the meeting of the Ohio Farmers' institute, J. H. Brigham, assistant secretary of agriculture, declared that reciprocity, in so far as it would affect the woolgrowers of the United States, would be disastrous to them. He pointed out that Argentina, South America, produced two and one-half times as much wool as the United States, and that a far greater proportion of it is for export, as the population was sparse.

T. C. Laylin, of Norwalk, was elected president, and J. C. Housekeeper, of Bowling Green, secretary of the institute.

Holds Corporation Cannot Grant Exclusive Public Privilege.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—Attorney General Sheets brought quo warranto proceedings against the Union depot company, alleging that the company has unlawfully given the Columbus Transfer company the exclusive right to occupy the driveway to the Union depot. The attorney-general contends that a corporation cannot make a contract granting such privileges to any set of persons to the exclusion of others, where the privileges to be used are of a public character.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT TO SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—Samuel Hamilton, Superintendent of County Schools, met with an accident near his home, in Braddock, which made necessary the amputation of both feet. Mr. Hamilton was on his way to this city and intended getting on the train at Mills Station. When within a short distance of the station he saw a passenger train pulling out and tried to swing on to it. The steps seemed to have been coated with ice, for his foot slipped and he fell under the rear car, the wheels passing over both feet.

PAYNE SWORN IN AS POSTMASTER GENERAL.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Henry C. Payne, of Wisconsin, was sworn in as Postmaster General yesterday in the cabinet room by Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States supreme court, in the presence of the President, all the members of the cabinet, the Senators and Representatives from Wisconsin and some invited spectators, including Senator Hanna, Senator Scott, Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Payne.

Futile Work of Robbers.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—Burglars blew open the safe of the First National Bank of Pitcairn. They did not get a cent. Nitro-glycerine was the explosive used, and it made so much noise that the whole town was awakened, but in the excitement the safe-crackers escaped.

A Banker Under Arrest.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—John P. Withers, former president of the American National Bank of Beaumont, Tex., who is charged with embezzlement and mismanagement of the bank's funds, is still in the custody of the United States marshal in this city. An order will probably be given to take Withers to Texas, where, it is stated, he will give bond for his appearance.

Two Boys Burned Together.

St. Louis, Jan. 16.—John and Henry Kander, aged respectively five and two years, sons of Stephen Kander, of East St. Louis, perished in a fire that destroyed their home. The parents left the children alone in the house.

An Ocean Hotel.

Some idea of what a big hotel a transatlantic liner is may be gained from the following from Ainslie's Magazine: "Everything about the kitchen of a great steamship is on a most elaborate scale. The range weighs many tons; the various soup caldrons are constructed to hold 20 gallons; loaves are baked by the hundred, joints roasted by the dozen, each in a separate and specially constructed compartment. To serve the meals thousands of plates, pieces of silver, cups and saucers and napkins are required, and the average breakage in the galley of a big ship amounts to a barrel of china every day.

"The amount of stores required for a single voyage by a great liner is comparable only to the commissariat of an army. Here are a few figures furnished by the chief steward of one of the big German ships from the order sheet for a recent trip: Sixteen tons of fresh beef, five tons of lamb and veal, 3,500 head of chickens, ducks, geese and game, four tons of salted meats, 1,000 dozens eggs, three tons of sugar, 100 barrels of flour, 700 bushels of potatoes, 2½ tons of butter, 2,000 quarts of milk and 500 gallons of ice cream. Of course this is not an exhaustive list, but it will serve to give an idea of the enormous appetite which the storerooms of the ocean liner must satisfy."

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Charles F. Craig's, Foutts Bldg., East Liverpool, O.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL EAST LIVERPOOL, O.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1902.

The municipal code bill, which the State Bar association, the State Board of Commerce and other bodies are urging the legislature of Ohio to pass provides the same form of government for all cities containing over 3,000 inhabitants and another general system for all villages of less than 3,000. Cogent reasons are put forward demonstrating the need of a change. On this subject the Toledo Blade says: "Present conditions are chaotic. Corporate powers conferred by special legislation are in direct conflict with the constitution. Supreme court decisions the past few days lead to the conclusion that the whole fabric of municipal government in Ohio will fall to pieces as rapidly as suits are brought in the supreme court. The statute books of the state are filled with special legislation. Local bills fill the calendars from the beginning of a legislative session until its close. Local bond issues are granted by legislators and become burdens upon the taxpayers. Local measures take up so much time that matters of general interest are neglected. And add to all this the certainty that the great bulk of this legislation is unconstitutional and a condition is presented which is far from reassuring. The municipal code bill, if made a law, would change all this."

Senator Foraker, in addressing the legislature after it had elected him senator, made an excellent speech, as he usually does when he talks on any occasion. Particularly impressive was his review of the history that has been made in the past six years. Rarely, since the American republic was founded, has a similar brief period been more eventful. In that time, we have had both war and peace, but the victories of peace are by far the most striking. As the senator observes, "Long vanished prosperity has returned, and never in the history of the world has there been anything like what we now enjoy. The great industrial problem of Europe at this time is not how to sell in our markets, but how to protect their own from our commercial invasion and one of our greatest industrial problems is how to go on indefinitely collecting the stupendous balance of trade in our favor without bankrupting all the rest of the world and thus destroying the customers we are acquiring." It is not boasting to say that American progress, industrially, commercially, intellectually and morally has been more rapid than that of any other nation on the globe; it is a simple statement of facts.

New York state has a system of road supervision which seems to be working well. At all events, the mileage of good roads in that state is rapidly increasing. There are state and county boards of supervision, and the state has been appropriating generous amounts to improve highways. It might be profitable for one legislators to tackle the question with a determination to do something more than talk about it. We do not say that the New York system is best, but any plan that is founded on common sense would be preferable to the utter lack of system in dealing with road improvement that prevails in the greater portion of rural Ohio.

It was late in coming, but the high water mark in pensions to civil war veterans has been reached. The total of the pension appropriation bill for next year is some five million dollars less than for the present fiscal year, ending June 30 next. Along with this is the fact that the number of pensioners shows an increase. The explanation is given that all the arrearages have been paid, and that the cases are exhausted in which the large pensions were allowed. No nation on earth ever dealt as generously as the United States with the men who fought its battles.

The Ohio Police association was organized in Columbus Tuesday, by chiefs of police, from many cities and towns of the state. The purpose is to put a stop to the blowing of safes and the robbery of banks. It is to be hoped that the organization will get down to business immediately.

Kentucky lynchers go from bad to worse. They have now laid down the shot gun and taken up dynamite. The spread of crime cannot be wondered at in communities where the people show such remarkable readiness to transgress the law.

AT THE THEATER

The merry farce "Are You a Mason?" which will be presented for the Knights of Pythias annual benefit, Monday, Jan. 29, is a very fine adaptation from the German of Laufts and Kratz by Leo Detrichstein. Most of the humorous situations are traceable to the efforts of Amos Bloodgood, of Rockford, Ill., and his son-in-law, Frank Perry, of New York, to palm themselves off as Masons. Bloodgood began the deception 20 years before the story opens. His wife had insisted that he become a Mason and so he joined an imaginary lodge, and found it a great convenience. Bloodgood having at length become grand master in his mind, it was only natural that Mrs. Bloodgood should desire her son-in-law to become a Mason also. As neither suspected the other of being in the same domestic boat, there are misunderstandings galore directly the Bloodgoods come east to visit the Perrys, which they do in the first act.

Perry owns up his deception to Bloodgood, but is rebuked so severely that in revenge he plays a trick upon the old gentleman that complicates things still more and threatens dire disaster to the Bloodgoods' domestic structure. The piece should win the same popularity here that it has had everywhere it has been seen.

The stagehands will this year present for their benefit "Lovers' Lane," Clyde Fitch's now widely celebrated pastural play, at the opera house Tuesday evening, January 24. The excellent cast and the great beauty of scenic embellishment are up to the highest standard established by that enterprising manager, William A. Brady, who is believed to possess in this piece a property quite as valuable in a commercial sense as "'Way Down East," which has made several fortunes within the past three years, and is still as vital as ever. These subtle, rustic dramas, full of heart interest, quaint humor, homely sentiment and picturesque realism, seem to have stronger virility than the more ephemeral problem plays and the frivolous comedies of fashionable society. The chart will open Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The company supporting Chester De Vonde, appearing at the opera house this week, gave a clever production of the "Minister of Hawk's Roost" last evening. The attendance was large, the standing room sign being displayed early in the evening. The specialties were clever and well received. Tonight the bill will be "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Puzzled.

A Bangor shipmaster wrote home to the vessel's owner telling of the condition of the freight market where he was—out in the Windward islands. Business was dull, and the vessel had been in the same port for some time, and the captain wrote, "We are in statu quo." The owner for the next week was engaged in searching the atlas of the West Indies trying to find out, as he put it, "where in thunder this 'ere statu quo is!"

POTTERY NEWS

The Trent Tile company, of Trenton, will break ground Monday for a series of buildings which will enable it to double the capacity of its plant and will increase its possible annual output to 4,000,000 feet per year. The addition is made necessary by reason of increased foreign and domestic demand. The works are expected to be completed by April 1. The improvements will include three or four new kilns and will necessitate increasing the number of employes from 300 to 400 or 450.

The deliberations of the joint arbitration board in the dispute between the printers and their employers are not yet ended. The board was in session a greater portion of yesterday and adjournment was taken at 3:30 until tonight. In the meantime further investigation is being made by both sides, in order that the members will be able to act in an intelligent manner. It is hoped they will finish the work with tonight's session.

It is announced that a handler in one of the hill potteries is about to form a colony of East Liverpool persons to go to New Jersey to occupy a tract of land 10 miles south of Atlantic City. It is said the proposition consists of first erecting a small art pottery which will be enlarged when business warrants.

The clay now being used at the Thompson pottery for making saggers is being secured from the hill on Pennsylvania avenue near the Wallace and Chetwynd pottery. Two teams are employed in hauling the clay from the hill to the pottery, and a number of miners are given employment in digging the clay.

Quite an odd decoration is being used on a novelty turned out at the Smith and Phillips pottery. It is an orange bowl and the decoration is "iridescent lustre." This gives the decoration an oily appearance. The shape of the bowl is neat and it is meeting with ready sale.

It has been rumored that after the new improvements are completed at the Union no apprentices will be put on the benches. It is said that Manager Manor desires to fill all the new positions that he will have to give out with journeymen.

A new shed for storing flint has been erected in the rear of the plant of the Potters' Mining and Milling company in the East End. The capacity of the shed is large. It was completed a few days ago.

The Laughlin company is now rushed with orders, and all departments are being operated to their full capacity. Quite a number of orders are now being received at plant No. 2 for decorated goods.

An order has been placed by the C. C. Thompson Pottery company for 400 trays to be used in carrying decorated ware from the decorating shop to the decorating kilns. The order will be delivered next week.

The new potters' local to be composed of the kilnmen, dippers and saggermakers, will be organized in Sebring tomorrow night. It will be known as No. 59.

A new decoration is being placed on one of the dinner sets made by the Smith and Phillips pottery. The decoration is a border and is worked in decalcomania.

The biscuit girls at the Smith and Phillips pottery did not work yesterday on account of the shortage of ware. Work was resumed this morning.

John Owen, for several years foreman of the Diamond pottery, has left the plant. He has entered the mercantile business on Market street.

Mr. Adler, a buyer for a large crockery house in Chicago, is in the city placing some large orders. They are being well distributed.

Jack Owens, Jr., has taken a position at the Dresden pottery as a presser. Part of the time he will be employed sticking-up.

Thomas McFetridge has accepted a position as sticker-up on the jumbo jigger at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor pottery.

Walter Cronin, a jiggerman at the East Liverpool pottery, is confined to his home with tonsilitis.

Roofers are putting a preparation of tar on the new addition to Laughlin No. 2.

The First Iron Ship.

The first iron ship has more reputed birthplaces than Homer. Both the Clyde and the Mersey claim pre-eminence in this respect. Sir E. J. Robison of Edinburgh designed an iron vessel in 1816, which was not launched till three years later, and it is said that an iron boat was worked on the Severn even as far back as 1787. Steel was not used in the construction of merchant ships' hulls until 1859. Old salts were not alone in their belief that wood was meant by Providence to float, but iron to go to the bottom. A naval constructor of some repute once said: "Don't talk to me of iron ships. They are contrary to nature." Now none but small craft are built of wood in this country.—Chambers' Journal.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Kid gloves will not mold if you pack them away carefully in a dry place.

The appearance of a grate may be improved by rubbing it over with a piece of old velvet after it has been polished in the usual way.

Metal teapots should have a lump of sugar put inside them before they are put away, otherwise they are apt to remain damp and acquire a musty flavor.

Loops for hanging up garments are continually breaking. A serviceable loop is made by cutting a strip of kid from an old glove, rolling in it a piece of coarse string and sewing the edges of the kid neatly together.

Gilt frames may be revived by beating up the whites of eggs with an ounce of soda and then, after blowing the dust from the frames with the bellows, rubbing them over with a soft brush dipped in the mixture.

Experts in cut glass advocate the following as the best means of cleaning: Wash the glass thoroughly with warm soapsuds and cover with sawdust. As soon as the sawdust is dry brush the article very carefully with a soft brush, reaching all the crevices. It will come out as clear and sparkling as a bubble fresh from the pipe.

Husbands' Motto a Bible Verse.

The Husbands' Protection society of London has as its motto the naive verse found in what is known as the Wife Beater's Bible, published in 1549, copies of which may be found in many museums and libraries. This verse is as follows:

"He dwelleth wyth his wyfe accordinge to his knowledge and taketh her as a necessarye healper and not as a bonde servant or a bonde slave. And if she be not obedient and helpfull to hym he endeavoureth to beate the fear of God into her heade that thereby she maye be compelled to learne her dutie and to do it."—London News.

A Dry Smoke.

If you see a man with an unlighted cigar between his lips, it is not because he is looking for a light, but because he is indulging in the pleasure of a "dry smoke." How there can be any enjoyment in this to a smoker is not readily apparent, but the fact remains that there is much satisfaction in the habit, and, besides, there are no baneful effects.

For inveterate smokers the dry smoke is a good habit to cultivate. It enables many slaves of the weed to decrease the number of cigars actually smoked in a day without causing much inconvenience. Of course an inveterate smoker would find no pleasure in the habit at the start, but perseverance is necessary, and after awhile he will enjoy his dry smoke almost as much as the real one. It is a good way to begin if you desire to stop smoking. Try it and see.—New York Herald.

WELLSVILLE

SESSION LASTED HALF AN HOUR

In That Brief Time Wellsville Council Transacted Much Business.

Bridge on Lisbon Road Discussed. Committee Named to Confer With County Commissioners—More Time Given the Light Company.

Only 30 minutes were consumed by the city council at the meeting last evening, but an unusually large amount of business was acted upon.

The council will soon be compelled to meet oftener than of yore and at a specified hour. This is due to an ordinance placed upon its first reading. The ordinance declares that council shall meet at 7 p. m. the first and third Monday of each month.

An ordinance providing for the adoption of the codified ordinances and laws of the city of Wellsville was placed upon its third reading. The Kelly avenue ordinance directing that the avenue be paved from Commerce street to Steubenville road was adopted.

City Engineer Leith was instructed to fix a grade line on Ninth street from Water street to Wood street; also on Wood street from Ninth street to Tenth.

Much complaint has reached the ears of council concerning the condition of the bridge crossing the creek on the Lisbon road. The bridge seems to be badly in need of readjustment, but council did not think that the city should bear the whole expense. A committee was appointed to confer with the county commissioners and endeavor to have them raise the bridge. Those on the appointed committee are Messrs. Aughinbaugh, Whitacre and Brennan.

The ordinance granting Judge P. M. Smith another year in which to complete the railroad switch from the depot to the West End potteries was placed upon its second reading.

Several weeks ago Solicitor Wells was requested to correspond with several electric light companies for the purpose of finding the true worth of lights being furnished Wellsville by the Wellsville Electric Light company. The solicitor did as requested and made a report. The General Electric company, of Cincinnati, he said, approved of the lights and pronounced them modern and the most successful lights ever developed. The report was very accurate and council seemed convinced that Supt. Healy's former statement was not exaggerated. For the present nothing more will be done with the question, as it is the wish of council that Supt. Healy be given ample time in which to demonstrate that the lights are as represented.

The crack in the storm sewer extending from Fourth street to Eighth street will be repaired. Engineer Leith was authorized to have it filled with brick and cement as soon as the weather will permit. The bad condition of the road at Commerce and Eighteenth streets, due to the laying of the storm sewer, is to be remedied. The engineer was authorized to have the work done.

The time for placing the water works bond issue before the voters of Wellsville was considered. It is likely that the question will be presented at the next meeting and the time set for the same day as that of the spring election.

TAILOR HOLDS A TRUNK

And Will Continue to Do So Until a Bill of $25 Is Paid.

A young man known as J. Kneppschell, who has been employed in the steel mill for several months, departed yesterday for his home in Scottdale, Pa. His departure was very abrupt and caused Daniel Steiner, the tailor, considerable trouble.

A few weeks ago Kneppschell gave Mr. Steiner an order for a $25 suit of clothes. The suit was made and given to Kneppschell upon his promise to pay for it on pay day. That day rolled around, but Kneppschell appeared not. Mr. Steiner did not push him for the money and yesterday learned that he had resigned his position, packed his trunk and was on the verge of leaving the city.

Constable Thorne was notified and immediately instituted a search, but too late. In the early morning Kneppschell boarded a car for East Liverpool and from there took a train for Scottdale. Kneppschell failed to carry his trunk with him, but had it taken to the depot for shipment. Constable Thorne located the trunk and it is now in the possession of Mr. Steiner. The trunk and its contents are probably worth more than $25.

WILL MAKE $245,000

Provided the Deal Goes Through. Farmer's Vision of Wealth From Coal Options.

Thomas Campbell, a young farmer near Frankfort Springs, has hopes of becoming wealthy within the next few months. Over a year ago he secured options on 35,000 acres of coal land situated in Hancock and Beaver counties. He paid $18 per acre for the options and is now negotiating for the sale of the land to a New York syndicate. The syndicate, it is said, have offered him $25 per acre for the land, if so Mr. Campbell will realize a profit of $245,000. Several residents of Chester own farms near the locality of the coal land and one said this morning that there is a probability of the deal going through.

THE MAD DOG SCARE

Has a Firm Hold in Chester—Women And Children in Terror.

The mad dog scare in Chester has not abated. Women and children are rarely seen on the streets unaccompanied by a man. In the evenings the streets are practically deserted. Many wild stories are in circulation. A woman entered a store today, her face blanched with terror because a dog had crossed her path and looked at her.

Every man who is the possessor of a gun has solemnly vowed that he will dispatch any and all dogs that are in the least suspicious.

WORK FOR 200 MORE

HOARFROST.

The Fabric Out of Which This Feathery Whiteness Is Built.

Commonly hoarfrost is described as being frozen moisture, but this is not an adequate description of an agent that has the power of adorning in a few hours such prosaic objects as gateposts and dustbins with all the trappings of fairyland. Moisture is indeed the fabric out of which all this feathery whiteness is built up; but, although it seems sometimes as if it is disturbed in a very capricious manner, there are nevertheless certain definite circumstances which cause the hoarfrost to settle down on some surfaces rather than others. On any cold and frosty morning it will usually be found that those surfaces that are the best radiators of heat are also those that are the most successful in collecting hoarfrost. It is not always realized, however, that all objects are continually radiating heat, so that, no matter how much they may receive from the sun, they are constantly trying to get rid of it.

A fern leaf or a stone may perhaps receive generous supplies of heat during the day, but as soon as night comes it hurries to spend or radiate it, and the object that is quickest at this work will soon become covered in hoarfrost. Every one has observed how the moisture from the air will settle on the outside of a glass of cold water brought suddenly into a warm room. A similar process takes place in the open air, so that as the currents of moist air travel across surfaces that are very cold they pay tribute in drops of vapor, which in warm weather take the form of dew and in cold of hoarfrost. Moisture therefore plays a very important part in the development of these hoarfrost pictures. But there must not be too much of it. Some of the most delicate designs occur during the prevalence of mist and haze, and in towns especially it is no uncommon thing for a choking brumous fog to be in some degree compensated for by a subsequent display of copious hoarfrost.—Knowledge.

When Poor Writing Is Best.

A popular author whose handwriting was none of the best used to maintain that it was a matter of principle with him not to write too well. He declared that for the use of printers, good handwriting was only a snare and a delusion, tending to encourage carelessness and mistakes on their part. The compositors, he asserted, were compelled to devote their very best care and attention to bad handwriting, with the result that, when it was deciphered, it was so fixed in their minds that it was impossible for them to set it up incorrectly. He therefore declared that the worst handwriting was the best for the printers.—Truth.

Whiting.

All whitings are made from chalk. The more common preparations sometimes contain considerable gritty matter, which scratches highly polished surfaces. These coarse particles may be removed in this manner: Mix the whiting with water to a paste and then add water until it is very thin. Strain through cheesecloth and let the strained mixture settle. Pour off the water and dry the whiting.

THE RISE OF MARCONI

How He First Began Experimenting With Wireless Telegraphy—His Success In England With His Signals—His Work In America.

When Marconi first began his experiments with wireless telegraphy, he was strong in the belief that the ultimate result would be the sending of messages across the wide Atlantic without the use of wires. That his faith was well founded was shown recently, when he flashed signals from St. John's, N. F., to Cornwall, England, a distance of 1,700 miles. This achievement places him among the foremost inventors of the world.

The story of the struggle and triumph of this young genius of Anglo-Italian parentage fills one of the brightest pages in the history of science. He was born at Marzzbotta, near Bologna, of an Italian father and an English mother in 1875 and displayed a taste for scientific subjects in his boyhood.

The inventor is a singularly modest chap, with prominent nose, high forehead and dreamy eyes—quite the typical inventor. His face frequently takes on the expression of a man who has drifted into realms of profound thought.

Marconi speaks both English and Italian with equal fluency and, while positive in his opinions about his great invention, is as modest as real geniuses generally are. He was educated at the famous University of Bologna, the oldest university in the world, and it was at this institution, under the tutelage of Professor A. Righi, that he conceived and gave shape to his system of wireless telegraphy. He carried out many experiments on his family estate near Bologna before discovering the important fact that electric waves generated by a sparking apparatus of the kind used by the lamented German physicist Heinrich Hertz would carry to a long distance and were unaffected by intervening hills and natural obstacles. That discovery was the great turning point in his life.

In 1896 the inventor went to England and there found his first trusting patrons. The British postal authorities received him cordially, took an interest in his efforts to solve the great problem he had undertaken and provided for him means to experiment with signaling. Thus encouraged, he renewed his efforts. He worked night and day to improve his methods and increase his records. By establishing communication between captive balloons and perfecting the experiments with pole stations Marconi startled the English scientists. To test him a Dublin newspaper engaged him to report the Kingston yacht races. He was successful and soon afterward was at work in the English channel, the result of which was the establishment of wireless communication between Dover and Boulogne.

While in England one of his notable achievements was keeping the Prince of Wales, who was on the royal yacht Osborne, in touch with Queen Victoria's household in her last illness. Message after message was exchanged. Marconi finally won the great triumph of directing the English fleet in its maneuvers, sending messages more than eighty miles from one ship to another and 130 miles through two ship stations. English confidence was then thoroughly established and the system adopted by the British navy.

The dreams of Marconi began to be realized when in March, 1899, he received official permission from the French authorities for an experiment between Dover and Calais. By this time his success in sending wireless messages over long distances, in some instances thirty-two miles, attracted the attention of Emperor William of Germany, who instructed experts to experiment with the wireless system for the benefit of the German army and navy. It is said that nearly every experiment made was a success.

Marconi finally decided to come here and show us his wonders. After demonstrating the usefulness of the system and reporting the international yacht races he established a wireless station on Nantucket South Shoals lightship, forty-two miles offshore, and another at Siasconsett, island of Nantucket. A set of instruments had been placed on the steamship Lucania, bound for this port, and messages were exchanged which told the whereabouts of the Lucania twelve hours earlier than would otherwise have been known. More ambitious experiments followed, and Marconi's latest achievement is evidence that wireless telegraphy is about to become a fact and not a theory only.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER

Woman Killed, at Pittsburg, and Three Children Were Assaulted.

REPUTED HUSBAND INJURED.

Very Dangerously Hurt—Placed Under Arrest as Were Two Other Persons—Police Were Hunting For a Missing Boarder.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—One woman is dead, her eldest daughter, 6 years old, was thought to be dying, and two other children were seriously wounded, all the result of one of the most cold-blooded and mysterious murders in the annals of Allegheny county. The woman's reputed husband, a Pole, and three other men are under arrest, pending an investigation by the police and detectives.

The Dead.

Rosa Lak, known also as Mrs. Visolek, murdered by a blunt, heavy hammer.

The Injured.

Angelica Visolek, 6 years old, known also as Nellie; skull fractured by same hammer that killed her mother; is not expected to live.

Francis Visolek, 4 years old, skull fractured.

Anna Visolek, 18 months old, skull fractured.

Vincenzo Visolek, known as the husband of Rosa Lak; cut and bruised and skull indented as though with a hammer.

The Missing.

John Okenski, a boarder, who lived with Visolek, and is being hunted by the police on suspicion of knowing something about the murder.

The tragedy was perpetrated yesterday in an upper room at the rear of 209 Spring alley, in the Lawrenceville district; Rosa Lak, 35 years old, a Polish woman who was considered unusually beautiful was beaten to death with a heavy hammer and her three children were also terribly injured by the same weapon.

Vincenzo Visolek, 38 years old, also a Pole, who was known as the woman's husband, was discovered in the room with the corpse, and he, too, was so badly wounded that his chances for recovery are slight.

A missing sum of money, the amount of which is not known, only deepens the mystery.

SAID SMITH APPROVED.

Rathbone Bought Suit For Coachman From Government Funds.

Havana, Jan. 16.—When the trial of the charges growing out of the Cuban postoffice frauds was resumed here yesterday, Estes G. Rathbone, ex-director of posts of Cuba, was examined on the matter of having paid for furnishing his official residence in El Cerro, Havana, from the postal accounts.

Rathbone said he believed that such bills should be so charged, that all vouchers for furnishing this official residence were endorsed, and that all the furnishings were accounted for and afterwards returned to the government. He said the salary of his coachman was paid from the postal funds and that when ex-Postmaster General Smith came to Havana he rode in Rathbone's carriage, and that at Smith's suggestion he (Rathbone) bought a uniform for his coachman from the postal funds. The government has disallowed these accounts, charging them against Rathbone.

TWO OFFICERS KILLED.

Armed Men After a Bad Gang of Highwaymen.

Guthrie, O. T., Jan. 16.—Sheriff Frank Smith and his deputy, George Beck, were killed by highwaymen in the vicinity of Anadarko, the home of the officers. A posse of 100 men started immediately on the trail of the murderers, but no arrests have been reported. The posse expects a fierce fight before the men shall be taken, and it is known that the notorious highwaymen, Bob McCune, Ben Gravens, and Bob Sims, are at the head of the gang in that region.

Sheriff Smith was appointed from Norman, Okla., where he had been on the sheriff's and marshal's forces for a number of years. A number of murders and robberies are charged to the gang that murdered the officers, and efforts to capture them have ben made by all the officers in that vicinity.

Neuralgia.

The Prayer of a Nerve for More Blood.

Neuralgia may attack any part of the body but most frequently occurs where the nerves are most abundant.

In the head,
In the face.
Sometimes the heart nerves seem to twist
Twinging rheumatic pains of the extremities
Sharp and intense at times
In the intervals dull and heavy.

Neuralgia is the result of impoverished blood caused by impairment of the nerves—a lack of nerve force.

It is a disease of the nerve centers, and the pains accompanying it are a prayer for better nourishment. They are the danger signals which warn you against a total collapse of the nervous system.

Liniments and all external applications can only give temporary relief. Permanent cure cannot possibly come until the nerve centers are thorougly revitalized and reinvigorated by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The beneficial effects of this great nerve restorative are felt thrilling through the nerve fibres as week by week and month by month the nerve force of the body is restored. Women afflicted with diseases peculiar to their sex are frequently great sufferers from neuralgia. Dr. Chase's Nerve Pills positively cures both these disorders by filling the nervous system with new vigor and life. 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. The genuine has portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on each package.

A Wireless Telegraphy Across the Ages

By Senator GEORGE F. HOAR of Massachusetts

SCIENCE has not in the least helped us to explain or understand the spiritual side of man. BESIDES THE PEDIGREE OF THE PHYSICAL AND ANIMAL LIFE THERE IS THE PEDIGREE OF SPIRIT. We like to find it as we trace the descent of the youth of 1861 from the men and women of the Revolution and as we trace their descent from the men and women of the great pilgrim days in the inheritance of lineage and blood. But it is not confined to inheritance. What has modern science to tell us of these forces which burst the limitations of race, which break the chains of habit and are more powerful than the inherited physical and moral forces of all generations?

What was it that made the pilgrim fathers cross the sea on that bleak and stormy winter voyage and yet when the larger part of them died the first winter no man of the survivors went back in the ship to England in the spring?

THERE WAS A WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY THAT CAME DOWN ACROSS THE AGES FROM THE MEN OF MARATHON AND THERMOPYLÆ TO THE MEN OF THE REVOLUTION AND CAME FROM THE MEN OF THE REVOLUTION TO OUR SPLENDID YOUTH OF 1861.

It is not everywhere on earth that the receiving stations of these signals are yet to be found. POSSIBLY THERE IS A SPOT IN SOUTH AFRICA TODAY WHERE A RACE OF DUTCH FARMERS HAVE BEEN ABLE TO COMPREHEND THE MESSAGE. I trust there are some men still left in the United States who have ears to hear.

When we have come to explain this, how this potent force speaking from the souls of the heroes of old can come to you or to me or to your children or to mine, we will have solved one of the great problems of life.

NEGRO CHRISTIAN CONGRESS.

Roosevelt to Be Invited to Convention of Organization.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 16.—The Board of Directors of the negro Young People's Christian Congress met here. Fifty bishops, general secretaries and prominent official representatives, representing all denominations, were present.

Reports received from all sections indicated that the attendance at the convention next August will approximate 10,000.

The committee to invite President Roosevelt to the convention will leave for Washington over the Southern railway.

11-YEAR-OLD GIRL MURDERED SISTER.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 16.—Nellie Corneilson, the 11-year-old girl who killed her baby sister with a razor, Tuesday, and charged her 5-year-old brother with the crime, confessed yesterday that she did it, but was unable to assign any reason for the act. She said the notion to kill her sister came into her head and that she could not resist her sudden passion for blood.

MUST PROVIDE SCHOOLS FOR NEGRO SCHOLARS

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 16.—Chief Justice Burford has issued an order to the effect that if there be only one colored child of school age in a school district, the authorities must provide a separate schoolhouse and teacher. This order takes in the entire territory, and will prove very expensive to the various counties.

Prominent Virginian Dead.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 16.—Sturgess E. Jones, a prominent lawyer and formerly mayor of Roanoke, Va., was found dead in the river here. His friends here believe that he fell into the river from a steamboat. For the last three months he had been living at Parkersburg.

Lieut. Fiscus Dead.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The war department is advised of the death of First Lieut. William W. Fiscus, Jr., of the Nineteenth infantry, on January 12, in the Philippines. Cause of death, cerebral hemorrhage. He was appointed from Pennsylvania and was graduated from the Military academy in 1898.

For a Bust of Schley.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 16.—Delegate Griffith (Rep.), yesterday introduced in the House of Delegates a bill to appropriate $3,000 to purchase and erect in the State house a life-size bust of Rear Admiral W. S. Schley.

Bank Robbed of $2,000.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 16.—The People's Bank at North Enid, was robbed early yestrday morning of $2,000, the safe being blown open with dynamite. There is no clue to the identity of the robbers.

The Period of Danger.

During the recent trial of a suit to collect a medical fee a witness was put on the stand to prove the correctness of the physician's bill.

The man was asked by counsel for the defense whether the doctor did not make several visits after the patient was out of danger.

"No," was the reply. "I considered the patient in danger so long as the doctor continued his visits."

A SERPENT'S APPETITE.

His Meal of a Rubber Boot Was a Disastrous One.

From a gentleman who was at one time a resident of Brazil comes a remarkable story about a snake that he encountered in the woods one day which followed him with much persistence.

"Sitting on a stump, I became aware of the approach of a huge snake," writes this gentleman. "He must have been fifteen feet in length. There was no doubt the snake was about to attack me.

"Without hesitating for a moment I discharged my two barrels. For a short time the reptile raged furiously, and I climbed a nearby tree. I had hardly reached the first boughs when I saw the snake approaching the tree, and it climbed up behind me.

"Higher and higher I went. Higher and higher came the serpent. My heavy rubber boots were a great drawback to my climbing, so I tried to get rid of them. I took one off and dropped it, and just as I had the second in my hand the snake reached me, and I, in my desperation, tried to shield myself with the rubber boot.

"Then the snake made a dash and, getting hold of the boot, turned and descended the tree. I was saved, but I had not the courage to leave the tree before my friends arrived. I told them of the adventure I had and rode home minus one rubber boot. Of his snakeship nothing could be seen.

"A few weeks later on another hunting trip we found in the road a big dead snake, terribly swollen. We cut it open and found, to our astonishment, my rubber boot not in the least injured."—New York Times.

NATURAL HISTORY.

Thoroughbred dogs are less intelligent than mongrels.

A full grown elephant can carry three tons on its back.

The horse has no eyebrows.

There are 4,500 muscles in the body of a moth.

The Dorking fowl is the only living bird which in its adult condition possesses a five toed foot.

The largest bird of prey in the old world is the lammergeier, or bearded vulture, which has a wing expanse of nine to ten feet.

Comparatively few horses attain to seventeen hands, but Kansas boasts of one that measures twenty hands and weighs 2,412 pounds.

Wasps may often be observed detaching from fences, boards or any old wood the fibers, which they afterward manufacture into papier mache.

Double His Salary.

Towne—I see there's a new teller at the bank. I suppose Smugley was fired.

Browne—Not exactly. They're offering double his old salary to get him back.

Towne—Ah! Resigned, eh?

Browne—Not exactly that, either. They're offering $5,000 reward for him.—Philadelphia Press.

FORAKER ELOQUENT

He Addresses the Legislature on Great Events of Recent Years.

WARM TRIBUTE TO M'KINLEY.

Feature of Speech Made By Senator—Highly Praised Roosevelt. Thinks Important Problems Will Come Up During Next Term.

Columbus, January 16.—After Joseph Benson Foraker had been chosen senator yesterday he addressed the legislature, saying:

"It is a great honor to be elected by the Legislature of Ohio to a seat in the Senate of the United States. It is a greater honor still to be re-elected to that high office.

"Since I stood here six years ago on a similar occasion a great deal of important history has been made. At that time the country was suffering from universal business paralysis and prostration. There was a serious controversy going on as to the cause and remedy. Time has passed. The record has been made. It is before you. It speaks for itself. Long vanished prosperity has returned and never in the history of the world has there been anything like what we now enjoy.

"The great industrial problem of Europe at this time is not how to sell in our markets, but how to protect their own from our commercial invasion, and one of our greatest industrial problems is how to go on indefinitely collecting the stupendous balance of trade in our favor without bankrupting all the rest of the world, and thus destroying the customers we are acquiring.

"But, great as have been these economical achievments, others there are and greater. Greater questions of a vital character relating to our power to acquire, hold and govern territory to the necessities of the people governed have been settled for all time for the authority of the United States.

"As a result we are to-day more than ever in our history a world power in the fullest meaning of that phrase. In consequence, the term for which you have now re-elected me, will doubtless be distinguished for new problems of grave importance and far-reaching consequences.

"The inter-oceanic canal, our merchant marine, our navy, the government of our insular possessions, our relations with Cuba and especially our trade relations with other commercial countries, will demand and must receive the highest and best thought of the legislative mind.

Tribute to Memory of McKinley.

"In closing, I cannot refrain from recalling that when I stood here six years ago another graced the occasion with his presence, who is now gone from among us forever. He was at that time just retiring from the governorship of this State, but we all knew that the higher honor of the Presidency awaited him and that his most distinguished public services yet remained to be rendered.

"But how little we knew of what was soon to be unfolded.

"Whom we only then claimed the world claims now. Not only as a great President but as the greatest and most lovable type of humanity is the place in history that will al-

When the back aches from kidney ills,

When urinary troubles annoy you,

There's a certain way to find relief,

A sure way to be cured.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do it.

East Liverpool people endorse this claim.

Mrs. William Dunn, of 192 Sixth street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did for me what none of the doctors could do. They told me I had gravel and a little relief was all that I could expect. I suffered terribly for two or three years, alternately better and worse, with severe pains across the small of my back and up my side. The pains were so severe that I was often obliged to stay in bed, not being able to get up. My limbs swelled so I could hardly walk and periodically I was taken with such severe pains through the groins that I could hardly stand it. The doctors advised hot applications and gave me bottle after bottle of medicine, but I did not receive any real benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Having seen them so highly recommended by others, I took them and am gratified to say that they helped me almost at once."

ways be held by William McKinley. His life and his death were alike surpassingly noble.

"I call attention to his career at this time because it is an impressive admonition to us to be patient, forbearing and faithful in all the relations of both public and private life.

"We cannot any more have the benefit of his helpful leadership, but it is the just cause for the most sincere congratulation that we find one altogether worthy to be his successor in the person of Theodore Roosevelt. He may be less patient and more aggressive, but in intellectual endowment, in scholarly culture, in broad minded Americanism, integrity of character and in patriotic purpose, he has never been excelled by any occupant of the White House.

"I am sure I hazard nothing in predicting for his administration the most unqualified approbation of the American people.

"Under his guidance we shall continue to go forward in the achievment of prosperity for the American people and the glory and honor of the American republic.

EVANS TO ARRANGE PROGRAM.

Long Charged Him With Naval Preparations, For the Welcome of Prince Henry.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary Long yesterday called Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans into consultation respecting the coming visit to the United States of Prince Henry of Germany. The Rear Admiral has not yet been given written orders detailing him to act as the representative of the navy at the reception, but that matter has been agreed upon, and Secretary Long yesterday charged Admiral Evans with the preparation of a naval programme for the reception.

In view of the number of distinguished officers who are now reported to be about to accompany the Prince on his visit, it is evident that Admiral Evans will require the assistance of a number of junior officers. They will be detailed as occasion requires.

So far the State department is not officially advised of the approaching visit of the Prince, hence it has done nothing toward arranging a programme for his reception and entertainment.

It is assumed at the War department, though orders have not yet been issued, that Major-General Brooke, as commander-in-chief of the Department of the East, will represent the United States army in the reception.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—It was announced that the government had decided that Prince Henry shall sail for the United States on the Kronprinz Wilhelm, of the North German Lloyd line, February 15. Cabins have been engaged for a suite of fifteen persons. The vessel, though taking other passengers, will first touch at Newport News, where Prince Henry and his party will be transferred to the Hohenzollern, which is going there, and not to Hoboken, N. J.

The movements of the yacht thereafter have not been absolutely determined upon. The present programme is to ascend the Potomac river to Washington, where Prince Henry will exchange calls with President Roosevelt. Prince Henry and the President may then go to the launching together. This portion of the programme will depend, of course, on its acceptance at Washington.

German naval officers are eager for assignments to accompany Prince Henry to the United States, and many young noblemen are bringing influence to bear to obtain appointments for this duty. The list of possible appointments is already several times larger than the suite which can be sent with Prince Henry. This pressure to secure places may cause the Prince's suite to be enlarged. The lack of accommodations for a number of persons on board the Honenzollern is the real reason why Prince Henry does not sail on the Imperial yacht.

Pardon Was Refused Frantz.

Harrisburg, Jan. 16.—At the meeting of the Board of Pardons, pardons were refused Lupton Frantz, Westmoreland, assault and battery; William Dwyer, Clearfield, illegal liquor selling, and Alfred Smith, Philadelphia, first degree murder. The case of John Glant, Lancaster, receiving stolen goods, was held under advisement.

FOR SALE AT HODSON'S DRUG STORE

SOMETHING OF A RALLY

In the Stock Market, Wednesday. Some of the Features

New York, Jan. 16.—The stock market turned from its recent consistent downward course yesterday, enjoying something of a rally. The demand was on a fairly large scale, but the market showed a tendency to fall into intense dullness and develop a hesitating tone on the advance. There were a number of reactions during the day, but the closing was near to the top level, but dullness and a wavering still very manifest.

The demand from the short interest was a palpable influence in the rise. Evidences of support were seen early in the day in some of the stocks, which were the chief targets for bear attack, notably in Union Pacific and other trans-continentals. This served to intimidate the bears, although they renewed their selling on advances. The fact was manifest, however, that the more urgent selling had been disposed of on previous days, and the efforts of the bears induced little liquidation. A number of incidents aided the bulls in turning the market against their opponents.

There was a striking demonstration in Sugar on the strength of the hearing accorded by the ways and means committee at Washington to the advocates of a ruduction of duties on Cuban sugars. The increase in the dividend rate from 2 to 3 per cent on New York, Chicago & St. Louis second preferred, relieved some apprehension that there would be no increase, although the distribution was not as large as some speculators have claimed to expect.

New York Central developed strength early in the day, and had risen to the highest point before the announcement of the new stock issue and the subscription rights to stockholders. The price was inclined to sag after the announcement, as new bond and caultal issues have been in disfavor with speculators recently. The price of stock has indicated for some time past the rights of some sort were accruing, as the directors' statement now indicates was the fact.

The statement of the country's foreign trade for December was regorded as favorable. The heavy decline in exports of breadstuffs, principally corn, probably, was expected. The decline in this item accounts for practically the whole of the decrease in the total exports for the month, which was about $8,800,000 compared with the previous December. This shows that the declining tendency in the exports of manufactured products has been arrested, as was first indicated last month. The increase in the imports for the month has resulted in a falling off of the trade balance in our favor altogether of over $20,000,000 compared with the previous December, but the increase in imports is not regarded as an unfavoragle factor at present, as it is made up in part of crude articles for use in manufacture and of products for which domestic manufactures are not able to fill all the orders they receive.

The large gains by the banks from the sub-treasury and the return flow of currency from the interior give give assurance of a favorable bank return on Saturday, and the heaviness of the sterling exchange indicates that no gold will go out this week.

There was also a subsidence yesterday of recent vague rumors of financial troubles in the commercial world. The shary drop in People's Gas was due to the refusal of a court to grant an injunction against the Chicago city ordinance reducing the rate for gas to 75 cents per 1,000. Its influence on the general market was only slight.

The active bonds generally moved in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,225,000.

United States Refunding 2s declined ⅛ and the 3s advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

President Pleased With Plans.

Washington, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt and the members of the cabinet visited the Corcoran gallery of art and inspected the drawings prepared by the committee appointed to devise plans for beautifying the National Capital. The President expressed himself as delighted with the drawings, and said that the views of the committee should be carried out.

WEATHER FORECAST:

Ohio—Fair to-day; to-morrow fair, probably colder; light to fresh westerly winds.

Western Pennsylvania—Generally fair to-day and to-morrow; light to fresh westerly winds.

West Virginia—Fair to-day and to-morrow; southerly to westerly winds.

COLLEGE ATHLETES.

Blood Wine—Used at Principal Universities—Improves General Health of Students.

The interest in college athletics is undoubtedly growing. This is due to several causes. Probably the first reason is that of making a name for oneself—which goes down in history and becomes a monument to one's memory—respected and honored by the succeeding generations and constituents of the several institutions of learning.

The fact that athletics, as now indulged in throughout the country, has been a means of turning sickly, puny men into sturdy specimens of manhood is also a very great inducement, and serves to arouse athletic instincts in thousands of young fellows, who would otherwise have no aspirations in that direction.

The training of a college athlete is a good example for everyone to follow throughout life.

FRANK J. KERNS.

Where can you find any better representatives of good health, good dispositions, good cheer and good citizenship?

These fellows are made what they are. Proper food, good hours, careful medical examinations and advice enable them to rid their systems of disease and supplant weakness with strength. How many deaths take place in our large colleges? Few, not as many as in towns with half the population. "Blood Wine" is used in nearly all of the great colleges. It is one of the essentials when in training. It makes muscle and sinew because it contains ingredients that separate the nutrition from the waste in our food and turn it right into the vital substances of the system. It differs from anything else ever prescribed, simply because it was made to do just that very thing. College professors of Materia Medica and chemistry in advising their students to use "Blood Wine" recognize in it this peculiar property not to be found elsewhere in a medicine all prepared and ready to take. No injurious drugs or opiates enter into its composition.

"Blood Wine" is certainly the most potent of any medicine I ever used while training. It seems to correct the wrong activity of every organ of your system. I take it right along—wouldn't be without it—because I believe it as much a food as a germ killer and I have yet to see the first day that it hasn't kept me feeling fine. I find that nearly all college men take it and meet with the same results. FRANK J. KERNS, Capt. Georgetown 'Varsity Crew."

If you have a cough, a cold, if your lungs are affected or you have kidney troubles, rheumatism, dyspepsia, lameness of your joints, pains in your back or chest, if you don't sleep well, can't relish a good meal or are pale or losing flesh, "Blood Wine," just as sure as gospel, will help you, because it begins at the bottom. It makes new blood of old. Investigate it for yourself, go to the druggist and get a free sample, read the literature and bear in mind always that "Blood Wine" represents not an old but a new, modern method of treating disease. It contains no wine or opiates. Get it or your sample at Will Reed and Hodson's drug stores.

Equal Partners

our next serial story, gives the reader an excellent picture of

New York Police and Their Methods

ELSIE LOOKED AT IT, FASCINATED.

Howard Fielding, the distinguished author of the story, is an experienced New York newspaper man whose descriptions are made from life.

Equal Partners is one of the most fascinating detective stories we have ever published.

Equal Partners

"I HAVE YOUR PROMISE?" SAID HE.

"Equal Partners," by Howard Fielding, will be our next serial. This is a story of mystery. The interest aroused in the first chapter is admirably sustained to the end. A beautiful actress is found in her room in New York dangerously stabbed, with one chance in a million for her life. Who stabbed her? The reader forms opinions to quickly abandon them as the story rapidly unfolds. The identity of the criminal is so skillfully veiled that it is not discovered until the end. Our readers who are good at solving mysteries in stories will find something worthy of their powers in "EQUAL PARTNERS." Don't miss the first chapter.

This picture shows the heroines (there are two of them) in our next serial story

By Howard Fielding

It will take a shrewd guess to tell who are the equal partners. If you will record your guesses as the story develops you can see how near you have come to it.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Will Preach Tonight—Rev. C. F. Swift, of Beaver Falls, will have charge of the services at the M. P. church tonight.

Woodmen Are Flourishing — The Modern Woodmen of America, at their meeting last night, received ten applications for membership.

Ballasting the Track—Several cars of cinders are being unloaded in front of the depot where a gang of laborers is ballasting the switches and tracks on the old mill site.

Entertained Friends — Miss Edna Cook entertained a number of friends last night at her home on Market street. Fancy work was indulged in as the principal pastime.

Busy Invoicing — Several of the cal business houses are taking their annual invoices. It is common with many of the East Liverpool stores to take an annual invoice in January.

Sprained His Back — Contractor John Cain, while working at the Union pottery yesterday, doing some carpenter work sprained his back which caused him to quit work and retire to his home.

Individual Communion Cups — The First Presbyterian church Missionary society is discussing the question of individual communion cups, and will take steps to secure a set for use in that church in a short time.

Royal Arch Reception—The annual reception of East Liverpool chapter No. 100, Royal Arch Masons, will be held at the Masonic chambers Friday evening, January 31. Ladies have been invited. There will be a musicale, luncheon and dancing.

Now a Night Office—As announced some time ago that the depot was to be open at night, the office was thrown open last evening. Adam Homeyer, who has been a clerk in the freight office, is assistant to Ticket Agent Adam Hill, and is in charge of the ticket office at night.

Haymakers' Powwow—The Haymakers of Iroquois tribe No. 40, Improved Order of Red Men, will hold a powwow in their hay loft this evening when several candidates will be given the haymakers' degree. After the business session the haymakers will feed upon corn and venison.

Boats Will Start Monday—None of the packet lines has started any boats, but all of the regular boats will be started the first of the week. The river is slowly falling, but there continues to be a fair stage. Much ice is floating, but it will have all run out in the course of a few days if the weather continues soft.

THE FADETTES

The Famous Woman's Orchestra of Boston Will Appear at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The Fadettes Woman's Orchestra of Boston, the representative, unrivaled and unequaled organization of America's young women instrumentalists, will appear at Y. M. C. A. hall Saturday afternoon and evening. In their grand tours of the United States and Canada they have met with such phenomenal success that they now need no special introduction to the music-loving public. Commanding everywhere the highest commendation of the most captious critics, as the "Woman's Orchestra par excellence," it is sufficient to say that with the same perfect ensemble, and with the same corps of great instrumentalists which has forced their organization into recognition as the first of the kind in the world, augmented by popular soloists, they are enabled to charm, entertain and instruct their many patrons beyond all precedent or comparison, with programs of both classical and popular selections, most happily arranged.

Skating at West End Park this afternoon and evening. 9-tf

LOWRY WITHDRAWS

Salem's Remaining Candidate a Strong Friend of Organized Labor.

Having been urged by many friends in various parts of Columbiana county to be a candidate for the nomination for county recorder, I feel it incumbent on me to give the reasons for my withdrawal from the race.

At the time I announced my candidacy, I was told by many that there was not a candidate in the field who was a friend of, and satisfactory to, organized labor in Columbiana county. At that time charges were openly made that my fellow townsman, W. D. Turner, was guilty of conduct unbecoming a friend of organized labor, and for that reason, together with the fact that I sought political preferment, I became a candidate.

Since that time a full investigation of the charges against Mr. Turner has been made by the Iron Molders' union, of Salem, O., and the same found to be utterly without foundation.

Believing that an injustice had been done Mr. Turner, and for the reason that he is an older worker in the ranks of the Republican party, and had first announced his candidacy for the office to which we both aspire, and for these reasons the more deserving of your support, I have decided to withdraw from the contest.

Thanking my friends for their very great kindness and support extended me, I beg to remain,

P. R. LOWRY.

The Head Waiter's Tips.

One of the most expensive restaurants in New York is conducted, so far as its observing patrons can tell, on a unique system of tips. The head waiter of the room devoted to the use of the men guests makes it a point to become acquainted with them, find out their names and becomes genial in the half respectful, half presuming way that so frequently passes for good nature among employees of the kind in this country. Naturally he receives liberal fees from his clientele, which is made up of rich men able to pay high prices for the extra service they receive.

When there is no financial response of this kind to the waiter's advances, his cordiality diminishes. The waiters under him do, with unusual willingness, the head waiter's bidding. They are evidently indifferent as to their own success in the matter of fees. It is only the good will of the head waiter that appears to be the goal of all their efforts.

Such unselfishness astonishes regular patrons of the restaurant, and one in particular undertook to discover the reason of this attitude of the waiters toward their chief. He learned after awhile that the tips the head waiter received were large enough to enable him to give the waiters a part of his earnings for attending with particular care to his patrons, who, as a rule, confine their contributions to the head waiter. The guests who fail to take advantage of the head waiter's overtures to friendliness are not likely to fare well in that restaurant, where the waiters, certain of a fee from the man over them, are indifferent to the guests not included among the list of his patrons.—New York Sun.

A. S. YOUNG. FIFTH AND MARKET.

Dr. A. Phillips of California, who has invented an electric bathrobe, claims that it is more efficacious than either the Turkish or Russian bath and that the electric current which passes through the body not only imparts a healthy glow to the skin, but cleanses the pores more thoroughly. The bather, he says, is strengthened.

The bathrobe consists of a heavy corded quilt six feet long and wide enough to enwrap the bather. This is filled with 300 feet of German silver wire, which is attached to a coil in a controller. The controller in turn is connected with an ordinary incandescent light.

When a switch is turned, the electric current passes through the blanket, and the latter is heated to a certain temperature. The bather, who is placed in a lying position, is wrapped also in flannel blankets. Profuse perspiration results from the high temperature.

Towing by Electricity.

Towing by electricity along the river banks in England is quite a novel application of electric power. No electrical apparatus whatever will be used on the barge itself, which is to be connected by rope with an electrically propelled vehicle on the path working on the overhead trolley system, somewhat like the system recently put in operation on one of the Belgian canals.

Increased Use of Telephones.

The increased use of telephones in our large cities is worthy of note. San Francisco now has one telephone for every sixteen inhabitants, Boston one for every twenty-four, Cleveland one for every twenty-six, Detroit one for every twenty-eight, Cincinnati and Pittsburg one for every thirty-five, New York one for every forty-eight, Chicago one for every sixty-one and Philadelphia one for every ninety-six.

Electricity In Siam.

Bangkok, Siam, has now an electric light plant and a tramway six miles long and is laying a second line of equal length. The service is fairly good. The telephone system, however, is said to be decidedly bad. It is owned by the government, and there are some 200 instruments of German make.
